

Many of our colleagues in the media are concerned that we insist on investigating the UFO phenomena. After all, they reason, if the Air Force has no evidence for the existence of UFOs, then why should we continue to listen to the amateur skywatchers? This shallow reasoning may be a result of the ridicule factor which is so firmly attached to UFO research as a result of a calculated debunking campaign.

Simply ask the next media personality you hear spouting a negative opinion on the subject: "What primary UFO research have you read - what are your sources?" You'll find they can give you none and many are proud to say so. They have their government's word on the subject and that's good enough. Why our government's word should be good enough to explain this mystery, but still questionable in other everyday affairs is unexplained. With just a little bit of primary research into the UFO enigma, any skeptical journalist will begin to realize that evidence for the existence of UFOs could disrupt the status quo -- and that's probably why it's been covered up for so long.

In vol. 1, #2 of the Hieronimus & Co. Newsletter, "Why NASA Denies All Positive Sightings and Contact with ETs" on pages 4-5 we told you about the 1960 analysis by the government's advisory think tank, the Brookings Institute. Proposed Studies on the Implication of Peaceful Space Activities for Human Affairs was delivered to the Chairman of NASA's Committee on Long-Range Studies and concluded that scientists and other decision-makers might interfere with the release of Extraterrestrial Intelligence information even to the extent of withholding it altogether. The Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) has produced substantial proof that withholding and denying ETI has been and continues to be the chosen policy of our government.

Corporate Media Lapdogs

The paid parrots in the mainstream media act as dictation-taking cheerleaders for our government's denial of UFOs. Since they choose to disregard the civilian sources, they remain in the dark about the supporting evidence that has been released from our government's own files through the FOIA. Since the FOIA's passage in 1966 over 30,000 pages of Top Secret information about UFOs have been legally extricated from the secret files of the CIA, FBI, NSA and the U.S. Air Force, Army, Navy, and NASA. This formerly Top Secret information was once said not to exist and proves beyond the shadow of a doubt that the American public has been consciously and deliberately misled by officials and a cooperative media that unquestioningly repeated what it was told. Also becoming clear are the reasons for the government duplicity, which may have been necessary at one time, but are no longer tenable.

UFOs Over Edwards Air Force Base

With most of the media cooperating with the government's desire to keep this information from the public, you may not have heard that on October 7, 1965, the USAF encountered 12 UFOs over Edwards Air Force Base in southern California, watching and tracking them on radar for six hours. The Air Force can deny it, but in this case they cannot destroy the evidence as they did in the Roswell case described on page 1 of the Hieronimus & Co. Newsletter vol. 1, #1. The recordings of the Air Force's phone conversations during the Edwards encounter have been made commercially available from Independent International Pictures Corporation. I-I's Sam Sherman has condensed the six hour stand-off into 54 minutes that comes on cassette or CD accompanied by an explanatory booklet which tells us:

"The original recordings are taken from phone patches, base-to-base communications and ground-to-air radio. Military personnel are on the alert after a squadron of 12 luminous "UFOs" - as the Military calls them - or Unidentified Flying Objects.

"In California, Edwards Air Force Base is the home of the Air Force

Flight Test Center, testing manned and unmanned aircraft, weapons systems and spacecraft at their NASA-AMES-DRYDEN Flight Research Facility. For years Edwards has been the home of exotic test aircraft. But unknowns have flown there, too. Edward J. Ruppelt, former chief of an Air Technical Intelligence research project, reported several incidents of unidentified aerial vehicles with advanced flight characteristics seen over this secure test facility in the 1950s. Canadian scientist Wilbert B. Smith, who worked with the U.S. government on classified projects, stated that luminous objects like those seen over Edwards were most likely extraterrestrial spacecraft.

Western Air Defense Command on Alert

"Far from being a joke, the entire Western Air Defense Command was on the alert for the event of October 7, 1965, which involved NORAD (North American Aerospace Defense Command - a joint U.S./Canadian unit), ARADCOM (U.S. Army Air Defense Command), and the following Air Bases in California: Edwards, Hamilton, Norton, George and March.

"On the tapes, the major at LAADS (Los Angeles Air Defense Sector) is alerted to the luminous objects flying low across the Edwards runway when numerous locations reported the objects on radar and heightfinder radar in addition to visual observations. A decision was made that the unknown objects could pose a serious threat.

"The original tape recordings have been electronically enhanced by computer to improve their sound quality and are edited into a chronological time line like a dramatic radio program.

"You hear the events as they unfold leading to the scramble of an F-106 Interceptor plane which goes after the objects. We hear the pilot speaking as he flies among the objects. Tech.Sgt. Charles Sorrels, the Edwards tower operator (Air Traffic Controller), who originally alerted the Army Air Defense Command, vectored the F-106 Interceptor to its targets. His voice is heard on the original recordings as well as in a contemporary segment in which he confirms the reality of the original events.

"Research provided by military authorities is included in the narration spoken by veteran broadcaster Jackson Beck.

"UFO Officer"

"The revelation of a "UFO Officer" on each Air Base further proves that the UFO-Extraterrestrial subject has been closely studied by the U.S. Military for some time."

The Edwards Air Force Base UFO Encounter tape was first brought to our attention by Elaine Douglass of Operation Right to Know. In their Right To Know Forum newsletter, they included a transcription of six minutes and 15 seconds of the U.S. Air Force tape which we are reprinting here with their permission.

(Telephone Ring)

Look to the north of us. I can see his movement. There's one coming pretty fast. He's coming from north to south.

North to south?

Right.

North to south at this time from Edwards?

Right.

He's blinking red.

I have another red light and green light combination in sight moving very rapidly over the [air] field at this time. I'm gonna check my radar [radar] to see if they have any movement in that area.

(Telephone Ring)..... officer.

Say, LADDS [Los Angeles Air Defense Sector] here. Have you all had any reports of unknown flying objects over there?

No, we haven't.

OK, I was wondering. We supposedly are having quite an invasion over here.

What area? In our area?

No, it's over around [the town of] Victorville and Edwards [Air Force Base], and I was wondering if any of your sights [radar] or any of your bunches [people] over there have called anything in?

No, nuh-huh.

OK, fine, thank you much.

.....yes sir, three on the bottomside...UFO. Yes sir, captain--there's four altogether.

Right.

There's two in a line and then there's three in a line.

Yeah.

There's three in a line--would run westward, and the other one--OK.

--would run parallel with the bright one.

Yeah.

Is that what you're seeing?

Yeah, that's the ones I saw.

Will you do us a favor? We're looking for about seven UFOs, uh, near....Ontario International [civilian airport]...north of Ontario. We're not positive. This is coming from reports from Edwards and George [Air Force Base]...

Did they come from the northeast?

Yes.

No, they came from the--

....

Yes, northeast--painting [seeing on radar] these guys at 8,000 feet. About seven of 'em. They're red, white and green flashing lights, and they have been sighted visually and they're climbing now. And, uh, we wondered if you're painting them? We're trying to get a [radar] cross-section here. They're red--also, the two towers, George tower. Also, uh, Edwards tower.

...describe it for me.

"There's a lieutenant who's the UFO-responsible officer, in bed 30 miles away..."

It appears--I've watched it through the glasses. At first appearance it looked just like a star.

Yeah.

And then it started, it was white, uh, white and green, it's flashing white and green, and it appears--what appears might be the bottom, at first...it looked just like a star.

Yeah.

I mean, they're not--it's not intermittent flashing, uh, it appears to be spaced [in time].

I see. In other words, it like fades in and out, huh? There's a definite flash--

--a definite flashing, similar to what aircraft anti-collision lights would do.

Oh yeah.

It definitely isn't moving fast enough or constant enough to be an aircraft.

Uh-huh. Well, we're...around here. We'll see what we can dig up for you.

It definitely changes color from white to red and white to green, and uh red. The red flashes strong enough to have blocked out the rest of it to the naked eye, so it appears to be white--from white-green to red.

Uh-huh. Can you get any form of the thing--what it looks like?

I never checked it. It appears to have moved a lot closer to us. I have checked it with the glasses, uh--

Is it getting brighter, or what? Is it getting brighter?

Well, it appears to be quite a bit brighter. It's hard to tell sitting in a lighted room looking out a window at it.

Hm.

(Telephone Ring)

28.

Yeah, this is LAADS calling. Is this chief controller?

...

Right, Major Strubble here. I've got some objects painting, uh, over Edwards at 11-5 [11,500 ft. altitude]. Uh, Edwards is observing them from the ground, uh, two towers observing them. And we're carrying them on height [finder radar] and radar. They're flashing white green and red. And we have a track on them Kelo 1 5 7. They're heading west. Uh, at this time, uh, approximately 20 miles west of Edwards at 11-5. There was a, uh, we talked to center. They didn't have anything on it but heading west, uh, at 14 grand [14,000 feet], and he had no joy on them. Center queried the bird. Uh, let's see, I'm holding them now, uh, it's a bird that flew through at 50 miles west of Edwards.

50 west?

Yeah, now talked to the sergeant. The UFO people at Edwards--in the first place I should tell you that Norton UFO referred us back to Edwards as being in their [Edwards'] area. Uh, there's a lieutenant who's the UFO-responsible officer, in bed 30 miles away--the sergeant doesn't have any authority except just to report to us. They haven't, uh, requested a scramble or anything, uh, my question would be then do you want us to uh, shake this lieutenant out of the pad and see if he wants to request--Edwards said they had no capability. Base OPS [operations] going up and looking. Uh, now we're painting them loud and clear and everybody's seeing it. So, uh, do you think we ought to shake this lieutenant out of the pad and see if he wants to request, uh, we go up and take a look?

It might be, well, they haven't raised him yet? They haven't called him?

Well, I told them to hold off 'till I talked to you.

Uh-huh.

Sergeant's reluctant to call 'till he feels like he needs to cause it'll be 3 o'clock in the morning.

Yeah, uh, since you have such a good paint and everything on 'em I think it would be worthwhile if you'd give him a call.

Yeah, that's my feeling too.

Right.

And then if he--

--being in that area, you know.

If he should request a scramble, we could probably take one of the Guard birds, uh, deuces up, don't you think?

Yeah, that should be OK. Yeah.

OK.

UFOs Over Other U.S. Air Force Bases

The encounter over Edwards Air Force Base is not unique.

The FOIA has also provided documentation directly from government sources of visual and radar sightings over Loring AFB (Maine); Malmstrom AFB (Montana); Wurtsmith AFB (Michigan); Minot AFB (North Dakota); Grand Forks AFB (North Dakota); Carson AFB (New Mexico); Elgin AFB (Florida); Fort Ritchie Army Base (Maryland); and a UFO landing at Kirkland AFB (New Mexico) in 1980.
