Good morning Dr. Greer! I want to first just update you on my progress in writing to you the full account of my experience out near Guam with the recovery of the disk shaped Craft back in 2002. Due to a very hectic work schedule and lots of personal issues I am dealing with, I have currently not quite completed everything I had hoped in the time frame I originally gave you of about a week. I just want to apologize for that but to also reassure you that I am very dedicated and committed to sharing the full details of everything that I experienced and am also waiting for certain documents to arrive in the mail from the VA and Coast Guard Personnel Service Center. I just want to make sure that I am able to provide to you all of my relevant information, credentials and documentation along with my full report. I also believe that by viewing alot of of my old records and documents I have requested, that it may help me to narrow down and pinpoint hopefully the EXACT date that this particular incident occurred.

As strange as it may seem, the more time I spend thinking back and talking about this with others, the more bits and pieces of memories are slowly starting to re emerge and I'm very grateful that I have waited and taken my time, and didn't just slap down a quick account on my computer and then send it to you, as I really had a hard time accepting what had happened at first and for the most part, I have tried to block alot of the experience out of my head over the years, mainly because I remember how terrified I was when I learned that the day after the incident, that myself and the 7 other crew members (which included the ship's CO) were to report sharply at 0900 to Marsec (The Coast Guard land base on the Naval Station in Guam) for our official debriefing regarding the previous day's incident. I was so terrified before I actually went there that I was either fixing to be either executed or possibly somehow have my mind or memories erased, kind of like in the Men in Black movies that I remember being so damn relieved that not only did I survive and not have my memories erased (I actually laugh about this and find it very funny now when I think back on it but back then, I was terrified to the point where I was convinced I would be executed due to the intense secrecy that has always been associated with the subject matter of ETs and UFOs) but I was NEVER actually threatened with death when I was forced to sign that BS NDA either, and they tried to actually make us out to be heroes and now privy to some top secret naval technology that we were to never speak of to absolutely anybody, and as I told you on the phone... For years, I took that NDA very seriously and I guess it was when I began following your website and watching your Netflix Documentary

"Unacknowledged" when I finally felt at ease and safe at seeing you explain in full detail how it's OK to come forward and I saw so many credible witnesses like top scientists and famous Astronauts give firsthand testimony, and I then actually realized that my experience was rather meager and not nearly as significant as some of the real big topics that you have Intelligence on, and I honestly feel so insignificant in that I am not a scientist or Doctor and my lone incident regarding this subject really isn't worth much in and of itself, unless it can possibly open up and reveal a much bigger picture and hopefully maybe my account will possibly be able to launch or tie together with other Intel about why there is so much UFO activity out in that part of the world. That is my true mission and intent with disclosing my experience with you, it's nothing really special about that particular incident (because if all the rumors I had heard were correct, we had supposedly recovered multiple craft near Guam over the years.) But just like certain UFO hotspots in the US like Sedona, AZ or Mount Shasta, I believe there is some kind of either ET or top secret base out there in the area of the Marianas Trench and I believe that everybody should have a right to know EVERYTHING that the powers that be continue to suppress. And that's why I came to you first Dr. Greer, and I'm so VERY grateful and happy that you jumped right on this and contacted me personally right away, as I have come to admire and respect your body of work so much, just having the opportunity to be able to speak with you on the phone and get to share stories and ask you specifically questions was almost as surreal and mind blowing to me as the actual experience itself of actually seeing one of these objects in real life and being able to touch it.

But also, before I close out this update and end up rambling on for hours, I just wanted to ask your honest opinion on a huge story that David Wilcock (along with Corey Goode whom I find rather suspect and sometimes hard to believe myself) has recently been covering and it involves the alleged takedown of multiple secret spy satellites allegedly used by the Cabal, or Magestic 12, Illuminati or whatever the heck they are referred to nowadays and I've attached a screenshot of this particular story on his blog and I find it rather fascinating and would absolutely LOVE to believe this to be even partially true. And I have been so fascinated and mesmerized by this incredible story that I have just been dying to know of your thoughts on this and ask if you possibly have any type of knowledge or Intel regarding this story? Because honestly it just sounds way too good to be true, but it is also somewhat believable too and it does seem to fit in with other interesting happenings and news stories I have started hearing about recently as well. I would appreciate your thoughts and/or any input you might have on this matter, because his stories all seem to point to some kind of possible mass disclosure event sometime soon and supposedly by the actual Trump administration itself. And my God do I really want this to be true lol although I still remain a sceptic when it comes to separating the real information vs the disinformation that's out there. Thanks so much for your time and all that you do and I look forward to hearing from you again soon and God Bless! ☺ ☐ :)
