

Re: Message from Internet

Wednesday, October 28-

Hello, it's [REDACTED]

Here's the general idea and timetable I have in mind. What do you think?

1998

-you and I consolidate and organize all the info. we have (which is all the info.)

1999+2000

-organize a CLOSED in-house DEBRIEFING complete with news BLACKOUT have the President write an executive order (?) to rescind Truman's Security Act making it formally legal to divulge ABOVE TOP SECRET(not even the President can look at it)info.
-and with the help of the NSC,CIA,FBI,NSA,DIA, etc. go for FULL DISCLOSURE to the President(first) then to other proper governmental authorities-setting up a (and formally ending the Cold War in the paperwork of the law)paperwork end to the Cold War/Old Business.
-We/U.S.government, committees, intelligence, etc get together and update sub-laws in relation to the new/constitutional "loop"that now includes ALL proper authorities i.e.mark craft (experimental or otherwise), mark uniforms, follow procedure(i.e. identify selves) when going over other country's air space, etc.
-Private/in-house notification to other governments etc about what's been up and discuss the best way to handle the new technology that really is fantastic and societal altering stuff.
-then FULL DISCLOSURE (within National Security as the President, proper authorities and ALL concerned)to the public via a book(s) complete with FULL PRESS COVERAGE with what ALL has been up, why it had to be covered at the time and what this new info. will mean to them and to ALL of us humans on planet earth
-reassure people that this isn't an announcement of the arrival of "The New World Order" People seem to be confuse new world order with a BRAVE NEW WORLD or ONE world government So reassurances that yes it's going to be a BRAVE NEW WORLD alright (what with all these new technologies and how the new technologies could be really scary) but hey, not to worry, your leaders have the situation taken care of (per usual) and here's the public's debriefing AROUND THE WORLD. Each government handles their own debriefing. -reassure corporations, et al that they will still get budgetting it will just be legal and NEEDED.

-also there could be a trade off with old-world technologies holders. For example. Oil companies don't want to give up their pot of black gold? Have them trade it in for a pot of new technologies that can make gold itself and with zero-overhead (as it were). Corporations(etc) will still do research and design(etc) and the banks(etc) will still fund and everything stays the same and is handled status-quo it's just that now everybody knows what's going (and the proper authorities DO have oversight and that someone is keeping an eye on the details for the people so they can relax and stop being so dang paranoid) and NO ONE (that includes military, intelligence, corporations, banks, governments, etc) need to be afraid.

-Then after the business is covered we can all have some fun (perk one) checking out the new technologies(perk two), the new sciences(perk three), the new paradigms(perk four) we ALL get to play around with (that should keep everybody busy from now on and too busy for MUCH fighting(perk five)).

And by virtue of the fact that we're even checking out these new technologies we are going to end up easing up on the environment just as a by-product(perk six) and in fact saving the planet IN TIME that we all have to live on(perk seven). I am an immediate gratification person and I like a high return for low put-out do to the fact I am a bit lazy AND I also like a win-win with a "HAVE YOUR CAKE AND EAT IT TO" mentality and this plan sounds pretty splendiferous to me. A reward for working together-and much more fun-and the same amount of room for money making if not more (covering suspicion costs alot of money)...well, WE CAN'T BEAT THAT!

NOVEMBER 2000

-whoever's voted in Nov. 2000 will be the first president of a NEW MILLINEUM with Old Business wrapped up and New Business under regular oversight we will be starting out in a more secure world(perk eight) with all around optimism(perk nine) for a brighter future for all(perk ten)..REALLY!

Ok, Dr.Greer,

What do you think? I bet there's alot more perks to be had too!

Oh, BTW, you can pass on any of my info to SECURE individuals only please especially if it will help you get the ok to work with me...

YOUR VERY OWN ET REPRESENTATIVE! Take me to your leaders please...:)

(In all seriousness of course)

Thank you,

Hello,

This is [REDACTED]

Did you get my e-mail yesterday 10/27?

Really, with me being the liason for the "ET's" and you being the liason for the government, I think you and I need to consolidate our info? I need to see what all info you got so that I know where you're at and what I need to fill in. You could send me a big box or whatever of all the info. Or you could e-mail me all the info.? I could travel out there but #1)I don't have the money (who does) and #2)it would make me might vulnerable plus #3)My health isn't the swiftest BUT if I have to fly out so that we can move faster then I will. What do you think? I have the Clearances for this type of info. (this can be confirmed with a little checking around if you want. [REDACTED] so that isn't a problem. I really need to see exactly where we're at, what all info. is missing. From what I can tell you got most (if not all) the info but before we proceed it seems we have to have all the info. together? What do you think?

Then once we consolidate...WE (you and I as representatives) could start "negotiations" (as it were, so to speak, notwithstanding)? You already know what the people you represent want and I do to so you and I need to yak it out and set it up and THEN pass on our info. and recommendations?

I am willing and able to work on this everyday (unless I'm not feeling well and I will still e-mail you to let you know), all day long. Let's get this show on the road, eh?

Please e-mail asap as I am moving on this NOW not later.

Thank you,

Hello,

This is [REDACTED]

Suggestions on how to proceed...well as you can probably guess this problem that we are ALL trying to address SEEMS to be a bit convoluted (oh.. BTW-by the way-when I use CAPS I am not yelling as per usual computer lingo. I am using a writing vehicle for emphasis-ok)so again I say it might be beneficial to have a better mode of communication say a secure(?) chatroom (if there is such a thing?) or via a secured phone that the bill is paid for on of course since I don't have any money either.

Mainly what it boils down to is this, you could call me your ET liason if you want, and what is needed here is alot of cooperation. They want what they want, you want what you want and I can hear everybody's wanting the same thing...openness and let's get along HOWEVER they do have some pretty mind-blowing and money making technology and not much motivation to share given the situation that we can't seem to get along amongst ourselves (us humans all around the globe) so they're afraid to give up their only protection and major money makin golden-goose. However, there seems to be agreement that it would be better if we could all share the technology and in fact we're going to have to. One of the big things that's missing is a proper format to disclose information IN.

At the end of wars there tends to be an "All Clear" signal that lets everybody know it's ok to come out and debrief each other on what all has happened. In this particular war situation (the cold war)the chain of command was signed over by Truman (during WWII, you'll recall, he formally and legally cut himself and other proper government authorities out of the "loop" so that bomb could be built in TOTAL secrecy given the Russians were going to have the bomb any day themselves). This was the beginning of the secret/covert/black budgets dept. The Cold War continued and ended with its compartmentalized secret programs in place as part of our war machine but this time, with the President and other proper government authorities out of the "loop", there has been no formal "All Clear". Even though it LOOKS like the Cold War is over with, anybody that has worked in covert ops knows what looks like and what is can be two very different things so they wait for the "All Clear". Everybody is continueing on with their duty of keeping things compartmentalized, etc.

What we need to do is restore the government back into the "loop". Rescind Truman's order of WWII and put FEMA back under the control of the presidency and get rid of any other laws that perpetuate keeping the proper governmental authorities out of the "loop". Go back to marking our craft and uniforms per FAA, etc.

When this is done then everybody can LEGALLY and FORMALLY come out because the PROPER "All Clear" has been given. This is for any who have any questions about whether or not it is "loyal" "legal" to talk about state secrets (which one can go to jail for for a verrry long time). It would also show CONCRETELY just exactly who we can and cannot talk to and under what conditions. This would solve the problem of "secrets" being kept from our own government etc. We, the government, set it up that way and We, via government (say presidential executive order?) has to rescind it ourselves.

Right now, the information is being withheld legally under present laws. The "military industrial complex" is following proper procedure. This in effect ends up LOOKING like a secret world wide hidden government cause it IS! But it's just us. Within this secret/covert/black budget LEGAL framework you WOULD get alot of compartmentalizing and after 50 years, well....it's not surprising that things SOUND somewhat confusing. They're not. There's just been a blind wall set up (purposefully by Truman etal) between the "military industrial complex" and the government. Nothing nasty about it.

Actually, the ball wasn't drop until Kennedy was assassinated and everybody has been so distracted by that and the 60's and the Cold War and on and on that nobody really remembered/noticed this covert operations/black budget thing until people started reporting more and more UFO's, then cattle mutilations, abductions, etc. And people started asking around and got no answers or ambiguous information.

This is a reminder that the Truman law is still in effect plus with the threat of bio/chem attacks and now terrorism we are seeing different tactics in the air and on the ground and wondering what the heck is up...

NOW we all know of a variety of things that the military had to do on behalf of the Cold War...what tricks everybody was up to (that's why the institution of war has got to go) but back in 1947 etc. the public had NO CLUE about the realities of waging war. And then the Cold War was COLD not hot and therefore utilized NEW and different measures so when Truman said "yes", it was ok not to know the details during WWII HE might not have said "yes" to the continuing of being out of the "loop" during the Cold War but the next president DID say "yes" the continuation of those covert measures are ok on into the Cold War but down the road Kennedy comes in and the president and government hasn't been briefed on the details of some of our covert operations since WWII and Kennedy comes in fairly blind and he wants to know the details about everything since WWII and this was right at the Bay of Pigs time which was (as we know NOW) VERRRY hot and Kennedy is a major distraction then the Bay of Pigs fiasco and the next thing everybody knows we are on the brink of nuclear annihilation...even tho Kennedy was able to quell the situation it seemed evident to "those in the know" (don't forget by our own legal hand over) that Kennedy (thru no fault of his own) was too great a distraction and intelligence and the military industrial complex and satellite organizations had to keep a VERRRY close eye on the situation, they couldn't afford to be distracted by ANYBODY or we'd all be dead (and don't forget, right or wrong, they had to make these decisions on their own with no input from someone else as per OUR decision via our elected representative Truman etal) in effect running the country because they were the ONLY ones that had ALL the information to make the decisions. This was the situation that they ended up with and not neccessarily a desirable one. There was never a total (or even close to total) loss of command-and-control. The president and all the governing bodies went on about their business just like regular(albeit wondering what the heck happened with Kennedy) until now, per tradition, the military industrial complex continues to handle the stickiest military situations TOTALLY and the president and all running the rest.

They are in our control...it's just blind. Which is VERRY dangerous for everybody and why they want to get this straightened out asap as well.

NOW, however, that the situation has gone on as long as it has there are some people that have been in positions of power with very powerful infrastructures that have been setup and operating for over 50 years. Some of the satellite/substructures (corporatations, banks, old allies that have become new enemies (Osama Bin Laden as one example)etc) got promoted up (with no oversight from the president/us who took himself/us out of the loop) when the military industrial complex did.

We won the Cold War and OUR/military industrial complex large infrastructure continue on with the usual job following the country's agenda, etc. And as with any large infrastructure they (the military, the corporations, the banks, etc) have their OWN projects they've worked (also without oversight because we took OURSELVES out of the loop)on for over 50 years. Alot of these babies have grown feet of their own meaning they've devolped into their own companies with lots of many etc. What does that have to do with us? Nothing.

However, some of these projects are "private" (meaning they were their own personal projects) and some are military but ALL are dang lucrative. When the Truman law is rescinded and we put ourselves back into the "loop" there is obvious concern that 50 years of work and all its benefits that they've been reaping (by OUR hand recall) is suddenly threatened and some rogue elements will do anything to keep their "moonshine still" from being taken back over by the government. Alot of these babies have grown feet of their own and the parents don't want to just turn their life's work over to someone else especially people that like Kennedy are just jumpin in without knowing all the information. This is VERRY powerful technology and they want to be sure it is handled verry well. It could be verrry devastating in the wrong hands. In short, we HAVE to be able to LISTEN to them and what ALL they are saying and be SURE they feel comfortable with whatever we do and not just rush in and takeover and start making fast decisions without consulting them in effect not making ANY moves until everybody's happy with that move. They have become huge players in the global village after all.

Ok-Dr.Greer...this is what I have...is this the kind of info you were looking for? If not give ME some more details of where YOU'RE at in the project and I can tailor to fit...got some questions? Is this too general? etc..I want to get the ball on a roll asap as time is of the essence in many many ways?

Thank you,
