

[REDACTED]

From:

Sent:

[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
Fwd: Military Events Information and a specific Disclosure related question - Attn: Dr. Greer

----- Forwarded message -----

From [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED]

Dr. Greer,

I'm not sure you will actually see this email however, on the off chance you do, I have some information (not necessarily earth shaking) about some military experiences that I have had, one in particular involving NAD (then Naval Ammunition Depot) Earle, several Nike Ajax events, and the nuclear component as well as nuclear armed Nike Hercules missiles and UFOs.

Closely related to the Nike Ajax Disclosure testimony as presented by Harlan Bentley and put on for your Disclosure Project event, there were a couple of possibly related activities NOT covered. These activities, were in my minds eye, corroborating thus adding depth to the overall story. At your first Press Club event back in the early 2000's you had a former US Army enlisted man (a radar operator) at what was then known as W-93 Nike Ajax battery located Olney/Derwood, MD. This testimony involved a reported UFO (UAP) crash landing with radioactive trace debris and a military recovery of some of the material. Also involved was another Nike Ajax site located several miles away in the town of Gaithersburg, MD (that site was known as W-94).

The reason for my interest is manifold, first of all, when I was 10 years old I lived on a farm adjacent to what was known as the "Navy Road" (actual designation was Normandy Road) that connected NAD (now NWS) Earle with its pier handling facilities about 13.2 miles to the north on Raritan Bay (NY Harbor). Earle is an ammunition depot where over the years the locals were pretty sure that nuclear weapons were stored there at least until about 1996 when they were ostensibly removed at the request of two Congressmen whose districts involved the base and its facilities.

The farm that I lived on when about 10 years old was known as Dorbrook Farm (now it is part of the Monmouth County parks system and is known as Dorbrook Park). A daylight event took place in the summer (July) of 1958 involving a daylight sphere with red and white flashing lights that were not apparently attached to the device itself. The object was flying from the direction of the pier facilities to the weapons storage facilities located on the base in Colts Neck, NJ (about 2 miles from my house and about 10 miles from the pier facilities).

About 5 miles or so further to the north, also on the Navy road was a Nike Ajax battery known as NY-53. This battery blew up on May 22nd 1958 (interestingly, May of 1958 was also the date of the UFO crash at W-93 as reported by Harlan Bentley at your first Press Club testimonial). The destruction of NY-53 included the death of 10 men (6 soldiers and 4 DoD civilians) and was reportedly caused by an accident during a safety upgrade being done to the missiles. This Nike site is only a mile or two from the pier facilities and about 10 driving miles from the storage depot proper.