

File MS-12
Mind Control - etc

To: "Steven M. Greer", Dr_ET
From: INTERNET: [REDACTED]t, INTERNET: [REDACTED]
Date: 5/13/98, 8:30 AM
Re: Answers to your questions

Dr. Steven Greer, CSETI, wrote:
> How do you know you have been targeted with these systems,

It's easy, from the victims' standpoint. Very hard to understand from the uninitiated standpoint.

Apparently (this is our opinion - the spooks do NOT clue us in as to their intentions) what these spooks require is INvoluntary test subjects. It is necessary, if the spooks are to succeed in any long term testing, that such INvoluntary subjects be prevented from getting any help at all from the normal community resources, like police and the medical community.

So - victims are screened for their INability to fight back. They choose loners, those who have little or no family ties, people of low income, people with a history of mental illness, and more recently, AIDS cases.

Some are military or CIA veterans. I served in the US Navy before becoming a Canadian citizen. The US Navy is apparently a "leader" in developing e-weapons.

Then, the testers do their "testing" (we call it "torture") day and night, year round using their bio-telemetry so they don't actually have to meet their subjects face to face.

To MAINTAIN the victim's lack of credibility, the spooks hire locals "with attitude" (we have one case where a local harasser admitted to the victim that he was offered a choice of harass or go to jail) to put on "street theater" aimed at forcing the victim to make bizarre, unbelievable claims to the authorities. This has worked perfectly.

Now - our collective experience among about 50 co-victims is that there is a wide array of weapons under test. Some of them seem to be rather primitive, and will actually show up on a simple scope and frequency counter.

At one time when I would get repeated jolts of momentary limb jerking, followed by a few seconds of "rigor mortis" while watching TV, I set up a frequency counter, and could clearly see bursts of some sort of signal which coincided exactly with the neuro-jolts. This is no co-incidence, having happened over a hundred observations in just a few days.

Other common experiences are sudden extreme tachycardia, wild sudden overheating, and incredibly precise spots of itching, which are never accompanied by a rash.

Our members who are new to this often think the spooks want to kill them, which of course is untrue - they regard us as "investments".

The spooks will follow you wherever you go in the WORLD, not just the US. One victim moved from Alberta CA to Finland, but there was no letup in harassment.

Another moved to a few-houses place 8,200 feet up in the Colorado Rockies. His spooks were there the next day, and brought with them one of those huge enclosed snow crawlers so they could rotate in and out of that desolate spot.

Another purchased a house far from any other houses in a rural area. The spooks immediately began construction of TWO NEW HOUSES on either side. As soon as the houses were enclosed, the harassment ("testing") began again.

The spooks love to use EM weapons to make appliances fail or act bizarrely. One of their favourite tricks with me was (not recently) to cause a chosen set of fluorescent tubes to flare to almost flashbulb brightness. When they did this on two occasions, I had a 'scope next to my bed watching for ELF activity. The trace went clean off the screen.

 By the way - and this is a key point - our experience is that the harassment STOPS IMMEDIATELY when the power goes off. Usually the harassment will start up soon after the power is restored.

For more than a year, the spooks would transmit some sort of audible effect at a room fan. The particular effect used was the sound of someone hammering on a metal object. Switch off the fan, noise stops. I wrapped a few turns of wire thru the motor's iron core, and the scope showed that the noise was not being transmitted thru the fan's power cord. 3D acoustic "holograms" are a specialty of these guys - this was apparently just one of those.

(American Technologies Corp, San Diego, is going to make such a device a commercial item, used as a "speaker" which can make sound appear to come from an object up to several hundred feet away, using a pair of narrow-focus ultrasonic air type transducers.)

The spooks also make sure that any audible tricks within your apt. can't be recorded, using a steady "hash" signal, which has a TRIANGULAR waveform (not a natural waveform) with fundamental of about 120 Hz (NOT 60 Hz) and at least one higher order component of perhaps 400-500 Hz.

It's not "power system noise" and it's not someone's appliance. It peaks at my bed. When I carry the scope around the apt. bldg. and the neighbourhood, there are no readings of this type whatsoever. The signal drops off rapidly just a few feet outside my apartment.

(I have spent ten years working as an electrical power distribution engineer, dealing with electric distribution lines. During that time, tracking down noise was part of my work. No electrically noisy power line or apparatus sends out sawtooth signals.)

This sawtooth noise signal makes audio taping impossible.

Another neuro effect the spooks like is the manipulation of digits. They will, for example, start with the little toe on one foot and SLOWLY bend it BACKWARDS to about 90 degrees from the plane of the bottom of my foot. They follow with the other toes on that foot, slowly, deliberately, one toe at a time.

They routinely use a signal I call "electronic caffeine" to abruptly "pop" me fully awake several times throughout the night. When I try to fall asleep, they start jerking my fingers and thumbs around. Along with this, they will often (in my case) transmit a waking-but-eyes-closed image of my hands cutting wires, and at the same time make my hands go thru the motions perfectly, over and over and over. (Are they training me for sabotage?)

They will often, and this is fully awake but eyes closed, project the scene into your (?) visual cortex so that you appear to see almost perfectly through closed eyelids.

Dream manipulation? Massive, every damn night for years and years. On dream manipulation, our members have similar experiences. Many have horrible experiences - I do not. Instead, I'm in social situations, where people are sort of nice. However, the dreams are far more real than any I had before becoming "enrolled". I'm 56, and this type of dream never occurred before then.

Some victims endure endless transmissions of voice-to-skull, often with the speakers referring directly to the victim. The Allan Frey effect and the USAF project to use voice to skull carried on radar to scare birds away from airports pretty well lay to rest any claims that voice to skull doesn't exist.

Some victims, especially women, are followed everywhere by persons with both thru the wall radar and voice to skull. These scumbags will describe every tiny act done by the woman, along with their opinion of how sexy she is when she does whatever. In these cases "testing" has morphed into voyeurism.

In my case personally, my "testers" don't use "voices" but they constantly transmit false alarm clock noise in the middle of the night, fake knocks on my door, fake pager beeps, and fake LOUD booms on walls, floors and ceilings where the person standing near me can't hear a thing.

Another little trick is done with thru the wall scanning radar - the spooks will choose a weekend, (probably close to a hundred such weekends over the past few years) and track every movement in my apartment. Every new position within the apartment draws PRECISELY TWO sharp raps on the floor or ceiling, depending on which adjacent apt. is being used for surveillance. This will go on throughout the weekend.

At other chosen weekends, the spooks will observe me every time I sit on the toilet, and will turn on the water in the apt. below EXACTLY as I start to urinate, and turn it off at EXACTLY the point where I finish. Over a weekend that can be a few dozen incidents.

At work, the spooks will constantly change the setups on computers (I look after the computer system) overnight.

They perform all kinds