

MS-12
Mind Control

Date: 5/5/98, 11:48 AM

Re: [EWAR] "The Warrior's Edge" [REDACTED] - Part 1

>
>The Warrior's Edge by Colonel [REDACTED], Major [REDACTED] & >[REDACTED]; published in 1990 by Avon >Subtitled: Front-Line Strategies for Victory on the Corporate Battlefield.
>Inside front page blurb: Adapted from the U.S. Military's Latest Advances in >Human Optimization Technology; Innovative, Non-Traditional Management Skills >To Give You
>Glowing reviews from Sen. Claiborne Pell; Dr. H.E. Puthoff; Jim Morris, >author of War Story (and husband of Janet Morris); and Dr. Bob Wood, >McDonnell Douglas Space Systems
>Chapters/Contents
>Introduction
>1. Believers
>2. Mind Control
>3. Influence: The Art and Science of Influence Technology
>4. The Jedi Project
>5. Charting Courses: Reality Mapping
>6. A Still Small Voice: Intuitive Decision Making >7. As Far as the Mind Can See: Visualization
>8. And Nothing Will Be Hidden from You: Remote Viewing
>9. Accessing Power: The Mind/Body Interface
>10. Biofeedback: Tuning Consciousness
>11. The Absolute Warrior
>12. Self-Tests: Pushing the Envelope of Human Performance
>Appendix A Descriptor Queries
>Appendix B Question Short Form
>
>Selected quotes from the book: >INTRODUCTION: "The purpose of this book is to unlock the door to the >extraordinary human potentials inherent in each of us. To do this, we, like >governments around the world, must take a fresh look at nontraditional >methods of affecting reality. We must raise human consciousness of the >potential power of the individual body/mind system-the power to manipulate >reality. We, must be willing to retake control of our past, present, and >ultimately, our future.
>
>"When shorn of spiritualism and trained by scientific method, the shaman of >the past becomes the techno-shaman of today, a psychic warrior capable of >using the tools of science to reveal the secrets hidden within the human >mind."

>

>"In the Soviet Union/Eastern European countries, the all-encompassing term >psychotronics is used to categorize many phenomena currently subject to >scientific research. Within the category of psychotronics, the Russians >identify as biocommunications the following discrete skills:

> bioinformation: telepathy (using the human mind to tap into the > thoughts of other) > remote viewing (to see or >otherwise monitor

> events occurring at a >distant location) > bioenergetics: psychokinesis (PK-altering or affecting molecular > states)"

>

>2. MIND CONTROL: "The mind never sleeps. However, our awareness of our >mental functions fluctuates over a wide range."

>

>"Somewhere between unconsciousness and hyperacuity is a center position we >will call your control center. You operate from your control center during >most of your normal, waking daily life; you've just never named it before.

>

>"Quieting the mind brings your control center sharply into focus, allowing >you to touch base with the unique and formidable array of tools and >techniques you have fashioned in the forge of your personal experience."

>

>3. INFLUENCE: THE ART AND SCIENCE OF INFLUENCE TECHNOLOGY: "To lead >effectively, you must clearly and concisely articulate your objective to >others and then influence them to help secure that objective. This holds >>true not only in senior/subordinate relationships but in all relationships."

>

>"Most of us are aware that we're subjected to the art of influence every >day. Whether by the news media, Madison Avenue, domestic politicians, or >international propagandists, the effects of these influences are visible, if >not always clear. Hidden agendas, subterfuges, and ploys are part of the >art. Influence technology is a serious and potentially deadly game. (KK's >comment: BTW, Alexander never discusses the American electronic >technology.)"

>

>"A declassified Defense Intelligence Agency (DIA) report, Controlled

>Offensive Behavior-USSR that evaluated Soviet research in this area was >"intended as an aid in the development of countermeasures for the protection >of U.S. or allied personnel." Some of the revolutionary techniques studied >by the Soviets to influence human behavior include: biochemicals, sound, >light, color, odors, sensory deprivation, sleep, electronic and magnetic >fields, hypnosis, autosuggestion, and paranormal phenomena (psychokinesis, >extrasensory perception, astral projection, dream state, clairvoyance, and >precognition.)"

>

>"Some high-end influence technologies may already have been employed against >us. According to Robert C. Beck, director of the Bio-Medical Research of >Los Angeles, the Soviets have been utilizing extreme low frequency (ELF) >radio waves (frequencies under 3 kilohertz (KHz) are considered ELF; ELF >frequencies under 20 Hertz (Hz) are below the range of human hearing and are >termed infrasound) modulated at pulse repetition rates of five to fifteen Hz >at amplitudes of up to 40 megawatts. Although the source of these signals >is believed to be an Over-the-Horizon RADAR (OTH-R), the RADAR in question >may have a dual purpose. According to Dr. Beck, "These frequencies fall >precisely within the psychoactive range of neuronal synchronization or >brainwave entrainment, where subjects experience states from increased >anxiety to extreme disorientation and even unconsciousness."

>

>"The type of disorientation associated with these signals was reported in >the U.S. as far back as the mid-1970s, when West Coast residents, notably >from Eugene, Oregon, "complained about odd atmospheric sensations causing >headaches, dry throats, depression, high anxiety, irritability and loss of >sleep." Extremely specialized equipment is required to measure and confirm >the presence of such signals. If potentially detrimental experimentation is >being performed on an unaware test population of Americans, its presence need >to be officially confirmed."

>