

KNOWS THE ADDRESS OF THE METERNETA COMMUNITY
IN SWITZERLAND

HARTMANN MULTIMEDIA SERVICE (Stefan Hartmann)
Berlin, Germany
website: www.overunity.com

[They focus on reporting only about "over unity" devices.
These are devices and machines that are over 100% efficient.
That is, they produce more energy than is put into the system.]

[For information on the Meterneta Community in Switzerland, click on "Basic information" -- see other side]

"The Testatica converter is a free energy device, developed by Paul Baumann in the 1970's, that has been supplying electricity to the small, self-sufficient Christian community of Meterneta in Linden, Switzerland for over 20 years. These machines, also known as Swiss M-L converters, have excess output. However, because the community feels the majority of mankind is not ready to be responsible for such unlimited energy, they are keeping the technology under wraps until such time when the world is spiritually prepared."

[The above statement was taken from the videocassette entitled, "Free Energy -- The Race to Zero Point". This 2-hour video, produced by Lightworks Audio & Video in 1997, can be ordered by calling 1 [REDACTED]]