Re: X-PERIMENTAL Disc Shaped Jet Aircraft stored 'parked'-your Base-
1967 for eventual transfer to USAF Museum; or, dismantle/scraping.

Sir:

I would appreciate information as to whether the above aircraft were moved to a USAF Museum and that Museum's location or if they were scrapped? If scrapped, may I secure a photo of them, please?

During the 1960's on into 1972 I published various unofficial house-organ type magazines for different Officer's and N.C.O. Clubs at MacDill, McCoy, Patrick, Tyndall, Carswell, Pensacola NAS and Orlando NTC.

During 1967 (approx.) one of the proposals for a Front Cover and a content 'filler' article with information and photograph's to be furnished by your Office for one of the monthly issues of the MacDill "NCO CLUB NEWS" to consist of 4 photographs on the cover and 2 plus a half page article within, concerned 'Vintage', Historical, or Experimental aircraft. Because these disc shaped experimental jet aircraft still stored 'parked' near the Base scrap area were the last remaining of their model, the M/Sgt. of The NCO Club telephoned your Office for permission for photograph's to be taken of them for the magazine even though the aircraft were badly dilapidated due to outside storage. Your Office suggested that he use better photographs available in file in your Office and I was sent up thereto select those best suited for the forthcoming issue, and to get suitable information concerning them for the Article. Which I did. However, your Officer In Charge suggested that even though the photograph's were to appear in a Club Calendar Event Magazine for NCO Club Members, some of the copies were sure to get off Base and due to a then coincidental 'UFO' rumor in the local areas over Florida it would be of better interest to the Air Force for him to submit request to higher Air Force Authority for 'clearance' for publication at that particular time; that in all probability such clearance would not arrive in time for the up-coming monthly issue in question deadline, but that we could probably get them for the following month. Because those particular magazines were for Club Activities, primarily, rather than ask that he go to the additional effort for clearance, I told him we would 'feature' something else with no problem at all, which I did.

Your Officer mentioned that the aircraft in question might be sent to Offutt AFB in Omaha as they were also storing other aircraft there, for the then yet to be completed Air Force Museum. I was on that Base on a business call in 1970-71, but it had been so many years, that I neglected to go see them if they were there.

I don't recall the USAF "I.D." or "Name" for them. Those I am inquiring about were of various size; 2 and 4 Jet; single pilot and/or multiple crew; and so-called "saucer"-shaped. Plainly marked: X-PERIMENTAL USAF and USAF Insignia and Number.

I will appreciate any information concerning them, you can provide.
