"PROJECT REDLIGHT"

ARE WE FLYING THE SAUCERS TOO?

by Preston Dennett

Art by Christine Dennett "Kesara"

When the now famous MJ-12 documents were released, several other documents were also released. One of them was entitled Project Aquarius, and a paragraph on this document referred to a "Project Snowbird" which stated that, "Originally established in 1972, it's mission was to test fly a recovered alien aircraft. This project is continuing in Nevada..."

Project Snowbird may be part of yet another top-secret operation called Project Redlight. In the Fall of 1989 issue of UFO Universe, Milton William Cooper released some of the results of his research. In the article, CLASSIFIED ABOVE TOP SECRET: "OPERATION MAJORITY," Cooper stated that Project Snowbird was "established as a COVER for Project Redlight."

About Project Redlight, Cooper said that its "... mission was to test fly recovered alien craft. This project was postponed after every attempt resulted in the destruction of the craft and death of the pilots... Project Redlight was resumed in 1972. This project has been partially successful. UFO sightings of craft accompanied by black helicopters are Project Redlight assets. This project is ongoing at 'Area 51' in Nevada."

It is interesting that Cooper mentions unmarked helicopters. There is a very famous UFO case known as the Cash/Landrum Radiation case. On December 29, 1980, Betty Cash, Vickie Landrum and Colby Landrum encountered a UFO on a lonely Texas highway. The UFO, however, was surrounded by nearly twenty helicopters of definite Earthly origins. Why would a UFO have twenty helicopters escorting it above a highway?

This case could very well be our best evidence of Project Redlight. The unfortunate witnesses, especially Betty Cash, suffered radiation burns. Betty's eyes swelled shut, she suffered hair and skin loss, nausea, diarrhea, stomach cramps and head-aches. She had sores on her hands that persisted even after eight months.

Other people have witnessed UFOs that don't seem to be piloted by beings from other planets. One such case was picked up by Lucius Farish's UFO NEWSCLIPPING SERVICE. Rick Murry told the story in his article, IS THAT THING A UFO, OR THE USAF? The incident took place in the 1960s in New Jersey. According to Murray, his father saw a typical saucer-shaped UFO while travelling on Route 70. According to Murray, another man drove up in a car and witnessed the UFO with his father. As they were watching it, Air Force personnel drove up in jeeps and tried to convince the men that what they'd seen was their imagination.

This case would be just like many other UFO cases except for two things. As Murray says, "... the heads my father saw through the portals were human. And along the craft's fuselage, in bold print, were the letters USAF."

Again, it seems, the military is in possession of flying saucers and is flying them around.

Another account is told in the Vol. 3, No. 4, 1988 issue of the California-based magazine, UFO. Bill Hamilton's article, THE MILITARY'S 'SECRET SPACE PROGRAM' contains the story of someone who claimed to actually work in 'Area 51' of the Redlight Project Area in Nevada. Writes Bill Hamilton, "In the early 1960s, a radio technician working at Area 51 reported seeing a saucer on the ground, some 20 or 30 feet in diameter. He said when it flew through the air, it was silent. The technician also claimed to have viewed a number of wooden shipping crates marked 'Project Redlight.' That project may have been a forerunner to something called Project Snowbird."

Such stories may seem rare, but they are actually much more common than most people realize. By pure luck, I was able to procure two separate accounts that seem to be evidence of Project Redlight, the alleged Air Force study to fly UFOs acquired through crash/retrievals.

The information from the first account was told by a friend of my father's who knows one of the central witnesses of the case. The information was gained through two or three casual conversations, each talk eliciting more data.

This case involves two people — neither of whom would give their names. The first person, I shall call Greg Edwards. Greg Edwards had a best friend whom he considered a blood brother. I shall call his friend Tom Matthews, as he is the central witness in this case.

Greg and Tom were best buddies, and Greg thought he knew all there was to know about Tom. Then one day, Tom approached Greg with a startling revelation. Tom said that nearly everything he had told Greg about his life wasn't true — that he lied about his job, where he worked, what he did — everything. All lies.

Tom then told Greg what he really did for a living. What Tom revealed about his work is the stuff of science-fiction.

But Tom insisted that it was all true.

Tom's story began in high school. He was very bright and had received an exceptionally high score on the Scholastic Aptitude Test. In fact, his scores were so high, it caused some attention to be paid to him. It seemed that the United States Government was very interested in Tom and wanted him to work for them. He had no idea then what his high scores were going to cost him.

Government officials first approached Tom's parents, and asked them if they would allow their son to work for the government. When Tom's parents gave their consent, Tom was approached and given an offer he couldn't refuse. In exchange for his services, he would receive a Top Secret security clearance to match a ridiculously large salary. His job was to conduct research in a Top Secret underground base in Alaska.

Tom accepted the offer and went directly out of high school and into government service. He told everyone that he was stationed at a base in Nevada — but this was only a cover story. In reality Tom spent only the weekends in Nevada. On weekdays he flew by private military jet to a Top Secret Government base in Alaska.

The base was an eight story building located almost totally underground. The base financed itself by setting up the world's leading drug smugglers. Officials would arrest the drug smugglers, confiscate all the money and drugs, and then turn around and sell the drugs back to another smuggler — whom they would then proceed to arrest and confiscate. It sounds like a strange way to finance a scientific-military research base, but it is obviously very profitable. Although not strictly legal, such practices could be justified in the name of National Security (at least in some minds.)

Tom reported that the base was mainly a research station that nabbed up some of the best scientific minds in the country, and had the latest technology for advanced research. There were three major areas of research of which he was aware.

Firstly, the base researched and developed biological weapons, which, as Tom said, made all other weapons seem like child's play.

Secondly, the base researched and developed electronic sensory and detection devices that allowed telescopic sight through solid objects, such as walls.

Thirdly — and most importantly — the base researched and developed electromagnetic propulsion devices — flying crafts which needed no fuel other than the Earth's magnetic field on which to operate. According to Tom, the ships look like UFOs, and are able to hover silently, and move at astonishing speeds. As Tom says in his own words, "Some of the UFOs seen over Alaska are probably ours."

Tom didn't say exactly what his job at the base entailed, but he did say that the security was extremely high. Every week he was subjected to a horrible ritual. Due to the nature of his job, everything about him had to be known. He would be taken to a special room where he was dosed with Sodium Pentathol and put into a hypnotic trance. For a period of a couple hours, he would be interrogated into every aspect of his life for the past week. Every detail would be laid bare to make sure that there were no security leaks. This agonizing ritual was repeated every week as long as he was at the base. There were no exceptions.

Tom evidently got out of the business after several years as the lifestyle was too harsh. Since he left the base he has been, and still is, under close monitoring by the government. After his release from the base, he was offered several extremely high-paying jobs by some of the country's leading corporations. Tom declined these offers and pursued a more modest job and lifestyle.

So closes Tom's story, which alone could be easily dismissed. But in league with those collected by other researchers, it seems evident that the government is in possession of UFOs, and are in fact, flying them around!

I received further corroboration of this from a man named, Johnathon S., who was at one time employed by the United States Army. Johnathon S. was employed as a Flight Commander Trainee at Aniston Air-Force Base in Alabama when he himself suffered a period of missing time during a close-up sighting of a metallic disk. The encounter occurred in late 1976 on Army base grounds. The sighting left him convinced that UFOs were real. But he never thought the subject would cross his path again.

Later, after Johnathon had left the Army, he was told a strange story by a man I shall call Bill. Bill is the brother-in-law of Johnathon's ex-girlfriend.

Bill was employed by the Central Intelligence Agency. Johnathon noticed that every winter, Bill would disappear for the season. When the cold was over, Bill would return with a deep, dark, tan, and a strange tropical disease that he had contracted from some exotic unknown country.

At the time Johnathon knew Bill, Bill was a retired-CIA agent, (if there is such a thing as Johnathon points out), and was employed as a private detective. The subject of UFOs came up one day, and Bill told Johnathon what he had found out while working for the CIA.

Bill said that he knew first-hand that the Air Force had in it's possession a crashed UFO, and that alien bodies had been collected by the military where they were being studied. Bill told Johnathon that the aliens were pretty much human-like, but that their organs were all messed up — that their heart was located in their rectum, the blood-blood pressure was way off the scale, along with other strange abnormalities. Bill states further that he knew that one of the aliens was kept alive, though all the others had died when the UFO crashed.

But that was just the beginning. Bill then stated that the government was not only holding a number of crashed UFOs, but that they were flying them around. Bill said that they would fly the UFOs above the interstate highways in New Mexico. They would travel late at night, and would go from base to base. This was apparently a regular practice — one which resulted in an inevitable accident.

According to Bill, the UFOs were manned by military personnel. And one night, a military-owned UFO crashed directly on an interstate highway in New Mexico. Bill said that the entire highway was completely cordoned off around the crash site, and the highway was closed down. Because it was impossible to keep the event entirely secret, the media and the public were misinformed that it was simply the crash of a military aircraft. The UFO and all traces of it were quickly recovered.

Johnathon was quite taken aback by Bill's story and said, "This is dangerous information. Why are you telling me this?"

Bill said, "It doesn't matter because nobody will believe you anyway," and made an insinuation that those who knew too much mysteriously disappeared.

Johnathon was shocked by the information. Because he had a previous UFO sighting. Johnathon was certain UFOs were real, but he had no idea that UFOs had crashed and been recovered, and he wasn't sure if he was happy about knowing it. He asked me if I had heard of anything like this before and was quite surprised that I had. He kept saying, "Really?!" as I related similar stories to him. It was obvious that he thought UFO crashes were unheard of.

UFO crashes are more common than most people realize. The subject first came to attention with Frank Scully's book, BEHIND THE FLYING SAUCERS. Perhaps the most well-known and best-documented case was revealed in Charles Berlitz's and William Moore's book, THE ROSWELL INCIDENT. Other books that tell of UFO crash/recoveries are Raymond Fowler's, CASEBOOK OF A UFO INVESTIGATOR, and William Steinman's, UFO CRASH AT AZTEC.

The most comprehensive work in UFO crashes has been done by Leonard Stringfield who began his research with his book, SITUATION RED: THE UFO SIEGE. When reports continued, he privately printed his STATUS REPORTS, which tell literally hundreds of cases of UFO crash/retrievals. If there is a cover-up of UFO evidence, it definitely has a few leaks.

It should be obvious by now that the United States Government does in fact have in its possession crashed UFOs and alien bodies. The preceding accounts, if true, indicate that not only does the government own a few UFOs, but that they are flying them around. Project Redlight seems to have been a success.

If this looks to you like a goose on roller skates, you could be going blind.

No, there's nothing wrong with your vision.

But there could be something wrong with your eyes.

You could have an eye disease serious enough to blind you, and not even know it. The leading cause of blindness in adults, glaucoma, has no symptoms in early stages.

There is no cure. But there is hope.

You can stop glaucoma from advancing (and many other eye diseases from happening in the first place) by seeing an eye doctor at least every two years.

Remember, no one can save your sight but you.

By RICK MURRAY

Is that thing a UFO, or the USAF?

On the night of Aug. 21, this observer saw his first UFO. It probably would have been an impressive sight, if only the thing had hung around long enough.

But as it was, the UFO moved in and out of view so rapidly, the mind hardly had a chance to fight off the imagination. Sometimes, as we all know, slivers of reality can be particularly elusive if they come at us too hard, fast and weird.

Your reporter's best recollection is that it was a metallic dart of an object. It was riding high enough to where your eyes could only track it if the curve of your skull was braced hard against the back of your collar.

There was a steady light in the front — can't remember what color — and you could tell something intelligent was directing the object because it didn't arc and fade in the haphazard way of a shooting star or meteorite.

At one point, the UFO released a big puff of exhaust that either glowed on its own or did so after getting caught in a wider-than-usual moon beam. Its line of travel was straight and horizontal and deliberate, cutting through a world's worth of sky in a fraction of a second.

A colleague here at the paper says the UFO was probably the Concorde. Sounds good, except that Federal Aviation Administration officials report that nothing unusual showed up on their local radar that night. Not a Concorde. Not a wayward piece of NASA hardware. Nothing.

There's a network of UFO buffs whose spokesman claims to have received plenty of calls on this latest sighting from as far north as Vermont and as far south as Maryland. The callers all describe the phenomenon much the same way.

Most likely, nobody's ever going to know for sure what that thing was, but for the benefit of those who care, here's some food for thought:

It comes compliments of a quiet, sober gentleman of advanced middle-age, who never hurt anybody, and, so far as anybody knows, never told a lie. He's my dad.

This was maybe 20 years ago and he was on his way home to Camden from Toms River. The moon was full and his route of travel, Route 70, was and remains surrounded by dense pine forest. For most of the way, the highway was empty of any other traffic but dad's old Ford Falcon.

Don't remember where he was coming from that night, but wherever it was, there'd been no hard liquor and no funny business.

"Suddenly, there it was," he recalls even to this day. "A flying saucer. It was hovering just above the treeline. I could even make out heads through the saucer's portals."

He screeched to a halt, and after a few minutes, another passing car did the same.

"This other driver was hysterical when he saw it," he says.

"Then, out of nowhere, these Air Force guys came in jeeps. There was a bunch of 'em. The guy was babbling by this time, but I just played it cool."

The Air Force officers told my father that what he'd seen was a figment of his imagination.

Dad sized them up. He saw the guns, the official posturing, and now, instead of a UFO, he was seeing handwriting on a wall. And this handwriting was telling him that, sure enough, he hadn't seen a damn thing. The smart move, he knew, was to shrug sheepishly and just slink on out of there. Which is what he did.

"The other guy, he just kept screaming," he says, shaking his head. "They put him in a jeep and took him away."

Before you write this off as just another crank's yarn, understand that the heads my father saw through the portals were human. And along the craft's fuselage, in bold print, were the letters USAF.
