

Re: Info location:

[REDACTED]

Hello [REDACTED]
Thank you for sharing this account.

Do you have a date when this happened?
What company were you working for when you were delivering the tables?
Do you remember pretty clearly what you saw? Would you be able to describe it to a sketch artist?
Please reply to my personal business email above [REDACTED]

Thanks so much
[REDACTED]

[REDACTED]

On Thu, Jul 13, 2023 at 10:10AM [REDACTED] wrote:

I just want to ad ,that in the comments of the Shawn r.show there's a person that's father worked at Livermore, well I'm going to be one of your unknown calibrator to his story..I was a truck driver for a very well know company in Michigan that I delivered a load of tables from a co.steel case to Lawrence Livermore labs,in the 90s and this is a military protected facility that my truck was searched by guys and dogs,before you go through the gate and when you did move it was with armed escorts too the a warehouse looking place and had to wait till the escort came up the the cab could I get out and show them the tables they were to get.now iv been talking with these guys because iv never been inside a place like this before or ever again.so there is the two armed guards that came with me from the gate .to this warehouse that there is four more guards or men in uniform there well I show them the table they were to get and it was I think 50 stainless tables ..we got them off my truck and I asked if there was a bath room to piss,and they said go through those curtains clear like for coolers and it was on the right ,the rest room .well past the bath room was like this huge room that was so clean that it didn't look like it belonged to the same. So now these guys let me go to the bath room without escorts and so I came out of the rest room and ran over to that room just to see what was with it. It was so out of place ,anyway there was a object looked like crome that was round about 24 feet wide and was off the ground about 3 feet..I about shit and I looked at it for about 15 seconds and hauled ass back out side well when I get right were the curtains are one of the guards comes through and asked were were you I was coming to see if you got lost and he made a comment that didn't want you to see anything but that pisser. .I can tell you now that I had my girlfriend [REDACTED] clevenger with me ,but told her to wait for me down the road. Because my dispatcher said it would be quicker if I was by myself. In and out. .well I told her about what went down and we said we would not say anything .but there was little cabins around that building that had mesh wire on all the windows that I thought was wired also....anyway hope this works for us all .

--

Best regards,
[REDACTED]