Dear [REDACTED],

Could you get a few key points from Dr. Greer that he would like to cover? I am heading out of the country on Thursday night myself, to meet with one of the world's leading contactees (with 350 videotapes of ufo footage).

I would like to share my information about time-travel, JFK's CIA Director, Roswell, and alien contacts I believe I have had, but I have to wonder whether it is futile.

After all, despite the fact that, as far as I know, I was the person who first contacted the Reagan White House (through letters) with the idea of the Iran-contra plot (which I had based on a passage from [REDACTED] "Finnegans Wake"), and the fact that it is a pun on my name that I deliberately set up so that I could reference it later, I have never been able to secure any confirmation of this from anyone (CIA, NSA, DIA, and FBI FOIA requests of no avail). The government has become pretty intractable with me, and even after I called the CIA twenty times in one evening the week prior to their largest intelligence failing (the unreported India nuclear tests), trying to discuss an obvious (to me) problem (and was hung up on every time), and then wrote to the Senate Intelligence Committee to complain about how poorly they treat calls from me (as a probable time-traveler with information about the future), I still receive no response.

I am certainly willing to give Dr. Greer some of my time, but I would like to have a few key points he is looking for ahead of any conversation.

Also, I am one of those people who communicates somewhat better in writing than orally. That stated: "What does he want to know?"

Dear [REDACTED],

Dr. Greer has been out of town the better part of the last month. He is interested in talking to you concerning your information on the former CIA Director/Secretary of Defense, etc. Please call him on his private line [REDACTED] by this Thurs. pm--he'll be out of the country after that date.

Thank You,

[REDACTED]
