England Holds World's Record For Mysterious Crop Circles

[A report on the mysterious crop circles of England in 1997 by Ron Russell, a professional artist from Denver, Colorado USA, as well as a researcher on the crop circle phenomenon, Ron organizes small research tours to view and study the crop circles in England each summer.]

While crop formations do appear all over the Earth, it seems that aesthetically, the strongest collection is in the old Wessex area of Southwest England.

This charming rural area is host to the most amazing manifestations of Crop Circles on the planet.

1997 was another wonder-filled Summer in the bucolic countryside of Southern England.

Ron says he feels he has been privileged to have witnessed and researched this phenomenon since 1992 when he stepped into his first crop circle at Milk Hill. Last year, at the very place it started for him, the season finished with an amazing glyph comprised of 208 circles and a large Koch Snowflake Fractal pattern (see picture). "I was fortunate to be in the right place at the right time and entered the formation at 9:30 in the morning of its creation. I met a young

Just Say No to Navy Humpback Experiments

Since the thirties sound has been used to map geophysical and underwater data. In the second world war sonar was used to detect submarines. Over the years the detection sensitivity got better and the resolution increased, and so did the technologies. All of this added to the noise pollution to the waters of our planet.

In the past several years the US Navy has been testing high intensity sound to increase the range and resolution. These programs were called ATOC, which met public opposition, then LAS and more recently renamed LFAS for Low Frequency Acoustic Sound. Over the years the sound levels increased from the ping we heard in old submarine movies to blasts of sound at around 200DB, 10,000 times the loudness of a 747 at take off. Many thousands of times louder than is needed to do permanent damage to living tissue resulting in internal bleeding, disorientation, ruptured ear drums and other sometimes fatal effects. A

Israel finds Quantum Oddity to Change the Universe

Experiments Confirm a Quantum Oddity: to change the universe, just Look! Apparently, there is more to the saying, "than meets the eye". What you see might actually determine what you get. And what you may ultimately get as a result of this finding is a new generation of supercomputers and electronic equipment. Researchers from the Weizmann Institute of Science in Israel say they have demonstrated one of the strangest premises of quantum theory, which states that by the very act of watching, the observer affects the observed reality.

Electrons Know You Are Watching!...reported in the British Journal Nature, the scientists describe their experiment that shows how observation affects a beam of electrons. Lead researcher Mordehai Heiblum says the study shows the greater the amount of watching, the greater the watcher's influence on what is being watched.

The principles of quantum man who was wild-eyed and eager to talk. He told me he had spent the night on the hill (Milk Hill is part of an old pre-Celtic neolithic settlement from 8000 years ago). He was awakened in the dark of the night by a roaring sound that was unlike anything he recognized. He arose after it stopped and could see what he believed was a formation in the field below. Curious, he walked down the hill in the pre-dawn night, crossed the barbed wire fence and approached the formation. He stopped dead in his tracks, he said, when he was approached by footsteps. These footsteps passed by him very close but there was no physical body! He became frightened and returned to his sleeping bag to await the security of the sun.

This is somewhat typical of the stories all of us researchers hear on an almost daily basis. Some people see lights. Some people see ships. But no one sees hoaxers! Yet the mainstream press and media only report the human fabrication angle. Why? Is contact with other intelligence so difficult for our culture to deal with that we routinely lie and misinform each other? Do we humans not want to grow up? This study I have been making into the crop circles inevitably leads to questions like this. It's part of the fascination of looking at the edge of a paradigm.

On July 11 my research team from the Midwest USA entered the Upham Goddess formation in Hampshire. My assistant, Stacy Tussell lay down in one of the small circles and saw a swirling shape in her mind's eye, which she immediately recorded on paper, (see 1a). This is similar to what others including myself have seen when we close our eyes and still our minds while in a good circle. And this was a great circle! (See pic) Abundant with gap-seeking effects (where the laid crop weaves into the standing crop), and beautiful swirls, this was my favorite formation of the year.

During her meditation she perceived or was given the shapes which she drew in her notebook as 1B and 1C. She asked me what it meant and I had to tell her I did not know.

beyond description as she knew that she had a communication. These are some of the joys of this research! We wouldn't do it if we didn't have fun like this.

Soon to appear was the West Ant in Hampshire (see pic). Again we were fortunate by being in the right place at the

Here was another formation with masterful craftsmanship. But the image of an ant still haunts me somewhat. Why were we given a cartoon-like ant? What on earth does this mean? And for that matter, rounding area is a favorite place to watch for phenomenon in the evening and night sky. Most patient visitors to this area have all seen the "fairy spirits" or elements there. Many of us have seen ships. One of the hills in the area is officially named on maps: "Golden Ball Hill" for the golden balls of light that may appear at night (and we assume are fairy spirits). Maybe this is an enchanted place! And every year an amazing crop circle appears in the area. Last year saw the DNA formation in the adjoining field.

The CSETI team arrived in late July and it was pleasure and privilege to work once again with Dr. Steven Greer. Upon his appearance a very large formation in the shape of a Koch Snowflake Fractal came down at Silbury Hill (see pic). We did our contact protocol fieldwork and skywatch late at night in this formation as well as Alton Barnes. What could be more ideal? The enchanted energies in the circles helps our contact. And every night bore the fruit of various sightings. No one who takes the CSETI training ever comes away thinking we are alone in the universe!

There were so many more great formations last year: Bishop's Cawnings, Warminster, Somerset, Oxfordshire, Shropshire, Surrey, Sussex, Kent, Devon, Cornwall, and reports came in from Germany, Holland, Romania, Czech Republic, and the USA, as well as Australia and India. I suspect that they appear all over but mostly go unrecognized or ignored. To me, this is such an obvious contact and it's relentless; it goes on and on, year after year, hundreds and hundreds in fields all over the planet. Is it not likely someone is telling us something? Is it possible we are not so good at listening?

We do seem to be good at ignoring the spiritual; looking at the great decline in our intuitive abilities since our early had never seen a shape like this. In one week the formation of two opposing crescents appeared at Oliver's Castle in Wiltshire (see pic). This shape is so similar to Stacy's drawing that I can only think that she had a precognitive remote viewing of the glyph. When she saw the aerial photographs I took, she was thrilled any of them mean?

In early July a very large twelve ringed spirograph-like formation appeared in the famous Alton Barnes area (see pic). This was over 300 feet in diameter and directly below a very large Neolithic settlement from @6000 BC on Woodborough Hill. This hill and the sur-days in less technological civilizations. Can we not have both technology and spiritual understanding? I'm sure we can because I have come to understand that the crop circles function as Spiritual Machines. There is a technology of the spirit but we seem to ignore it. Yet these gifts are treasures worth more than any material things. We have all but forgotten our contact with divinity. Culturally, I think we have some processing and integrating to do of this strange amnesia. And the crop circles, if nothing else, seem to be helping to do just that. From An Angel Ambassador...

My experience with the Angel goes back years. They have followed me and been at my side around the world. One of my most powerful experiences was in Barcelona in the cathedral where Archangel Michael appeared to me and embraced me. He stood in front of me demonstrating his magnificent height and when he suddenly embraced me while I was kneeling, I could feel the warmth of his embrace and his presence.

Then the scene changed and a band of angels surrounded me, tossing colored ribbons upon me and smiling, while each giving me their special blessing. I was indeed left kneeling without being able to speak.

He told me that I was to spread the Angelic message of LOVE and JOY to as many people as possible and in as many languages as I could. I speak Spanish and French fluently, as well as translating in both languages. So far I am translating his message and prayers into Spanish and am currently creating an audio tape in Spanish.

What is most thrilling is the number of Angelic experiences I have on a weekly basis. I am guided to restaurants, stores, etc. where there are special people I am supposed to meet. The most recent happened just a few days ago. I was shopping at a department store when I suddenly saw this adorable baby who looked like she was just born (perhaps two weeks old). Upon talking to the grandmother I was told she was 3 months old and born prematurely. She had weighed a mere 1 lb. 9oz. and she spent two months in an incubator. Her name is Courtney and she looked up at me and smiled as if to say, I am so happy to be here. All around her was a bright white and golden light.

A large part of the Angelic message is to BE OPEN, because the messages and signs are not always as you think they should be, so remember to always listen and look around you for there may be an important message from the person you least expect to assist you.

It is my privilege and pleasure to share Angelic stories with you. Feel free to write and share yours with me.

The Angelic Ambassador,
Renée Hatfield
