Hello Dr. Greer, it's [REDACTED] here and I had a few things I wanted to bring up. I found an interesting article which I'm sending you the link to read for yourself. It kind of does a good job of highlighting the significance of Guam being a UFO hotspot as I can certainly vouch for firsthand.

And I'm sure you remember me mentioning that I have been having an extremely difficult time in getting a copy of my DD-214. Now I'll be honest, I kind of just gave up on pursuing that, at least for the time being, but it still does bother me just out of principle. I attached one of the last letters I had received from the Personnel Archives stating that they didn't have it there. I don't really need it as I'm not trying to use it to get any extra VA services that I'm not already using, but it's very important to me that I can be able to conclusively show that I am who I say that I am, and that I was an enlisted service member of the Coast Guard back in the early 2000s. On another note, I do have quite a few other documents and even an ID badge from when I was staying at the New England Center for Veterans in Boston (It's actually the largest veterans home/service center in the entire US) that do show that I am definitely a veteran of the Coast Guard at least, and I wanted to offer to send any of that to you if you would like. Cause it's very important to me that I do this CORRECTLY, exactly as you have stated in the past as far as wanting witnesses to come forward with name, rank, serial number, etc as to preserve the integrity of your work.

And I just watched an interview you did with Paola Harris and I couldn't help but notice you mention something about a Roswell type incident and Guam and something else about it being in 2002 so I couldn't help but wonder if that was my particular case you were referring to, or if perhaps any of the others involved might have also come forward? I will be very excited if others do start coming forward, because there were a lot more people than just me involved, and at least by you putting it out there for the public, I really hope that it might reach some of the others who were involved and hopefully compel them to admit their experiences and what roles they might have had.

And BTW, I also just emailed you the last part of my report. I mean I've already told you over the phone exactly how it went down, so there's nothing really new or earth shattering that I had to add to it, but I suppose that it's been long enough that I really needed to just send that to you. Lol, and then you can use the information in any capacity that you feel is appropriate.

So I look forward to hearing back from you soon and I will be more than glad to answer any other questions to the best of my recollection if you think of any. And also please keep me posted of any other Intel you can obtain that's related to my experiences out in Guam and the Marianas Islands! Thanks so much sir, for all that you do and God Bless!

to the kind of us vs them mentality between officers and enlisted sailors. And the entire ship's crew had to be addressed at morning muster on more than one occasion about never bringing that subject up ever again. So while we were over at the shore unit, Marsec during our debriefing, apparently the rest of the ship's crew had also had a similar kind of meeting and they were (from what I was told) basically only told that yesterday officially never happened and that they were also to never speak of it ever again.

So I just wanted to finally send you the part about the debriefing we had to go through. If there's anything I might have left out or if you have any questions at all for me, please feel free to reach out. I heard you mention in an interview with Paola Harris about some kind of Roswell type incident in 2002 and you mentioned Guam so I immediately got excited and thought that maybe you had another witness come forward perhaps or that you were referring to my experience. And either way, I'm happy to do my part in helping to try and figure out what all has been going on out there in that part of the world. Thanks again sir, for all that you do for humanity! And many blessings- Shannon Lee
