My name is [REDACTED]

Im a navy vet and im out of the military. My witness account was 2007 nov 1 and was the only account I ever had with anything that I could not explain. It was 0231 when i recieved a radio transmission in my guard tower at Kingsbay NSB. The radio transmission was as follows, verbatim

"Tower 3 Charlie 2 bravo come back"

"Tower 2 Bravo 3 Charlie go ahead"

"Tower 3 Charlie confirm aircraft on your starboard side 6 oclock"

15 seconds later i radioed...

"Tower 2 Bravo Aircraft confirmed sound general alarm"

Our base was a strict No fly Zone. Within 20 mnutes 30 Helicopters were airborne and searching the area while 3 divisions were on guard in 2 man teams Posted on every wall by every entrance within thee limited area.

After i recieved the first radio transmission i exited the main controll room to the tower balcony. from that point i witnessed 6 lights in a v formation moving slowly from 6 oclock to my 5 oclock. the lights from where i was standing may have been about 400 yards off and were the size of soccer balls. after i exited the control room and saw the lights the lingered for about 15 seconds and one by slowly dissapeared. i had no idea what i had seen and had no choice to give the order to sound the general alarm. the ground divisions and helicopter teams were operating radio transmission on other channels. no one was permitted to approach my post on a regular day, so untill 0600 i sat in my tower watching everything going on outside with no communications. when i was releived i was approached by a captain whom i had never met and he said to me,

"there was 16 people down here that said they saw aircraft over the limited area, what did you see?"

i had 3 hours to figure out what i was going to say and i knew if i said anything about ufo's that would be the end of my career. i told the captain i had seen lights behind the tree line, that i sounded the general alarm because no helicopters were permitted in the area. he asked me if i heard the helicoter. i said i was inside the tower and could not hear anything. i implied that i thought i had seen a recognizable aircraft. this was not a helicopter there were no trees and they made no sound. it had just rained so the lights from the building were reflecting in puddles all over the ground, these objects were very bright but made no reflections. i made no written statements nor was there any briefing on the matter. 3 days later the 16 people and myself were transfered from kingsbay. i havn't been able to contact any of them.

i had been serving in iraq for about a year. i received an e-mail from a friend from kingsbay, the e-mail was normal, he asked how i was doing and we sent a few messages back and forth. at no point in the correspondence did either of us mention that night. then the e-mails stopped. i tried to send him a message and it said the address was wrong and to try again. i never heard from him again. a week later i tried to send one more e-mail. it didnt work. i went out on patrol that day with my team. we were kidnapped by our own forces. not military, but americans. the passenger door to our truck opened and a man struck me in the head with the stock of his rifle. i was blind folded and taken to a location i did not recognize. i could smell the tobacco on them which was american. i heard them speaking in a room next to the one i was in. they were speaking english. my seargent disobeyd a direct order and went on a search and rescue mission thinking we were captured by the enemy. when they recovered us, there were only 3 of us alive. one died on the way back to base. i had a sevear head injury. when the captain asked me what happened i said i didnt remember. my career was pretty much over after that. my gi bill was taken away and i received a dd214 that said i was discharged on nov 1st 2007. for other than honarable conditions. they pretty much deleted my life. i cant get a job with my experience and i have no money for school. i went to the va and tried to get my correct discharge papers. they said they would look into it. they have not. a few weeks ago somone broke into my house. they were on my computer. there was nothing for them to find. whoever it was they wanted me to know they were there, there were things out of place and my computer was closed. i never close it. all i know is it was a man. he left the toilet seat up. there are no men in my house.
