

they failed to about Project Blue Book and the Roswell UFO and b) the actual debris from Roswell and an unclaimed craft that was found by the Air Force in the vicinity of Corona California in July of 1947. The craft is not "classified", [REDACTED] told me it has been dubbed "experimental military air craft" - so that it ordinarily would not be available to the public and all documents about it subject to perpetual classification. I understand that the Air Force has until the second week in January to respond and is bound irrevocably by the Order of Protection, being monitored by the Department of Justice and the US Marshall Service. The lawsuit is based on "fraudulent representation of property of the United States Government" and includes writs of Habeas Corpus demanding production of documents, things and corpses, connected with the Roswell matter. ACC says it may be pending for several years, given the immediate effort by the Air Force to slow the fast track of the lawsuit, and to quell production.

ACC has also cornered President Clinton, sending one of their lobbyists to meet with him: they got him to release a statement that he has a "personal interest" in UFO-ology and wants the ultimate facts surrounding any military dossiers and Alien Hardware in the US Government's possession released to the public (but admitting that despite the fact that he is the CIC, he may not have the ability to cause the release, due to the problem with ultra-classified materials from the past, he has not yet been able to get the DoD to brief him on the project allegedly assigned to the Roswell craft, or so he said).

ACC has approached both [REDACTED] and [REDACTED] about the possibility of organizing a Pro Bono Observation Team to enter and examine the alleged storage facility housing the craft. It is my understanding that the Judge Advocate General of the Army and Air Force has issued a ruling ordering a protective order on the facility, barring removal of any materials from it by the NSA and by the DoD, or any agent thereof.

ACC has asked Gen'l (ret.) [REDACTED] to join the PBOT, apparently Al Haig was one of the sources of the ACC story (although I have not confirmed this) and may be the consultant, the identity of whom [REDACTED] has been protecting (note that Haig is working on Defense Communications based on high altitude Blimps, and that they have adopted the name of the Air Force's secret extra-terrestrial flyby monitoring system: Skystation, which is referred to in the FAX sent to ACC's technical support desk, but HAIG is not the source of that document - ACC has confirmed it came from Langley Air Force Base, and was sent them not so by accident, after the posting of their story on the Internet).

ACC has also met with estate management trustees for Walter Brittain about some documents that were in his estate when he passed away which despite his published writings, were dispositive about his having been convinced by his superiors at Bell Labs to put his name on phony patent disclosures surrounding the AT&T Transistor. I understand that the lawyers who Brittain had originally hired for his estate had passed copies to ACC for examination.

I understand that a document (designed to protect them from AT&T) signed by Brittain, Shockley and Bardeen may be being sought, in that it was filed with their lawyer as a means by which to convince AT&T that "if anything should happen to us, then our lawyers will release this letter to the public, the press and the government".

ACC has indicated they will not be adding new information to their website until almost New Years, and have asked me to serve as a "go between", limiting my postings to those who have sent me their email addresses, and to

██████████s List Serve. I believe however that they are still taking calls, but keeping their heads down and also having a very busy holiday sale season on their PCs). ████████ told me he didn't want the Public coming to his website and buying PCs for the holidays as a result of any earth shattering news posted there about Roswell, so he has locked the Roswell story well (but many of us are trying to convince him to change his mind, there are about 50 pages of things ACC does NOT want me to release in my letters to you that have my mind boggled.)

ACC has also indicated that while it has received numerous offers about books and movies concerning its story, it has withheld any agreement to the many offerers, and is working mainly on the effort to get the UFO and documents

(and bodies?) produced by the Air Force for public inspection... I applaud them. I heard that they have put a lawyer between them and the many requests coming from companies, from ghost writers, from screenplay writers and many others and aren't committing to anything.
