Hi Steve

We have downloaded the Tesla Quantum Generator documents, our engineer associate is looking them over and evaluating, I'll let you know if anything comes of it.

The resonance is apparently a key element. I've been in communication with another engineer at [REDACTED] who has a resonant system using a toroidal configuration with a pulse motor/gen combo.

His tests look promising, but I have referred him to using the equipment that we have left over from the Bedini fiasco for real data using a computerized battery analyzer in order to see the true useable power out vs in.

Otherwise its just speculative theory and you know how batteries are, we've all been down that road too many times. If the Tesla Quantum Generator is open source as they say, you would think feedback will be popping up all over the place fairly soon as to whether it works or not. Should have paid more attention to that fact with Bedini.

Apologize about not getting back to you with Dr. Gary Golon in regards to the underground chambers they discovered, but apparently they are running into some delays, so I'll just wait to hear from Gary.

I am still working on this article which is going to get some exposure titled "Who controls the perception of the agreed upon reality through the mainstream media and why they fear disclosing the truth about the extraterrestrial reality?" As you can imagine I've had to do a lot of catch up researching on this subject for all the elements that more clearly form the picture. When I finish in the next week, only if your time permits I would love your feedback on it.

Kind regards
