Hello

I'm checking my emails before hopping into bed.
May I email you tomorrow Wednesday?

The "Mystery Photo" can easily be USA, as American tailoring was sophisticated.
I mentioned circa 1925 due to the Man on the right with the modern haircut.

Other than for him, I would say early 1920s. The fact that a few hard collars are present makes the fashion earlier in the 1920s than later.

Let's talk tomorrow if you want me to call you?

You know we never discussed how certain you were that it is American.

You are welcome.

Does circa 1925 work for you?

Also, there was a light coat in cotton from the 1921 pattern book I sent some photos from yesterday. And, the man on the right with the looser hair had parallels
in August Sander photographs.

Good Morning,

The undated
photograph from yesterday is a good generation after the 1890s one you just sent me.

Based on the style of 2nd from left (looks 1920s and is younger)
and 2nd from right (looks somewhat 1910s
and is an older man, I would go into the 1920s and perhaps
settle with circa 1925,
just to be safe.

I looked online for the Arrow Man shirt
advertisement and came across 6 months
of Photoplay magazine.
If you browse through it and look at many of the males figures, similar hairstyles and ties, etc.
are present.

<https://www.dropbox.com/s/kngelvnm1x0te9e/Photoplay%20%28Jan%20-%20Jun%201925%29.pdf?dl=0>

Pg 776 has an article on the model, for the Arrow Man Collar. He looks modern.

Does this help you? Or, do you need more information?
Please let me know?

Have a lovely weekend,

PS: As requested, here is my info,
