

To: [unknown], dr et
From: INTERNET: [REDACTED], INTERNET: [REDACTED]
Date: 7/2/98, 3:13 PM
Re: FWD: possible witness

5H

Witness
Bentwaters

track her/keep this transcri for test many

Sender: [REDACTED] m
[REDACTED]
[REDACTED] nu, 2 Jul 1998 15:13:27 -0400 (EDT)
From: [REDACTED]
Received: from [REDACTED]
[REDACTED]
for <[REDACTED]> Jul 1998 15:13:15 -0400 (EDT) Message-ID: <3[REDACTED]>
Date: Thu, 2 Jul 1998 15:13:15 EDT
To: [REDACTED]
Mime-Version: 1.0

S
C
C
X- [REDACTED]

Steven,
Possible witness.
SB

Subj: Fw: RAF Bentwaters/Woodbridge
Date: 98-07-01 20:52:12 EDT
From: [REDACTED]
Sender: [REDACTED]
Reply-to: [REDACTED]
To: [REDACTED]

Trying to call you - busy signals again. :-{

Read the following - this woman works for the education department of the US government. Another potential witness for Greer?

[REDACTED] > wrote in message

<[REDACTED]>...
> A few months ago while perusing the internet, I went into one of the > search engines and > typed the word: Bentwaters.
>
> There before my eyes was a gapping wound about my past. Not just a > superficial wound, but one that cut into my sanity. about Bentwaters but > a story about MY Bentwaters. A wall of old, suppressed memories came > crashing in. You'd think that I was eager to flow into nostalgia land > but on the contrary really bad feelings from my subconscious permeated > my reality.
>
> I knew I've been having nightmares or what I call just plain bad > dreams. I'd find myself > transported back to RAF Bentwaters. There I was standing beside the > main gate controlling traffic. Traffic was metallic beings going past > me. I wanted to tell the patrol > sergeant that I was incapable of controlling traffic, that I needed to > escape my post. I > had a knee jerk reaction to get out. Other dreams I'm on the flightline > and there is a huge > rocket taking people up for rides. The rides were never ending roller > coaster ride. So, what happened over there? Part of me wants to say, > "Nothing happened." Why am I still so angry? Who am I angry at and > why? The feelings of rage run very deep. If I could exercise the demon > from me, I would, but I can't.

>

> I'm starting to wonder if there is a logical reason for my recurring > dreams and obsession and too much coincidental stuff like a stranger > asking me if I saw a television program about a UFO siting at RAF > Bentwaters.

>

> A few days ago, I contacted Peter Robbins, co-writer with Larry Warren > of LEFT AT EAST GATE.

>

> My name is [REDACTED] and I was stationed at RAF Bentwaters from May > 1978-

> December 1980. I worked in Law Enforcement. My job was to wave cars > that had > authorization onto the base -- gate guard. Every so often, I drove > patrol at either RAF Woodbridge and RAF Bentwaters. Being one of a > small handful of women in the 81st SPS, I stuck out.

>

> From the moment that I got off the bus, and my sponsor said, "Welcome > to Cripple Creek", I knew something was out of sync at RAF > Bentwaters/RAF Woodbridge.

> There was a real survivors attitude. You'd meet guys, only to hear how > many days they > had left on the rock. RAF Bentwaters was their Vietnam War. I was > immediately hearing > stories of airmen who cracked, totally lost it and did something stupid > like burning old paint > rags near a fuel storage area which was connected to another fuel area > at the other side of Bentwaters -- yeah, accidentally blow up the base > or shoot off their weapon while standing > guard just to say they're tired, fed up and want to get the hell out of > the Air Force. These > were the same guys who joined the Air Force with ideals of doing > something good for their country.

>

> God, we were young. Everyone around me was 19 years old, except the > sergeants > and commanders. So, why were guys "Snapping out of the Air Force"?
> Because they just couldn't take the mental abuse anymore. The isolation > of guarding an air plane hours at a > time, alone was ironic to say, alienating. There were instances where > guys were left on post, forgotten about for up to 18 hours. I recently > finished 20 years of military service, and to > this day, RAF Bentwaters assignment was my own Vietnam War.

>

> I got there when Colonel Wacker was Wing Commander, some would say we > were in alert > for hours on end because he was bucking for a star. He got his star.
> And many people > paid for that star with their careers and lives. We had serious alcohol > problems at RAF Bentwaters. There was a point when the liquor store > (Class VI) was sold out of alcohol.

>

> I encountered a macho-attitude that it didn't matter what I did, I was > still female, and was told that females have only one place which was > being > barefoot and pregnant. No kidding. The leadership within the 81st > Security Police Squadron were the back office pukes verses the teams > of personnel who worked swings and mid shifts -- B Flight, C Flight and > D Flight. "A Flight" was day shift so they didn't encounter as much > of the stress as the night shift experienced.

>
> Working in Law Enforcement as a gate guard was an extremely isolating > experience.
> I stood guard, alone at night, (In 1978 and part of 1979 stood guard in > the middle of the > night at East Gate, and went home to sleep.) The bases were strange in > a sense that we > stood guard at the gates, but anyone could get on the bases, since > there weren't fences > around the bases. It is so hard for me to describe what it felt like to > be damp and cold for > 12 plus hours a shift.
>
> I remember getting to a point where I wasn't relieved from post to go to > the bathroom The > hell with expecting a lunch break. At times, all I wanted was my > bathroom break. I even stopped drinking liquids so I wouldn't have to > go to the bathroom. I felt f---ed with.
>
> The abuse was mean spirited, and I wasn't the only one. Although, it > would have been > nice to have someone on my side. I remember in the end, carrying a > piece of paper in the > breast pocket of my navy blue police jacket, as I painstakingly colored > in the blocks on a homemade calendar, counting my days down till I would > get off the rock.
>
> I vowed to myself that no one would get to me, no matter what. In my > gut I knew the Air > Force was better then my Bentwaters experience, and I was not going to > snap and be kicked > out of the Air Force like hundreds of others were. I finally became a > two digit midget. I > was so short (short-timer syndrome) that it would take me an hour to > walk across a dime.
> I remember getting my orders that were dated 26 DEC 1980. I was > livid. I could tell by > the leering grin that the back office pukes wanted to be the bringers of > , "We're gonna > f--- you right up to your last day on the rock. I couldn't tell my Mom > that I'd miss
> Christmas. The back office pukes were not going to ruin my Christmas.
> I vowed to be > home for Christmas.
>
> I remember driving around the round about near my home in Wickham Market > when I > heard over the radio that in New York City, John Lennon was shot down.
> Here I was a > native New Yorker living in John's country of England, and I was going > back home to New York. It was a sad time. Well, I made my own port of > call and departed out of Heathrow Airport in mid-December 1980.
>
> There were specific places on Bentwaters that made my skin crawl. One > place was at a side > gate near a fuel site at RAF Bentwaters. The other place was East Gate, > back gate > of RAF Woodbridge. When I stood guard out there, there were windows on > all four walls > and we had a light over the gate shack which meant we were a target and > anyone could > easily sneak up from behind. I'd have a vision that someone or > something with a ghostly > white face would push its face up against my window. Now you have to > understand, I > couldn't share my bad feelings and bad vibrations with others. I mean > we were cops > and shouldn't be afraid of anything. We'd heard all the "war stories" > of East End Charlie > a crash pilot from W.W.II who haunts and walks the Woodbridge > Flightline. We also > heard that Suffolk County is the most haunted county anywhere, and there > was witch craft activity in a small house outside the East Gate.

 >
 > In the book, Left at East Gate reports UFO activity on the night of > December 27-28, 1980.
 > I contacted Peter Robbins to tell him that in February 1980, I was on > patrol -- Police Four,
 > D Flight with a fellow Security Police (SP) member. It was about 0200 > hours in the > morning when out of a dark sky, we saw a bright light that moved up, > then down then right > then left. The movements were very deliberate. Then it burst into four > pieces and > disappeared. The aircraft's movements were nothing I'd seen, and > because it was night the > only other strange trait was NO SOUND. I knew the sound of fighter > aircraft which > was so loud the noise could blow out the windows at East Gate.
 >
 > I reported what I heard over my Motorola radio to police control at > Bentwaters, when I was instructed to go
 >
 > Hi, sorry for taking so long to get back to you. I've been working on a > story that's more of a compulsion. I feel obsessed to talk about my > experience at RAF Bentwaters. What's the big deal about Bentwaters, you > ask? I don't know. That's what's so disturbing and now, is the time to > get my story out. Do you believe > in psychics? I remember you mentioning numerology. I want to talk
 >
 > Hi, my name is Lori and I too am highly intuitive. I see myself as > a spiritual being. In 1978, I was in the Air Force and my first > assignment was at RAF Bentwaters/RAF Woodbridge. During WWII the bases > were crash bases...when an air plane got hit over in Germany and it > tried to make it back to England, because of the damage on the aircraft > the plane would try to land and often crash. I got to RAF Bentwaters, I > was 18 years old. I was a kid. There was something evil at the bases.
 > Things happened that couldn't be explained. Those in command were mean > spirited. I worked in Law Enforcement, and there were certain areas and > buildings that I had to make sure they were locked. I know four areas > that scared the hell out me. One was over on Bentwaters, the other > was three were at Woodbridge side. RAF Bentwaters and RAF Woodbridge > are in Suffolk County, England. When I first got there, I was told of > a ghost named EAST END CHARLIE who walks up and down the runway > wondering why during WWII his plane crashed. This was all twenty years > ago, and I still have recurring dreams about Bentwaters and Woodbridge.
 > I'm usually at the entrance of the base controlling the traffic coming > onto the base.
 >
 > In Feb. 1980 at 0300 hours in the morning (3:00 am) I was on patrol > (Police 4) with Airman First Class Duffield. We were telling stories, > trying to keep awake, when off base we saw a strange light that moved > up, down, left and right (like an etch sketch board.) it didn't make any > noise and really scared us. I immediately reported it to Police Control > on RAF Bentwaters since I was on RAF Woodbridge side and described what > we had seen. We were told to report it to the > air tower at RAF Woodbridge. We got to the tower, only to find that we > woke up the air tower controller, who told us it could have been an > aircraft from another base. We didn't think so, but by now, I was > hearing an attitude over the radio, "Rehfeldt's seeing UFO's." I didn't > need the grief so I dropped the whole issue. Plus, I was tired and > wanted to get off shift, go home and sleep.

>
> Twenty years later, I'm perusing the internet and type in: Bentwaters.
> All of a sudden, I'm reading about a UFO incident that happened December > of 1980 at RAF Woodbridge. The book is titled, LEFT AT EAST GATE by > Larry Warren and Peter Robbins. I am in shock. I haven't thought about > the UFO "lights" that we saw several months earlier for at least 20 > years. I had to contact Larry and Peter. Turns out I met Larry briefly > before I departed England in early December 1980. I felt bad for him > and his group that showed up, because RAF Bentwaters brought out the > worst in everyone. They seemed so idealistic, but I was getting out so, > I hoped they wouldn't experience the loneliness and inhumane treatment > that I encountered. Well, Larry was treated badly and was out of the > Air Force in 6 months. Peter Robbins was never in the Air Force but > went and taught at the School of Visual Arts in New York City. Prior to > going into the Air Force, I was supposed to go to School of Visual Arts.
> I even registered, but NYC was too fast for me. I feel that I am > strangely connected to these people. I've been getting e:mails from > people I haven't heard from, from my Bentwaters days. Two other > incidents, the other day I was compelled to draw a picture of East Gate > when Larry Warren calls me out of the blue. I had to tell him what I > was doing...and thought it was strange. Then, two days ago,

>
> Well, Larry was treated badly and was out of the Air Force in 6 months.
> Peter Robbins was never in the Air Force but went and taught at the > School of Visual Arts in New York City. Prior to going into the Air > Force, I was supposed to go to School of Visual Arts. I even registered, > but NYC was too fast for me. I feel that I am strangely connected to > these people. I've been getting e:mails from > people I haven't heard from, from my Bentwaters days. Two other > incidents, the other day I was compelled to draw a picture of East Gate > when Larry Warren calls me out of the blue. I had to tell him what I > was doing...and thought it was strange. Then, two days ago, I was at > Fort McNair golf course and we saw a sign that talked about the Lincoln > assassination and Booth conspiracy...then two strangers started to tell me > about ghosts that roam Fort McNair. I chimed in that it reminds me of > Bentwaters, when the stranger mentioned something that he saw a program > on Discovery channel which will be on Saturday, July 4th (check it out.)

>
> I want to understand what's going on. I think something or someone is > reaching out to me from a place I don't know.

>
> And that nags at me.

>

>

>