

Hotmail Inbox

Page 1 of 4

msn

Hotmail

Inbox

Compose

Addresses

Folders

Options

Help

Inbox

From: [REDACTED] Save Address - Block Sender

To: [REDACTED] Save Address

Subject: Fwd: Re: Please Contact [REDACTED] Constituency Office

Date: Wed, 05 Apr 2000 18:24:13 PDT

Reply

Reply All

Forward

Delete

Previous

Next

Close

>From: [REDACTED] t>

>To: [REDACTED] I [REDACTED]

>Subject: Re: Please Contact [REDACTED] Constituency Office

>Date: Mon, 27 Mar 2000 22:06:55 -0500

>Hello [REDACTED]

>
> Thank you for your note and concern. To be sure - although I wrote >the story with a somewhat cavalier attitude - their visits have been a >matter of deep concern for myself, my friend, and Sgt Stone. It gives me no >pleasure to find myself and my friends under scrutiny from any government >agency, let alone, CSIS. The constituents of the story were/are accurate and >>true.

>
>With respect to contacting [REDACTED] I am somewhat reticent to do that.
>Although I am sure there must be "some good men left," I am just not sure >who they might be at this time. Don't misunderstand me, I am willing to >listen to reason, and act accordingly. The next few stories and the >accompanying documentation will not be a welcome sight to those who would >conspire to keep this matter of compelling public importance, hidden.

>
>My concern for personal safety has gone from deep, to grave. My reason is as >follows. The last evening Sgt. Stone was on-air with Jeff Rense of the >sightings show, some utterly strange things happened. At 12:33
>Wednesday/Thursday morning EST, my heart jumped into atrial fibrillation.
>This is an erratic heart beat. I made a quick Email to Jeff telling him what >had happened and that I was heading to the hospital. I further asked him to >tell Sgt. Stone. The local Fire Chief of this area lives 2.2 Km from me, and >I asked him to drive me.

>
>To make a long story short, when I returned home (heart still not converted >to a normal rhythm) Sgt. Stone called. Before I told him anything about the >particulars of what had happened, he told me. He told me "exactly" what my >heart rate was (120 - 160 BPM), and "exactly" what I had experienced. He >became violently sick as we spoke saying: "Sir, this is not an accident, >they have the technology to effect you 'exactly like this,' at a distance.
>My knowing these things is not a lucky guess, Sir." He of course, was right >on every count of his telling me what had happened. Further, I received a >note back from [REDACTED] who had gotten a Email from James Neff his web >master. I will paste it here:

>X-Sender: [REDACTED]

Hotmail Inbox

Page 2 of 4

>Date: Thu, 2 Mar 2000 01:10:25 -0600

>To: [REDACTED]

>Subject: Re: Urgent

>SHIT ... I don't want to sound paranoid, but I had the wildest panic >attack tonight and my heart went berserk... out of the blue... for no >reason at all. Couldn't breathe, felt like I was running a massive >temperature very suddenly then went cold, heart rhythm out of whack... just >now subsiding.

>????????????

>Then this:

>From: [REDACTED]

>Received: from [209.138.219.58] (pool-207-205-170-161.snfr.grid.net >[207.205.170.161])

> by [REDACTED] (8.9.3/8.8.5) with ESMTP id RAA15928

> for [REDACTED]; Thu, 2 Mar 2000 17:17:11 -0500 (EST)

>Message-Id: <103130367b4e49653dd320[209.138.219.58]>

>In-Reply-To: <1.5.4.32.20000302202727.006f9c2c@adan.kingston.net>

>Mime-Version: 1.0

>Content-type: text/plain; charset="us-ascii"

>Date: Thu, 2 Mar 2000 14:09:44 -0800

>To: [REDACTED]

>Subject: Re: Im up !)

>Frances is the woman who every day works for hours helping me find news >items...she's a great researcher...and got this from her today.

>Date: Thu, 02 Mar 2000 13:12:01 -0500

>From: [REDACTED]

>MIME-Version: 1.0

>To: [REDACTED]

>Subject:

>I don't wanna add to the whole bizarre thing, butttt.... Last night (usually >every night though after spending a long time at the keyboard) the area of my >chest where my heart is hurts.

>I'll find out from [REDACTED] the timing.

>Fact is, MY chest hurt last night big time in the muscles right below the >center of my rib cage...solar plexis.

>I would press on the muscles and the pain was so bad, it almost made me >queasy. It didn't appear to be underneath...it was the whole layer of >stomach muscle just below the center of rib cage, middle of chest.

>??

>[SNIP]

>Coincidence [REDACTED] Perhaps.

>
>But if not, even Mr [REDACTED] would be way in over his head. Anyone, for that >matter. You can be sure that any significant information with respect to >UFOs is, and has been, well "compartmentalized" and Mr Axworthy would not >give this issue the time of day because he would have no way of "ever"
>getting it, or knowing about it.

>
>Further, the CSIS guys did not give their names but showed their >credentials. They spoke for the US person saying only: "He had a significant >interest in what the fathers son was doing." The shock value of the visit >left [REDACTED] father stunned and of course he simply listened and promised to >contact [REDACTED] He failed to get their ID's. While still somewhat confused >over this whole matter, they (CSIS - the same 3 guys) came again a day or so >later. They were not happy and told Chucks father that (paraphrased) he >needed to get Chuck roped in.

>
>Again, he did not get their ID's. However, this time the mother was witness >to the visit by these men.

>
>This method of intimidation has been put to effective use for some time now.
>People simply do not think straight when confronted by an authority figure >(s), and when caught off guard. I am somewhat at a loss as to what to do, if >anything. If the series of events of Mar. 2/ 2000 AM are any indication of >what "they" can do, then indeed anyone who would expose truth in this >enigmatic area, is in "terminal trouble."

>
>Sgt. Stone once told me: "Sir, they don't care about what you write, say, or >do. They are gravely concerned over what you can prove." 20 of the 47 KGB >files have been posted now. 27 more to be posted yet. This documentation is >by the governments own hand, not mine. Sgt. Stone knows how the information >shell game is played and in knowing this, he has unearthed material which >proves he is who he says he is, and the government has lied for a long time >now.

>
>Forgive the porvious paragraph, I know it is not "on point" with respect to >what we are discussing here.

>
>Should you wish to contact me, feel free to do so. My information is as >follows:

>
>[REDACTED]
>[REDACTED]
>[REDACTED]

>
>[REDACTED]

>
>Best regards, [REDACTED]

Get New Hotmail Notifications and Free Instant Messaging at <http://messenger.msn.com>

Reply

Reply All

Forward

Delete

Previous

Next

Close

Move to (Move to Selected Folder)

Hotmail Inbox

Page 1 of 3

msn

Hotmail

Inbox

Compose

Addresses

Folders

Options

Help

Inbox

From: [REDACTED] Save Address - Block SenderTo: [REDACTED] > Save Address

Subject: Re: Sorry for the typo in the last line.

✓ Date: Tue, 28 Mar 2000 05:03:13 -0500

ReplyReply AllForwardDeletePreviousNextClose

Hello Randy, Thank you for the vote of confidence. Fortunately, these fellows did not fit the mold of "your" MIB. However, I had an interesting conversation with Sgt. Stone pursuant to their visit. What he told me is as follows:

"It was late in the evening, Sir, and I found myself talking with a close friend from Texas. His name is Tom and he, like you, wanted to know the truth. We were talking about various recoveries I had gone out on, when the phone line went dead, much the way it did with you and I the other evening. We tried to contact each other and were successful after a period of several minutes. I told him I would let him go; that I needed to check some things out. We said our good-byes and I felt compelled to go into my backyard and take a look at the connection on our phone pole.

Upon stepping into my backyard I noticed a well dressed man standing next to the pole. He asked me for a light of all things. I gave him a light and he suggested we needed to talk. He told me, "We can do this in your house but I'm sure you won't like that, or you can meet me at the fire station across town and we will go from there." I told him I would meet him at the fire station in 20 minutes.

I went back into my home and got my 357 and a couple quick loaders; my mom didn't raise no fool if you know what I mean. I then drove across town to the fire station. He was there and stepped from another car with dark windows. I had locked my car - force of habit learned the hard way in Germany from being fined for not doing so there - and approached him. He walked by me and "opened my door" sliding into the passenger seat. Now I "know" that door was locked and he just opened like it was not. No matter, we started to drive and he instructed me to drive to a destination which would lead me 25 miles from Roswell.

As we drove he made strange comments. For instance when a car approached, he would say, "It is difficult to see when you have sunn coming toward you." He wore dark sunglasses and was impeccably dressed. I tried to get a look at his eyes but could not. We arrived about 25 miles from town and he suddenly said, "Here, this is where to stop." I stopped the car and as he got out I placed the 357 in the small of my back.

He turned to me and asked me if I was willing to pay the price for what I was doing. I told him, "Sir, if that means court marshal, Sir, I am willing to pay the price." He told me I "knew" what it meant and started to walk up a near by hill. It was then I noticed another person standing not to far from the bottom of the hill. The stranger once again turned to me and said,

Hotmail Inbox

Page 2 of 3

"If you think that firearm you are concealing will help you, you are mistaken. Aim at my chest and fire. FIRE!" he yelled. With complete and utter disregard for life, Sir, I fired two rounds point blank into his chest. I immediately saw two plumes of sand rise behind him. He then said, "You can do better than that, take a heat shot! SHOOT NOW!"

I immediately responded by discharging 4 more rounds directly and at point blank range, to the strangers head. Nothing happened. He simply turned to join the other person waiting there. They started to walk up the hill and it was then I heard the sound of a Huey. It was behind the hill. I kept firing and using my quick loaders. Neither of them flinched but walked to the top of the hill and I assume, got into the Huey, or what I thought was a Huey, and flew away. I saw it raise and noticed that "no light" was coming from the inside of the craft. The side door was open and it was a somewhat luminous night, but there was not any light coming from inside.

It left and I turned to walk back to my car. It was then I noticed I was standing in the field on the opposite side of a 4 strand barbed wire fence. I had no recollection of having stepped that far from the car or having climbed over the fence. I climbed over the fence and turned the car around and headed back for town.

I drove for a few minutes then I drove into the thickest fog I have ever encountered. I slowed down and drove with caution. All of a sudden a rabbit hopped slowly in front of my car. I hit the brakes but it was as though the car was on ice. It just kept going. I was sure I had hit the animal and once the car finally did stop, I took my gun to go back and kill it should it be suffering. I walked back a fair distance and saw the rabbit still in the middle of the road unhurt. It looked at me and hopped slowly to the side of the road. I then noticed that both sides of the road was lined with these rabbits. Hundreds of them. I returned to my car and continued my trip to town.

I had driven another 5 or 7 miles when all of a sudden a fuel transport drove by me blowing its horn. The instant that happened the fog cleared. Totally and completely. I followed the truck to the service center on the outskirts of town. I stepped from my car and produced my credentials stating that they were driving far too fast for those conditions. The swamper told me -- in no uncertain terms -- that it was crystal clear, and they had thought I was stopped, but it was not until they were almost on top of me they realized I was on the highway and driving "slower than hell!"

I knew then, from the best of their recollection, they were telling the truth. I apologized and went home.

I couldn't sleep that night, Sir. Instead I tossed and turned and decided I would return to the site in the morning. I did.

The next morning I grabbed a coffee and drove back to that location. It took me a little while to find it, things look different in the day. Once I got there I started to look for my spent rounds. I searched all day and recovered almost every one. I knew I had been there for sure. It was getting late before I decided to stop searching and head back to town. I knew this was not a place I wanted to be when night fell. I drove back to town, and you are the second person to hear this story. [SNIP]

Randy, to me, this story is strange as hell. I said to Cliff after he told me this story: "So kicking their ass is not an option right Cliff?" He said: "Well, at least not with a 375 Magnum." I can tell you this will all sincerity: Sgt. Stone is a man of integrity and I verily believe if this man was to tell a lie his tongue would snap off. After several hundred hours of talking with a person you get an idea as to their character.

Hotmail Inbox

Page 3 of 3

Sgt. Stone came to learn more about this alien type. But for now, I will not share that, but you can be sure, I will share it at a later date. For now, I wanted you to understand Randy, that I believe you.

Cliff will be coming to visit me in Canada this summer. Perhaps as the time approaches, I will let you know when he will be here so that you two may talk or visit, whatever the case might be.

Best regards,

ReplyReply AllForwardDeletePreviousNextClose

Click here to move to selected folder

InboxComposeActiveFoldersOptionsHelp

Get notified when you have new Hotmail or when your friends are on-line. Send instant messages. Click here to get your FREE download of Hot Mail Message Service

Home Hotmail Search Shopping People & Chat Email

Hotmail®

Inbox Compose Addresses Folders OptionsHelp

Inbox

From: [REDACTED] Save Address - Block SenderTo: [REDACTED] Save Address

Subject: Re:

Date: Sat, 28 Apr 2000 02:04:28 -0400

ReplyReply AllForwardDeletePreviousNextClose

Hello Randy, Nice to hear from you as always. With respect to the media group that received the files, it was the Kingston Whig Standard -- now owned by Conrad Black. The files were given by me to a friend of mine, Chuck Smith. Yes that's his real name. Chuck in turn turned them over to the paper. He has made several requests to get the files back, but they have not answered his Emails as of this time. The issue for me of course is that I'm betting a dollar to a donut that they turned them all over to the authorities and therefore do not have them. When his dad was cornered by these thugs, they told him that they were watching the guy who had given the files to Chuck. In fact they knew who I was. The files are all contained in the article I wrote. They are/were tame at best. However, they did support the position that officially sanctioned deception programs were alive and well. And had been for some time.

Further, I was confronted by Chucks dad on teh phone who was -- to say the least -- ballistic because I had caused these (CSIS and US person) folks to come knocking. He was out of control yelling at me saying: "What the fuck are you guys into??" Yes, these were the words of a concerned father. Then, we took the files to Discovery and they came again! This time the mother was there and they were both regaled by stories of what was going to happen to Chuck and me.

Cliff, to his credit, was a great help. Told me not to worry. Told me what they were trying to do. Even profiled Chucks father saying he must have a high level of respect for authority figures. Cliff was bang on. Even told us what they did, before we could tell him. I'm not sure if I told you this part, but because you have been so open and frank with me, I will share it with you now.

When I told Cliff we had indeed taken the files to Toronto Cliff took over the story saying... "There were two girls behind the desk. The blonde got it right away. The Brunette didn't understand. The Blonde took the files, in a few minutes, up to her boss. She went up the stair case behind the desk. It went up two stories. It is all glass and you can see up two stories. Chuck wanted to go and drink after it was over. He was very nervous."

I told Cliff I hadn't gone in and that Chuck just said a gal took them to her boss. So I called Chuck and asked him if there was glass behind the gal and if it went up two flights. He confirmed that to be the case and wanted to know how I knew. I told him to wait for a sec and just answer my questions. He said, "Ok."

I continued, "There were two girls and one was Blonde and she was the one that understood. There was a Brunette who didn't understand what this was all about. Then I asked him if he had wanted to drink. He was shocked and said, "Yes, we went by a bar on Young street and I though about stopping for a quick one. In fact I almost stopped. And how did you know there was a Brunette? And know about the stairs, glass and the two stories?" When I told him Cliff told me, he almost shit. His first thought was that Cliff was an operative of sorts. I reminded him Cliff had sent the files. Then reminded him of the times Cliff had torn pages from my life. He understood.

Just got your other mail...gonna open it :)

Lee :)

ReplyReply AllForwardDeletePreviousNextCloseMove to \(Move to Selected Folder\)Inbox Compose Addresses Folders OptionsHelp

Get notified when you have new Hotmail or when your friends are on-line. Send instant messages. Click here to get your FREE download of MSN Messenger Service! Meet new friends at the new MSN Chat

Other Links

Classifieds
Auctions
Ereeting Cards
Buy Hardware and Software
Buy Books
Buy Music and Movies

This month on MSN

Shopping
Travel
MSN Worldwide
Buy Electronics
Business Finder
Personals

Subj: Proof of Sgt. [REDACTED]'s Abilities
Date: 11/27/2000 7:09:09 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: [REDACTED]
To: [REDACTED]

>Greetings again, Dr. Greer.

>
> Here are links to articles primarily respecting Mr. Lea MacDonald's >writings on S [REDACTED] which documents much of what has transpired >recently:

>
> [REDACTED]
>
> [REDACTED]
>

>(These are all on the Coast-to-Coast AM homepage under the "Feature >Information Articles" section, specifically at "Forbidden Disclosure: A >True Story. The major item of interest is part 3, entitled "How to Become >a UFO Terrorist" which documents Mr. [REDACTED] and M [REDACTED] >encounters with the National Security police state.)

>
>http:// [REDACTED]
>http:// [REDACTED]

>(This is a continuation of the above, and deals specifically with Sgt.
>[REDACTED]'remote viewing" prowess, if "remote viewing" is the proper term to >apply to this ability of his, as attested to by M [REDACTED])

>
>http:// [REDACTED]
>http:// [REDACTED]_Chat.htm

>(These deal specifically with S [REDACTED] aborted attempt to enter Canada >by US Customs officials. They do not include the veiled implicit threat >against Sgt. Stone's person.)

>
>http://www.bright.net/~rogue/invasion/crim010.txt >(This is an approximately 10 page interview with Sgt. Stone, in which some >of the comments of his I referred you to this morning appear, which you >termed potential disinformation. Kindly ignore the additional 30+ pages >following the interview, as they are largely irrelevant, and should >consider to be a complete waste of your time and energies to pursue at this >point.)

>
>http://www.sightings.com/ufo/ufo_2new.htm
>(I have had numerous discussions with USN Commander (ret.) [REDACTED] >[REDACTED] whom you know, on the telephone over these images. His story on >how he came to acquire these images is posted at >http://www.filersfiles.com/features/bethune.htm. While regarded as a hoax >in some quarters, I nonetheless saw this UFO close up for myself in 1981.
>It is real, and have spent decades pursuing the truth on the UFO subject as >a result. I experienced a subsequent act of intimidation, or what has come >to be known as a MIB encounter, 30 minutes after the event. Sgt. Stone >"remote viewed" it for me with 100% perfect accuracy, and he has proven to >me his paranormal abilities as he has to Mr. MacDonald. You may see this >proof for yourself by reading the appended e-mails below, starting from the >bottom up.)

>
> I will now fax you a few highly sensitive items I sent to Dr. Alfred

>Webre and Mr. [REDACTED] last evening respecting [REDACTED] and Sgt.
>[REDACTED] have e-mailed me indicating they are in >the process of studying these materials carefully. In addition, I will >e-mail you another highly sensitive item [REDACTED] working on for >Sgt. Stone. I expect to accomplish this within the hour.

>
> Best regards,

>
> [REDACTED]
>
>

>>>>>>>From: [REDACTED]>

>>>>>>>To: [REDACTED]

>>>>>>>CC: [REDACTED]

>>>>>>>Subject: Re: Stones feelings...

>>>>>>>Date: Mon, 25 Sep 2000 04:09:29 GMT

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>Greetings,

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> I feel like I am being bathed in love at this moment.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> To paraphrase a truly great man: He is the real deal.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> 100% accuracy with respect to the close encounter.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> I was not close enough to the female MIB to see if she had ruby >>>>>>>red lips or was wearing a dress. I'm not big on the historical >>>>>>>development of women's hairstyles, but I understand his point >>>>>>>exactly. She was driving, so I can only guess her height. His >>>>>>>description of her glasses, and not sunglasses, is also correct.

>>>>>>>Check my description of her in the snail mail package I mailed you

>>>>>>>last week. (I presume you received it Friday, yes?)

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> Sgt. Stone definitely has access to perceptual abilities with >>>>>>>far greater acuity than my own rather limited ones. This suggests >>>>>>>to me that he is not utilizing my own senses to accomplish his >>>>>>>observations, but has access to a source with far greater and more >>>>>>>details available to him.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> Please express my gratitude to him until I have an opportunity >>>>>>>to do so myself. I will e-mail you tomorrow sometime when I have >>>>>>>had more of an opportunity to reflect on Sgt. Stone's words and >>>>>>>analyze his comments.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> If you read the part of my major encounter in the package I >>>>>>>snail mailed you last week you can see for yourself in my narrative >>>>>>>that I indeed raised my hand in a friendly gesture. I got a >>>>>>>flashing of lights from the object in return to my wave.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> He also described the telepathic "feeling" I received >>>>>>>perfectly, and puts in words the exact same impression I received,

>>>>>>>which was delivered altogether without words. Amazing!

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>> This is the most important part of what he has imparted to me, >>>>>>>and holds so much meaning for me, Lea, that if I were to die this >>>>>>>very moment I know that it was all worthwhile. It is this very >>>>>>>message that has driven me all these years in my efforts to try to >>>>>>>communicate this to others, but I was never entirely certain that I >>>>>>>"got it right" because of the female MIB encounter immediately >>>>>>>afterward. In essence, all I had to go on was faith.

>>>>>>>
>>>>>>> Now, thanks to [REDACTED] I have the corroboration I was so >>>>>>>desperate for, and have been obsessively seeking for almost two >>>>>>>decades, not only with respect to the nature of the positive >>>>>>>entities, but as to nature of the negative ones as well. Moreover, >>>>>>>it also proves to you that I have told you the truth, the whole >>>>>>>truth, and nothing but the truth. (Also, I can understand the relief >>>>>>>this must bring you in finally proving that you were not dealing >>>>>>>with a crazy person, but an island of sanity in the form of yours >>>>>>>truly!)

>>>>>>>
>>>>>>> And lastly, thanks for this very pleasant surprise by asking >>>>>>>Sgt. Stone for his comments as the last couple of days have been >>>>>>>rather anxious ones. I truly didn't expect it at all, and didn't >>>>>>>see it coming in quite this way.

>>>>>>>
>>>>>>> God bless both you gentlemen.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>From: [REDACTED] >

>>>>>>>To: [REDACTED]

>>>>>>>Subject: [REDACTED] feelings...

>>>>>>>Date: Sun, 24 Sep 2000 20:01:24 -0400

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>Hi once again [REDACTED] First, let me tell you about a neat program >>>>>>>called MMS.

>>>>>>>This is a computer to phone program that is free and allows for >>>>>>>calling long >>>>>>>distance from Canada to the US free of charge. You simply load it >>>>>>>and dial
>>>>>>>out of your computer once hooked to the net. I use it to talk with >>>>>>>sgt Stone
>>>>>>>now. It works great.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>With respect to your story of an encounter, I only gave sgt Stone a >>>>>>>brief
>>>>>>>over view of the sighting. I then told him of the MIB encounter you >>>>>>>had.

>>>>>>>What he shared I found most interesting.

>>>>>>>

>>>>>>>With respect to your sighting he said: "The telepathic >>>>>>>communication was >>>>>>>quite real. He raised one of his hands...I know this because he was >>>>>>>given an >>>>>>>answer or a feeling. He raised his right hand in a wave or a >>>>>>>friendly

>>>>>>>gesture." (Did you?) All I can do is relay what he told me. I have >>>>>>>no way of >>>>>>>being certain that he is right. Only you will know if he is or not.

>>>>>>>He also >>>>>>>said you got either a wave back, or an acknowledgement of some >>>>>>>>sort.

>>>>>>>>
>>>>>>>>He said the message was one of do not be afraid, that this was >>>>>>>>something >>>>>>>>wonderful, and added that they imparted a message of their study of >>>>>>>>us and >>>>>>>>our world. Not so in so many words, but in a feeling of well being >>>>>>>>and joy.
>>>>>>>>
>>>>>>>>I then told him of your MIB encounter. He named 3 types that do
>>>>>>>>this:
>>>>>>>>Watchers, Ancient Ones, and Keepers of Knowledge. He is asking you
>>>>>>>>now –
>>>>>>>>through me – to try and remember this: She was female and >>>>>>>>shortish. She was >>>>>>>>not big, at least not as big as your fear led you to believe. Again >>>>>>>>I'm
>>>>>>>>quoting: "She had Ruby Red lips, and a hair style of the 40's or >>>>>>>>50's, wore
>>>>>>>>glasses but not dark, and wore a dress on one of your encounters.
>>>>>>>>Lastly as >>>>>>>>a caveat he told me she meant you harm but 'they' do not have the >>>>>>>>'authority' to effect that agenda.
>>>>>>>>
>>>>>>>>Those were all the details he gave me. I have no way of knowing >>>>>>>>what he has >>>>>>>>shared has any truth to it until you answer this Email.
>>>>>>>>
>>>>>>>>For me, Sgt Stone only ever recalled one detail I could not >>>>>>>>corroborate. That >>>>>>>>was the metallic taste in my mouth in the morning. All others were >>>>>>>>directly >>>>>>>>on point. If he has erred, it may be because he has not talked to >>>>>>>>you
>>>>>>>>directly. Who knows?
>>>>>>>>
>>>>>>>>I will have more info for you over the next few days Randy. Until >>>>>>>>then, be
>>>>>>>>well.
>>>>>>>>
>>>>>>>>Lea :)

Get more from the Web. FREE MSN Explorer download : <http://explorer.msn.com>

----- Headers -----

Return-Path: [REDACTED] >
Received: from rly-zc02.mx.aol.com (rly-zc02.mail.aol.com [172.31.33.2]) by air-zc05.mail.aol.com (v77.14) with ESMTP;
Mon, 27 Nov 2000 19:09:09 -0500
Received: from hotmail.com (f21.law4.hotmail.com [216.33.149.21]) by rly-zc02.mx.aol.com (v76_r1.19) with ESMTP; Mon,
27 Nov 2000 19:08:50 1900
Received: from mail pickup service by hotmail.com with Microsoft SMTPSVC;
Mon, 27 Nov 2000 16:08:49 -0800
Received: from 130.179.16.118 by lw4fd.law4.hotmail.msn.com with HTTP; Tue, 28 Nov 2000 00:08:49 GMT
X-Originating-IP: [130.179.16.118]

Subj: Fwd: Recovery account Randy.
Date: 11/27/2000 7:10:31 PM Eastern Standard Time
From: [REDACTED] (randy kitchur)
To: [REDACTED]
CC: [REDACTED]

>From: Lea MacDonald [REDACTED]
>To: [REDACTED]

>Subject: Recovery account Randy.
>Date: Sat, 25 Nov 2000 20:16:26 -0500

>
>Hello Rnady, I still need to do an edit to this story, however, I >remembered
>to pass it along this evening. Tell me what you think.

>
>Lea :)

>
>
>Forbidden Disclosure – The Black Virgin Mountain Recovery.
>By: Lea

>MacDonald
>October 14, 2000.

>
>Throughout his tenure, Sgt. Stone was to do and learn things, the >Department >of Defense would classify Top Secret. When he became the unit >communications-specialist NBC/COMMO/NCIC), he signed an agreement – >Standard
>Agreement Form #4193 – that would never permit him to share his experiences >with anyone, not even his family. With the death of Sgt. Stone's son on >Aug.
>18/1995 he discovered his family did not really know him. Grief stricken, >Stone decided to make information which he would have otherwise taken to >his >grave, public. Stone's decision to do this is an effort to show his family
>why he could not tell them what he did, why military personnel would come >late at night precipitating Stone's absence for weeks, why he could not >always be there for his family, why he missed the ball games, graduations >and birthdays. The material contained herein has been reviewed by Sgt.
>Stone
>prior to publication.

>
>In Jan of 1970 Stone arrived in Vietnam for, what he considered would be a >'plush' assignment. He was assigned to 277th SS battalion >Headquarters-headquarters company. Upon his arrival Stone decided to tell >the 1st Sergeant that he could not type despite his file showing that he >was >a 71-Bravo (clerk-typist.) Having a deep sense of duty, Stone chose to put >it all on the line by asking to be assigned to combat. Although his >supervisor felt this was admirable and showed signs of being a good >soldier,
>Stones request was denied.
>
>Stone assumed his 8AM to 4PM-shift which left his evenings open to other >pursuits. Stone reflects, "There was not a lot of night-life in Vietnam -- >particularly in the base camp located only 7 miles from the Cambodian >boarder -- and being young and I guess, foolish -- I felt I had to prove I

>was >not afraid to face the enemy." Stone found himself sneaking out of camp in >the evenings to encounter the enemy. One evening while Sgt. Stone was >chatting with Sgt. Gaston, they noticed unusual red, green and blue lights >dancing above and through the trees in the area of a rubber plantation >owned >by the Michelin Rubber Company. "The lights," reflects Stone, "were red, >green, blue, self luminous and unusual."
>
>Stone left for that area the next evening to try and determine the source
>of
>the lights. Upon arriving at the road which paralleled a section of the >three-hundred meter kill-zone surrounding the camp, Stone heard someone >say,
>"You're late. What kept you?"
>
>Stone spun in the direction of the voice raising his weapon. Stone could >make out a familiar face. It was the face of the man Stone had come to know >as Colonel. Stone had met the Colonel on several previous recovery >operations. He had always been the man in charge.
>
>"You're lucky I didn't shoot you," said Stone. The Colonel smiled saying,
>"I >don't believe you're here to kill. I believe you would die for your >country,
>and you might kill to protect others, but I don't believe you would kill to >save yourself."
>
>The Colonel motioned towards 3 helicopters known as 'jolly-greens.' Stone >noted that they looked like the 'psy-opped' craft used for dropping >propaganda leaflets. Stone followed the Colonel and entered one of the >helicopters. Stone immediately noticed the equipment within the craft was >not typical equipment. He recalled that it looked as though the chopper was >equipped for electronic surveillance rather than for war.
>
>Stone turned to the Colonel and asked what he was doing there and why he >had >him (Stone) flying with him. The Colonel said, "We have a situation here >that we think you may be able to help with." Stone concluded that his >nocturnal forays from the camp had not gone unnoticed. "We uncovered a VC >tunnel complex half way up the Black Virgin Mountain." The Colonel said.
>
>It was generally believed that the US-forces had the top of the mountain.
>This position was held by a special-forces communication center gathering >information for the National Security Agency. The bottom of the mountain
>was >also considered to be held by the US-forces. Everything between, was >thought
>to be held by Charlie.
>
>The choppers found a safe landing-zone touching down. Sgt. Stone was >extremely concerned thinking that Charlie was about to unload everything it >had on the group. Curiously, nothing happened. The Colonel told Stone this >was a dead zone and quite safe. "Dead zone," though Sgt. Stone, "what did >that, mean?"

>

>They exited the craft and made their way toward the tunnel opening of the >alleged communist tunnel complex – one hundred and fifty meters away. They >encountered other friendly troops which were alleged to be combing the area >for NVA and VC which were known to be in the area. They were told by these >troops that they would be in touch with Stone and his group because Charlie >was known to have many entrances and exits in their tunnel systems.

>

>Stone and the team entered the tunnel and started to deploy their >equipment.

>Stone was shocked when he noticed the tunnel surface was not typical to any >tunnel he had ever encountered. "You could drive a truck through that >entrance. The rock wasn't chipped away, like it would be with an >air-hammer,
>it was like a shiny-black rock. When we shone our flash lights on it, it
>was

>smooth all the way around."

>

>The team started to move down the tunnel maintaining communication with >their radios. The team noticed that their field radios were going dead.

>This

>prompted the team to deploy a 3-12-field telephone and run the wire back to >a contact team at the tunnel entrance. The team kept running wire as they >moved further into the tunnel.

>

>Sgt Stone recalled, "As we got back one hundred meters or so, we started to >noticed that our flash-lights were going dead and that our field radio was >not working the way it should. We found a location where it would work >properly, which was about like if you would draw a line in the sand, if you >were on the outside, of the line, the telephone would work. If you were on >the inside, of the line, it wouldn't work. Nor would, our flash-lights. Our >flash-lights would just go dead on us. Anything electric would not work the >way it was supposed to."

>

>Puzzled, the team noticed that they did not need their flash-lights – the >tunnel seemed to possess a luminous of its own. The team left 3 men to >maintain the field telephone at this point. It was clear any communications >would have to be made by having a man run back and relay the information to >this team so they could, in turn, relay it back to the team at the >entrance.

>

>The main team pressed further into the tunnel. The tunnel became brighter >the further the team moved forward. Stone felt he was in some science >fiction setting. Things did not make sense. A complex of this size should >have been noticed by reconnaissance. Even the removal of the enormous >amounts of rock should not have gone undetected.

>

>Shortly, the team came upon what looked like a big cavern. Stone recalled,
>"Stepping into that cavern was like stepping into a light bulb. You >couldn't >make out anything in the room. Even the soldiers with us looked like a dark >silhouette." Stone thought if a fire fight was to break out he would not be >able to distinguish between Charlie and his own team. Stone looked about

>the

>cavern telling the Colonel that he did not have a good feeling about this >place. Stone felt a genuine fear expressing to the Colonel that Charlie >could not have built this place. He further suggested that if the Colonel >wanted to blow it up, that would be fine, but they should not be in this >place.

>
>The Colonel stayed close to Stone as they moved around the area. Stone >noticed a green luminous glow which looked to be fifteen inches to eighteen >inches by three feet. Stone and the Colonel walked over to the glow and >noticed a holographic image of what Stone considered to be dials, gauges
>and
>control buttons.

>
>As they looked at the control panel, the Colonel suggested that Sgt. Stone >touch it. Stone used several expletives to point out what he thought of the >Colonel's idea. Stone continued to look at the panel. He overcame his >immediate fear and ran his hand through the luminous glow.

>
>The bright light in the cavern immediately reduced itself to a twilight >setting. The team could now see that they were standing in a huge cube. The >light had been coming from the walls of the cube. They noticed a shiny >black
>cigar-shaped craft with, what  felt, were windows which emanated an >arc
>welders type, of beautiful blue light.

>
>The team looked around noticing what appeared to be human-organs – lungs, >hearts, livers, skeletal structures – encased in glass casings. Stone >figured that they had stumbled into a biological laboratory of sorts. In >close proximity to the glass vessels, the team noticed the cadavers of >American service members, VC and, as Stone called them, 'unearthly'. He >said
>the unearthly beings were what most would term Grays, having the large >heads >and spindly bodies and arms. There were also other bodies which Stone could >not say were of this earth. Although these cadavers had humanoid features, >Stone could not catalogue them against anything he had ever encountered or >read about in any intelligence reports.

>
>An Aside: The team found, what they thought were, glass test tubes. These >tubes would not break. Stone was later to find out that if you were to fire >at one of these test tubes, it would not break. In effect, they were on par >with several inches of armor plating. He was further told, it was not so >much like glass, but a modified acrylic polymer.

>
>As Stone continued to play with the control panel, the wall by the ship >became clear. They could see out on the night sky but could not see any >grass or earth. The team could also see the troops outside moving about. It >looked as though the troops were walking on thin air. They, however, were >not aware of the team within the cavern.

>
>A runner was sent back to the 3-12 field telephone to ask the troops to >stop >and look to see if anything strange could be noticed. The troops were asked >to perform different motions so the team within the mountain could >reconcile
>which group of troops they were observing.

>
>Nervous laughter rippled through the team. The Colonel gave an order to >carry all material that could be lifted, out of the cavern. Stone had >continued to play with the control panel. At one point Stone decided to >attempt lifting the panel.

>
>The panel moved easily.
>
>Stone recalls, the side that was open to the night sky, went out. "A >buzzing >sound went off and thin red lights shot around the room. They were about
>the >size of a number two lead in a pencil." Stone was hit in the eye with one
>of
>the beams. He screamed out in excruciating pain, spinning away from the >light. As he turned falling, Stone could hear other screams and felt as >though his back was on fire. From this point on Stone could not recall what >happened.
>
>Stone regained consciousness outside the tunnel. He recalled being carried >to a helicopter and flown to the 25th med-detachment. Stone recalls a >doctor
>looking him over and telling the doctor that his right arm would not >function properly. ██████ said his arm had significant spasms.
>
>The Colonel arrived and asked ██████ to follow him to a hut after his eye
>was
>patched. ██████ was introduced to another doctor. The Colonel then asked,
>"Do
>you recall anything that happened in the cavern?" ██████ was puzzled >saying, "You were there with me, sir. You know what happened." "No," said >the Colonel. "Do you recall anything of an alien presence being in the >cavern? Any communications?" ██████ said all he could remember was >being >hit with the beam of light and feeling like his back was burning – like he >had been hit with napalm.
>
>The Colonel then told ██████ that the doctor was going to give him a shot to >help him remember what had happened. ██████ protested saying, "It just >happened, I remember everything. Didn't I just tell you everything what >happened prior to me passing out?" Stone said the Colonel looked at him >with a weird look saying, "Sergeant, you didn't pass out. There were other >events that happened that are not coming through. We all were out. You were >down. Let me explain to you that we need to know what happened during that >forty-five minutes or so that you were away from us, you were still in the >room, we were not there."
>
>Sgt. Stone did not like what he was hearing. He felt he was being used as a >guinea pig. He felt something was wrong, that felt he would have remembered >if anything happened in there. Stone told the Colonel that if he remembered >anything because of the shot, he did not want anything to be blocked – he >wanted to know what happened.
>
>The Colonel said, "Okay. But remember Sergeant, you can't prove anything.
>I'm going to tell you now that the events of this night never occurred. You >are not to mention this to your mother, your father, your best friend – not >even to your dog. But, I will insure that nothing is kept from you. After >all, we will probably be wanting your services again.
>

> [REDACTED] smiled asking, "What the hell service I am providing? All I'm doing > is > being there with you." The Colonel answered, "Oh no, you know more about > this than even you know, you know."
>
> "To this day, "Stone confesses, "I still don't know what he meant by that > statement."
>
> The doctor administered the shot. Within moments [REDACTED] recalled being hit > by
> the beam once again. This time however, his memory continued.
>
> As [REDACTED] started to recall his voice became broken – he was fighting hard > to > keep his composure. With a sobbing voice he continued with fragmented > statements, "I didn't pass out. I was in tremendous pain. You know, a lot
> of > people know I have a fascination with grass hoppers. This is the incident > that caused this. These creatures of humanoid shape started to appear. I > can > remember looking into their face." With a fear stricken voice he continued,
> "These were like big grass hoppers. I can remember going ahead and picking > up my M-16. I was going to shoot. One of them grabbed my M-16 but I > wouldn't > let go. Then I heard a voice which I had heard many times before, even > through childhood. I never wanted to bring this up, but it's going to be > brought up in my life's story and it's got to be brought up now.
>
> One of the entities I have always known, I always called Kronos – as a > matter of fact the first time an effort to try to smile and say you may > call > me Korona, and that's Korona with a K. – any how he went ahead and told me > they had to take care of my eye or I'd lose it – that I'd lose all sight.
> But it would still be sore for a couple of days and that my people could go > ahead and treat it with medications that they had available to them. Once > again I was asked, like I was asked several other times before, 'Why are > you > here? What are you doing, here? This is not your nature. You should not be > involved in this – what they call, a war.'
>
> That's all I could recall. I would still be drilled because the Colonel > wanted to know what other exchanges were made. But when I came out from > underneath the shot, I remembered vividly that contact but I remembered > nothing else."
>
> When [REDACTED] was ready to leave, the Colonel transported Stone to a position > outside his unit location and told Stone that if anyone asked, Stone was to > say he was injured by an insect and the burns on his back were to be > referred to as a sunburn.
>
> Stone remembered that at that time a person could get an article fifteen or > even a court-marshal for a sunburn. He said, "All they had to do was prove > that you were trying to avoid duty." Stone did not consider himself a > person
> to sluff-off and did not try avoiding his duty. His captain, Captain > Pelton, > demanded that Stone see a doctor about his eye. Stone ended up seeing the >doctor who had first treated him. The doctor said, "I knew they would be >sending you back over here." The doctor patched his eye providing a >diagnosis suggesting that an insect had sprayed the eye causing the retina

>to be scratched. Stone returned to his unit.
>
>A few days later the Colonel asked Stone to meet with him in the NCO club.
>They met talking about the events of the recovery. The Colonel said that >after that evening the incident would not be mentioned again. He told Stone >that some troops from the 25th infantry and the 1st calvary had been used >around the area of the recovery. The troops were aware of some of the >strange things brought out from the tunnel but were not directly involved >in >the bizarre things that Stone and the composite team had seen. The Colonel >said that there was no way to cover up the burns on Stone or the injury to >his eye, or the fact that the injuries had happened within the tunnel. The >effective cover story, should it be required, was that they did in fact >uncover an underground location that was brought about by elements of the >88th NVA Division - 347th NVA Brigade, in which they were working on a >biological aspect of producing the bubonic plague to introduce to specific >base camps in order to try to inflict biological casualties among the >American forces along with South-Vietnamese forces.
>
>[REDACTED] told the Colonel he was still concerned about the bodies which he had >seen inside the cavern. The colonel was reluctant to answer Stone's >questions but he knew that Stone was extremely troubled by what he had >seen.
>Stone feels the Colonel had a rare moment of compassion when he decided to >give Stone some answers.
>
>The Colonel shared that some of the bodies and organs were synthetic. He >went on to share that the bodies of the American service people were >identified and that they had been killed by means of war and not by the >visitors. The bodies had been sent to Hawaii where a military forensic unit >had made these determinations.
>
>When they parted company that evening, Stone felt he had been given the >truth by the Colonel. He still feels that he was given the truth to this >day.
>

Get more from the Web. FREE MSN Explorer download : <http://explorer.msn.com>

Headers

Return-Path: [REDACTED]
Received: from rly-yc01.mx.aol.com (rly-yc01.mail.aol.com [172.18.149.33]) by air-yc03.mail.aol.com (v77.14) with ESMTP;
Mon, 27 Nov 2000 19:10:31 -0500
Received: from hotmail.com ([25.law4.hotmail.com [216.33.149.25]) by rly-yc01.mx.aol.com (v76_r1.19) with ESMTP; Mon,
27 Nov 2000 19:10:09 -0500
Received: from mail pickup service by hotmail.com with Microsoft SMTPSVC;
Mon, 27 Nov 2000 16:10:05 -0800
Received: from 130.179.16.118 by lw4fd.law4.hotmail.msn.com with HTTP; Tue, 28 Nov 2000 00:10:05 GMT
X-Originating-IP: [130.179.16.118]
From: [REDACTED]
To: [REDACTED]