

The Southern Iowa Incident

by

Harry A. Jordan

On September 27th 1989 the call came in from Iowa to Dr."K" at a well known mid-west University. Mr."C.R." had been farming for over forty years and wanted someone to examine his farm field. Dr. "K" has worked with plasma physics at the Lawrence Livermore Lab, at Huntsville for NASA as early as 1992 and current Section Leader for MUFON in Nebraska. I've always had respect for Dr. K, he's not above working long hours in the rain to obtain accurate data. Several eye witnesses from age five to eighty had been seeing strange lights for over thirty days Mr. "C.R." stated. Dr. K asked if I could take a team to the site in southern Iowa where the sightings were experienced. Mr. C.R. claimed nine UFO's landed in his farm field and Dr. K. had to leave for a conference in Germany early the next morning. Dr. K. was concerned we get to the site as soon as possible. I immediately left home in the middle of a driving rain storm, went to the lab at school, picked up two Geiger counters, calibrated them with three different radiation samples, packed extra batteries and made two phone calls. By 7:30 am there were three of us on were on our way south via Route 29 toward Kansas City. Mr. "C" and Miss"A" were great companions, besides knowing planetary science and physics they were experts with video and technical equipment . We arrived around 11:36 a.m. just north of Drakesville in an area much like the countryside in Switzerland where Billy Meir lived.

After passing the farmhouse at least three times, down the road came another car with the farmers wife and granddaughter who led us in .

We were greeted by the seasoned face of Mr. C.R.. C.R. was a kindly man, one you respected immediately. His face showed lifes experience and quiet wisdom. C.R. had inherited the farm from his father and his grandfather was an original homesteader.

It was around 12:30 p.m. . The sun began peeking thru clouds as we reloaded equipment into the truck and ORV for a half mile ride to the farm field. We left the end road and traveled east along a ridge then up a gentle slope to a corn field. As we pulled up one could see the first set of circles near some haystacks. We couldn't believe our eyes. The first two circles were about six feet apart, one was forty foot in diameter the other twenty. The grass outside the burn area was green, a six inch very light beige colored band encircled both rings with the remaining interior diameter of a darker tan. Although it had been raining the ground was barely wet inside the circles. Each burn had a 6 foot concave bite or unburned area which interrupted each circle that would've otherwise been perfectly round. At the bite in the twenty footer one could see impressions where something had walked toward two haystacks and had cut samples. C.R. used the phrase " wallered down" to describe impressions in crop area's outside the circles. One haystack had been there for some time, was dark brown except one spot 28" above the ground which measured 6"x4"x8", it was oval in shape and looked like an ice cream scoop had been taken to it. We placed two samples from hay "scooped" areas into plastic bags for examination at the Lincoln Lab and later discovered at 350 magnification no crushing of epidermis cells.

Whatever instrument made the scoop was capable of cutting discriminately between plant cells ! The pathology report from UNL later indicated damage to grass cellular structure within burn areas could not have been caused by lightening, unnatural sporation, disease or any known insect common to the region. The conclusion was; "unknown irradiation" had been the source of damage.

C.R. had his hand plug with him so we took core samples to a depth of 12" . After some difficulty in removing the hardened cores, we were able to obtain samples both inside and outside of the rings. Between a depth of 8" to 10", the ground had been visibly hardened or oxidized a reddish or bisqued color, the dirt above this line was very black and below . The two inch oxidized area was replicated under lab conditions using an electric kiln. A temperature of 1700F had to be reached in order to duplicate the same oxidized color and hardness. Someone out there had one hell of a microwave generator. We had Alpha, Beta, and Gamma radiation samples to test the Geiger counters. The plug samples and areas inside the circles measured .5 millirads per hour which was slightly above nominal background noise. One core sample measured 1.5 millirads, C. and A. recorded that reading on video tape . When "Dr. K" and I returned two weeks later the previous radiation levels were gone . This meant any theory regarding "gamma" radiation was eliminated. Had there been gamma radiation at anytime it would've still been present. The energy which focused on those areas was something quite different than any manmade or "known" energy source.

There were a total of nine circles found on Mr. C.R.'s farm. One seventy footer with six equally spaced twenty footers around the outside and two burned circles isolated near haystacks, the forty-footer with a single twenty . As we were taking pictures of the seventy from atop a tractor, Mr.C and Miss A called out with urgency in their voices. When CR and I arrived the linear burn marks going up hill were already being measured. There were nine of them spaced forty feet apart and ninety feet long running contrary to contour plowing. Mr. CR doesn't use chemicals on his crops. We took pictures of very distinct lines in crop areas outside of the circles. Where radiation had occurred the crop was bleached almost white.

As we walked the lines on the hill I thought, at a time like this is when one wished guys like Phil Klass and James Oberg were around to answer questions live since they're so "expert in their field". With a public looking on nationally I doubt if even Dan Rather would have guts enough . I believe what my friend John Lear said about media conditioning is true. When Current Affairs came to cover the story they had Mr. C.R. walk toward the camera twelve times trying to get him to say "flying saucers". Anymore when you say that people immediately hang a sign on you and the media types know it. Mr. C.R. is a very level headed guy, he knows his crops and farming well, he's in the field everyday and had an awful lot to share . The media types really blew it when they talked to C.R. and his family the way they did. When the story came out that it was a rash of "Sorghum Weavels" that ate his crop I really had to laugh at that one. They must've been the size of a horse to consume the amount of crop loss.

We took panorama shots of the irradiated lines in CR's field. C.R. made a remarkable statement which caught us all off guard, he said: " Oh yeah, these were what my father used to call "hover burns" when he saw them for the first time back in the fifties. We even have a picture of more circles from the air taken by the Department of Interior in 1962 which shows this same hill with circular impressions. Way back then people around these parts used to call them "fairy rings" cause you'd see so many. Noone ever wanted to make a report out for fear of the government coming in and driving you off your land. You can see where they just kinda hovered along the southwest edge of the creek bed then skipped up the hill and landed where you see the burns." We've returned to C.R.'s farm three times and have collected dozens of pictures the latest of which were taken in April of 1992. The ground where the nine circles appeared now has nine circular cracks each three foot deep and three inches wide marking the perimeter of at each location. Nothing will grow within the circles. Lights in the night sky continue to be seen by local residents, reports taken by the local sheriff and correspondence is ongoing with C.R. myself and "Dr. K". This summer plans are underway for an extended site visit with cameras to record the current activity in the area. Our efforts and those of Mr. C.R. and friends seeking the truth about the UFO situation has gained attention of the Senate House Committee on Science Space and Technology much to the dismay of some NASA people. We're not involved in this to cause trouble but to resolve what will obviously not go away.

In one day we spoke with six other farmers from surrounding townships, a sheriff, a WW II bomber pilot, examined two other sites and listened to personal testimony of a dozen eyewitnesses to other various events. The area has had this type of activity for over forty years. Much evidence has been collected by local residents which proves something of unknown origin has been setting down on a regular basis within a particular county. When you are honest in your investigative research people will recognize sincerity more readily and begin to share what has been some of the most extraordinary events in their lives. The stories coming from this one county in Southern Iowa some might say is the stuff of "space folklore" and wax vainly contrived truths about UFO's. Over the long haul they will come up short on knowing the real facts gathered in the field. Those of you who would read this article will have the facts that will lend strength and human grace to survive whatever may come to pass .

To those who would assault all UFO truths coming from honest citizens of our country I give you this warning; Someday, within our lifetime, any debunker, politician in the know or anyone else who has kept knowledge of such matters locked behind closed doors will eventually have to reckon with the American people. Knowledge that should've been the property of every American has corrupted a greater good for humankind. I hope and pray I'm counted among those who helped pour the first white hot light of truth into the dark chambers of deception and on unholy "UnFunded Opportunities". People are being abducted and the government knows UFO's exist.

Property is being damaged, cattle destroyed, children are being taken from their mothers womb for the sake of alien research and experimentation. The "Deal" struck between a government or military leaders without the knowledge of duly elected representatives of the people was not only illegal but a treasonable offense. I don't care if you are with the C.I.A.,F.B.I.,N.S.A.,O.S.I.,NASA or a General whose earned a Medal of Honor , the American people will eventually hold you accountable. As a former Navy man, an American citizen and a Nebraska Educator I take pride in teaching the truths of history. I take exception with anyone who'd corrupt human history by acts which exhibit extremely deceptive malice toward the greater good of humankind everywhere. The truth must be told by those responsible, only then will solutions be possible.
