Heya,

The only documents I have are the ones I got from my initial enlistment with the military. My participation with this stuff didn't afford me any access to getting anything sensitive. The cats out of the bag so to speak, and my only defense at this point is just to be open.

I was involved with crash retrieval and cover up. I was just a guy literally picking up the pieces and making thing look like they were something other than what they were. In essence a covert pushbroom and shovel operator. I'm not an engineer or anything. Ever since [REDACTED] they go to great lengths to ensure you can't prove anything and if they can't bribe you, they try to intimidate you.

When I got out of this whole shenanigans it was like I didn't even exist. It left me bankrupt and PTSD which I'm still dealing with. My training record and all of that it was like it never happened. It fucked my life up for a number of years. If it weren't for one of my uncles I probably would have just been "disappeared" or had a training accident or something. It may have even cost my uncle his life bailing me out of involvement with this covert bullshit.

My extended family is kind of neck deep in this and it's pretty much been a significant chunk of my life. I'm tired. I don't care what happens to me. My only fear is for my family.

Over the years I've had my bank accounts frozen, shot at, intimidated by goons. Had near misses with car accidents. ARVs over my home. "Abductions" by "aliens".

I'm sick of it.

Hello [REDACTED]

Dr. Greer would be the only person to handle this and he often talks to people with very sensitive information over the phone.

The fact that you said you have no documentation makes me think it might be best to just put this on the back burner for now until there is better way to get together.

As once you got to [REDACTED] you would at least need to come to [REDACTED] to speak with Dr. Greer.

What do you think?

I won't be bullied anymore. You or anyone else can call me anytime.

Thanks for your time, [REDACTED]. I know you volunteer your time to deal with these kinds of things. You must be a saint, if you aren't you should be.

I would rather wade naked into a pit of wolverines dipped in gravy than go to D.C. right now in the current political environment there. I'm willing to travel, but I'm a stay at home dad and my wife is self employed. I would have to make plans. Which I'm okay with. I don't need to speak with Dr. Greer, it would be an honor, but I'm not anyone important enough for him to go out of his way to speak with.
