>Steven,
>During our recent conversation we discussed several issues, one in particular >was the response I received from the CIA regarding the document authored by >James Angelton mentioning Marilyn Monroe & Dorothy Kilgallen. Late last year >the CIA responded to my FOIA request on the subject implying that the >document was not authentic. I wrote back asking them to clarify their >position. Yesterday I received a response stating they are not taking any >position as to the documents authenticity. Interestingly, but not a >surprising, they originally responded stating they conducted a thorough >search and could not locate the document-anywhere in the CIA holdings.
>Well, I pressed the issue and now they say that they'll conduct a search if I >pay the search fee. I issued them a letter stating I would pay the fee.
>I'll let you know how it turns out.

>Regards,
