

>
 >Recipients:
 > At Preston Nichols' suggestion, I emailed The Navy with a request for >a >comment on the text of the faxed document regarding a major blowout in a >recent HAARP operation involving particle accelerators, resulting in the >creation of an interdimensional/time rift. (A full verbatim reprint of the >document was included.)
 >
 > As I pointed out in my recent article on HAARP, there was one obvious >discrepancy in the faxed document concerning the zip code--it correlated to >Fort Myers and not Washington D.C. as the document stated; however at 1455 >Overlook Ave., in Fort Myers is a vast multi governmental complex which >houses, among other things, National Security Agency offices.
 > Interestingly enough at 4555 Overlook Ave. (SW) in Washington D.C. is
 >the >Naval Research Laboratory, a large facility with a staff of over 4000 >people,
 >which is in fact the headquarters of the Navy's HAARP operations.
 >
 > The discrepancy regarding the address as well as the April 1 date on
 >the >document could provide ample wiggle room for those involved or >knowledgeable
 >to discredit the document.
 > However in a rare public display of agitation, foolishness, confusion >or >ineptness, a Pentagon spokesman today issued a statement commenting on the >HAARP document in question; a response notable indeed for being a complete, >total and what's more, unnecessary lie.
 > Rather than addressing any of the points I raised in my request, nor >any >of the elements of the faxed document, even the potentially questionable >ones,
 >a Navy spokesman chose instead to attempt to completely discredit the >document
 >(and myself) and derail any serious inquiry by making a reply which is in >one >instance at least blatantly and demonstrably untrue.

>
> In an email to me dated 5/4/98 1:53:27 PM, Alan Goldstein, Director of >Technology Integration at the Navy Office of Information, The Pentagon - >Washington, D.C. wrote: " ...There is not any Admiral Falvey nor is there
>any >Overlook Avenue in Washington, D.C".
> As shown, this statement is a total, complete and utter lie. As a >Naval
>employee at the Pentagon, I find it impossible to believe that he is not >aware >of the fact that at 4555 Overlook Ave. SW in Washington D.C. is the Naval >Research Lab, the official home of HAARP operations.
> Busted! The facts speak for themselves.
>
> Perhaps this blatant lie was intended by it's blatancy to show >indicate >that the HAARP document is essentially valid; more likely it's an >indication >of a hasty, off-balance response to an issue which would seem to have >caused
>some concern.
> Firstly, if the document and my letter were just childish gibberish, >why >bother to respond at all? And if responding, and if the faxed HAARP
>document
>is unquestionably worthless nonsense, why not prove or indicate it as such >with solid, valid statements? Instead, (to seriously mix my metaphors), >they >go off totally half-cocked, shooting from the hip and end up putting their >foot firmly and deeply in their big mouth. Give them a little rope and what >do
>you know--they really hang themselves on this one!
>
> It is fair to say that to some extent such a blatant, almost absurd >lie
>of this magnitude from a Pentagon official on the HAARP document can ONLY >be >seen as bolstering by default the validity of the document in question.
>
> Interesting as well is that this individual seems to imply that my >invoking the U.S. Constitution amounted to more "childish gibberish". I >guess
>we know which "side" he's on, and it isn't OURS!
>
> I include below my request to the Navy for a comment on the HAARP fax, >the Navy's response, and my reply to their lie.
>
>Best Wishes,

>
>**
>To Whom This May Concern:
>
> We are seeking a statement from Admiral Falvey or a direct associate, >colleague or superior, pertaining to the fax received in early April 1998
>and
>reprinted verbatim below.
>
> This document and much of the information within it could most likely >ONLY have originated from within the intelligence arm of the U. S. Navy or >other intelligence/military group, due to the tremendous amount of >classified

>information in the document, as well as the inexplicable way it was >received.
>Additionally, according to the recipient, the document was produced using a >version of Adobe PageMaker which is only available to government. It was >produced using the commercially available version of this software.
>NOT
> Granted a skilled and knowledgeable hoaxer could conceivably have >enough
>knowledge of internal military security codes, routing information, >internal >directives and classified projects to fake the main body of this document.
>However, there are some significant points which argue rather strongly >AGAINST
>it being an outright hoax. When the fax was received caller ID was disabled
>and
>other systems which identify the originating location of fax transmissions >were disabled. The recipient's digital cellphone, which can access up to 12 >different networks, locked into one particular network at the very time the >fax was received, and for days stayed locked on this network. Also, his >beeper
>can either be on a nationwide or worldwide network; it had been on the >nationwide network, and at the time the fax came in switched to the >worldwide >network, and remained locked onto that network for a number of days. An >associate's cellphone can also utilize a number of different networks, yet >beginning at the time the fax was received, he was only able access the >Milcell (military) network, and couldn't access any other for ten days.
>These >kinds of things are much harder for some hoaxer to implement than the >document
>itself.
>
> This is without any doubt some kind of evidence here; either evidence >of >deliberate official disinformation, or (somewhat muddled) evidence of a yet >another highly questionable covert program being operated under cover of
>the >officially acknowledged HAARP project.
> As American citizens with all rights and protections as afforded by >our >Constitution, we expect forthwith a statement from Admiral Falvey or >another >of equal or greater rank regarding the information relayed in this fax.

[REDACTED]

>

[REDACTED] *****

>Office of The Director of Security

>

>01 April 1998

>

>To All Security Operatives, Sector EC/NE/48+I

>

> It has been confirmed as of this date, that a failure of the >H.A.A.R.P. 15-3 Proteus Unit at Ascension Island U.K. had lost it's >targeting >control during it's first operational trial. The accelerator was damaged at >shutdown, and will not be operational until 12 June at the earliest.

>

> This failure went undetected for approximately 17 minutes, and > appears to have caused another series of dimensional rifts along the East > coast of the U.S. and Southwest Africa. These dimensional rifts are x-> dimensional and have a time frame of -100 million B.C. plus or minus about > 20
> million years.
>
> As was the case in 1995, several predatory reptilian animals have > entered our y-dimension and are as this is written, freely roaming in the > Southern New York region, Northern Pennsylvania, West Virginia and a > possible
> sighting occurred this morning at 2:34 hours at Norfolk N.A.S. 150 meters > off
> the beach.
>
> All operatives are officially at level 4 alert, and are to be > ready > to go on 60 minute notice. (DOOTP) article 15-1 through 17-4 with all > addendums are to apply.
>
> Weapons are to be available at all times, .40 and .50 caliber > minimum, with FMJ and EHP rounds only, minimum handgun to be carried .357 > MAG/EHP.
>
>
>
> THIS DOCUMENT IS EYES ONLY, DESTROY AFTER READING
>
> Director of Field Operations,
> Adm. Raymond D. Falvey III
>
>
>
> CC: DCM/NOS/USAF/DOD/SS/QCD=Adjutant Generals Office, Pent. R-6-106/9c
> All Pathway Field Officers/Terminators (orders are terminate NOSAVE)
> *****
>
> Mr.
>
> The "message" you have forwarded is simply childish gibberish. There are > many indications of this, not the least of which is there is not any > Admiral Falvey nor is there any Overlook Avenue in Washington, D.C.
>
> Furthermore, the tone and wording of your e-mail suggests it to be of the > same ilk. However, if you wish to pursue this, it is recommended you > turn these "documents" over to the local office of the FBI.
>
> Your e-mail and this response will remain on file.
>
> Alan Goldstein
> Director, Technology Integration
> Navy Office of Information
> The Pentagon - Washington, D.C.
>
> *****
>
> Alan Goldstein
> Director, Technology Integration
> Navy Office of Information
> The Pentagon - Washington, D.C.
>
>
> Dear Mr. Goldstein:
> Firstly, I am not in any personal possession of this faxed document

>and >thus have nothing to "turn over" to anyone. I transcribed the text verbatim >from a faxed copy of the faxed "original. I am concerned about the >operations
>referred to in this document.
> In your email to me dated 5/4/98 1:53:27 PM, you wrote: " ...There is >not
>any Admiral Falvey nor is there any Overlook Avenue in Washington, D.C".
> You chose not to respond to any of the pertinent points raised in my >email, nor any of the significant elements of the document in question.
>Instead you chose to try to completely discredit the document (and myself)
>by >making a reply which is one instance at least blatantly and demonstrably >>false.
> As a Naval employee at the Pentagon, I find it impossible to believe >that >you are NOT aware of the fact that not only IS there an Overlook Ave. in >Washington D.C.; but at 4555 Overlook Ave. SW is the Naval Research >Laboratory, the center (as far as I know) of the Navy's HAARP efforts (as >in:
> the phone number, in case you didn't
>
> I have to wonder why, if this "document" is childish gibberish, it >seems >you have responded in this manner. Obviously there are other points in the >document which could be questioned, yet instead you issued a statement >which >was apparently an attempt to deflect any serious consideration of or >questions >about the document in question; you attempted to do by making an obviously >untrue staement as I've shown.
>
> What is your comment on this?
>
> Also, in your email you also said that the "tone" of my email >indicated
>it to be childish gibberish as well.
> Among other things my email said, "As American citizens with all >rights >and protections as afforded by our Constitution, we expect forthwith a >statement from Admiral Falvey or another of equal or greater rank regarding >the information relayed in this fax."
> Is that what you would consider "childish gibberish? Do you believe
>that >adhering to and abiding by the U.S.Constitution is childish and that >advocating such amounts to "gibberish?" I find this hasty, untruthful, >illconceived, and apparently agitated response from The Navy to be of >interest. Also, it would lead one to think that the main body of the >document
>in question could be valid.
>
>Thanks and have a nice day,
>**
>
>
>
>