
If I was on nights I would ride with the SERGEANT first and then be put on the East gate just before shift change for the morning traffic. Most of the night was spent relieving other LE members while they went and ate or took a leak.

On this particular night an airman named Senior Airman (SrA) [REDACTED] was on patrol and I was riding along with him. We went out to check the gate because some people new the combination and were using it after hours. I checked to make sure it was locked. The car was parked back about fifty feet to help light up the area. The gate was locked and I went back to the car.

The night was brisk but not cold and SrA [REDACTED] and I hung out leaning against our patrol car and talked for a while. I was facing south and talking to [REDACTED] who was facing north.

[REDACTED] said " I guess this is where they saw that UFO a few weeks back ."

I said, "Oh?" and asked him what exactly happened. He did not know for sure but pointed out a light house way the heck off in the distance, toward the North Sea, and said that they saw a UFO. I asked about the rumor that it had been moving through the trees and he just shrugged "I, don't know. Don't think it was a rumor."

I faced back south after looking east toward the light house and something caught my eye. The night sky was pretty clear when I noticed a light moving across the sky. It was like if you were outside and saw a jet off in the distance and while you can not make out its image you know it's a jet because it is a small object moving at a steady pace.

This light was not moving at any at all. It was darting across the sky very fast. It soared up then it dropped down furiously, then up into the heavens again then plummeted to earth, but never crashing. It probably changed altitude at a difference of a few thousand feet in elevation ten times in as many seconds.

I turned to [REDACTED] "Shit! What's that?"

He looked and spotted it also. "Geez, I don't know."

We watched it for about a half a minute or more and he told me to stay put, that he was going to go to the Woodbridge control tower and see what was up.

"Stay put? Screw that, I'm going with you."

At the tower, they explained that they only had a C-130 and a helicopter on a mission that night in this area. Well, I am not pilot but we both agreed that this was neither a helicopter or a cargo plane.

I looked at [REDACTED] "Should we call it in to Police Control?"

[REDACTED] agreed that we should. So, [REDACTED] got on the radio and announced,

XXXX just saw a UFO outside of the East gate."

I cussed him out, "Man, you saw it too."

"Err Police Control? I stand corrected, me and LaPlume just saw a UFO."
XXXX giving XXXX a look that said, "You happy now?"

East Gate's telephone rang almost immediately. I answered it and it was my shift commander Lieutenant Englund.

"Palmer what did you see?"

"Sir, lights moving erratically in the sky."

"Where are you?" Lieutenant Englund demanded.

"East Gate, sir."

"There back, again. Look, keep an eye on the lights. I'm notifying the Wing and Squadron Commander. Just keep your eyes on those lights!"

"Yes sir." Hearing a click in the phone, I hung up my end of the telephone.

The elapse time was far was approximately fifteen minutes from the time we first spotted the moving light.

The night was partly cloudy and the craft went behind some clouds over Rendlesham Forest. It was still at least fifteen miles away and at an elevation of about twenty thousand feet or so. It was not like it was hanging overhead.

Well holy cow the earth opened up and within twenty minutes I had more people and brass at my post than I had ever seen. There was the deputy base commander, his wife and teen age son. They brought along their cameras. I remember his wife saying something to the effect of "Oh boy we get to see one" Lieutenant Englund showed up and told my not to be nervous that Colonel Gordon Williams was on his way and that he had had just made General. Who me nervous.

I was told to state that my post was "Safe and Secure" I opened the gate and everyone piled into a blue Air Force station wagon and a jeep and took off. XXXX and I were given a night vision scope and told to let them know if we spotted it again.

We did not look for it much because we figured it was long gone. I screwed around looking through a night vision scope and waited. about an hour later till the patrol vehicles came back and I was told to "man" East Gate for the rest of the night and keep them posted if anything happens. They all then went back to Police Control.

XXXX and I stood around for a while. I was in awe over the whole show. It was about a half hour after everyone left that the craft appeared again. It came from the area of the lighthouse. This time it was a lower in the shy and moved slowly. It came directly over XXXX and I, its elevation was about two thousand feet, I guess and it had some lights on it. I remember seeing a green light and mostly a blue light emitting from the underside.

This light enveloped me as the craft went over. It was about 100 yards long and kind of cigar shaped looking from my angle of view. I remember it being directly over head and thinking 'Wow this is way cool. I was not nervous at all and did not unsling my M-16. I just looked up at it and the next thing I remember it was past me and on its way up where it just blended in with the stars. I have a bit of a gap in time from when it was over me to when I saw it back in the southern sky and departing. This always kind of bugged me.

I asked [REDACTED] if he wanted to report this and told him I did not. He agreed and we never told anyone about this part of the event. The next morning I caught a bit of shit from my fellow Airmen and was reminded a bit about how we harassed the others a few weeks prior. I never had anyone debrief me other than a few people asking me what I saw. But nothing official. I was tired and went to bed.

My character is a bit different than most peoples. If something happens to me I take it in and move on and try to learn from an experience. I never dwell on something that has happened because I know that once an event in my life happens I can do nothing to change it. Even if I was the cause of something I hardly ever feel guilty because its over and done with.

It is for this reason that I never much thought about UFO's or Visitor as anything other than "Yeah, I saw one once and I may go to my grave never knowing, oh well. Life goes on."
