REFERENCE Report of Investigation of SA J. P. ERYNLDSEN, this office, subject as above, dated 31 Aug 49.

SYNOPSIS

Referenced case is being re-opened as it is believed that the "unusual object" recovered by Mr. [redacted] West Yellowstone, Montana, is identical with the object sighted by Mr. [redacted] on 9 August 1949, at Hebgen Lake, Montana. The object was recovered by [redacted] Danny Creek Ridge in the approximate location that [redacted] saw alleged flying disc crash in a wooded area on the southwest shore of Hebgen Lake. Object was determined to be an astradone from a C-47 type aircraft.

DETAILS:

1. This case is being re-opened on information supplied by SA Gene Fopp, Butte, Montana Office, F.B.I., Great Falls, Montana, resident agency, on 28 October 1949, to the effect that Mr. [REDACTED] Sheriff, Gallatin County, Bozeman, Montana, had in his possession a "plastic disc-like affair" which had been found on a mountain side near Hobgen Lake, West Yellowstone, Montana.

AT GREAT FALLS AIR FORCE BASE, MONTANA

2. On 28 October 1949, Mr. [REDACTED] Sheriff, Gallatin County, Bozeman, Montana, was contacted by telephone and he advised that the description of the "unusual object" in his possession was as follows:

General shape:	Saucer
Material:	Plastic or plexiglass
Diameter	20"
Depth	8"

At the extreme point of convexity, there was a metal disc about three inches in diameter which was held in place by a nut. There was no indication of motivating power and it did not appear as if there had ever been any. Sheriff RICE further stated that the "object" had been found by a Mr. [REDACTED] West Yellowstone, Montana, on Danny Creek Ridge, which is on the southwest shore of Hobgen Lake, Montana, while hunting. The Sheriff had received the "object" on 18 October 1949 but did not know the exact date which CORNAN had discovered same.

Further conversation with Mr. [REDACTED] revealed that at some time or other, the object had been subject to high temperatures due to the condition of the lip of the object. WEGG stated he had been around the Air Force and airplanes considerably and had never seen anything of a nature resembling the object.

AT BOZEMAN, MONTANA

3. Investigation at Bozeman, Montana, is a joint investigation of Special Agent HENRY C. DEVERSS and the writer.

4. On 28 October 1949, Sheriff RICE was interviewed at the Gallatin County Sheriff's Office, Bozeman, Montana, and no further facts concerning date, time and circumstances surrounding the finding of the object on Danny Creek Ridge were obtained.

5. The "unusual object" produced by RICE, consisting of ten pieces of plexiglass of varying sizes, when pieced together, resembled an astrakone or scanning blister from an airplane.

[REDACTED]

6. On 31 October 1949, the writer observed the astradome in a C-47 type aircraft and it was determined that the object received from RICE was identical with aforementioned astradome.

7. On 31 October 1949, Capt EDWIN W. SAAR, AO 869 575, Supervisor of Aircraft Maintenance, B1 Squadron, 1701st Maintenance Group, Great Falls Air Force Base, was contacted and requested to furnish instructions for disposition of the remains of the C-47 astradome. Capt SAAR advised that it should be destroyed as he had no further use for it nor would any other Air Force agency have need of it.

CHARACTER SPECIAL INQUIRY (UNCONVENTIONAL METEOROLOGICAL BALLOON)
REFERENCE None, this is an initial report.
SYNOPSIS Investigation predicated upon referral from FBI, Butte, Montana, 4 July 1950, indicating an unconventional balloon, lighter than air, with nylon parachute attached and black cardboard box containing eight-day clock, electrical switches, cables and 6-volt battery suspended from parachute had been recovered by Sheriff TEMPLE, Dillon, Montana, on even date, and was being held by Sheriff's Office for safekeeping pending further investigation by Air Force. Sheriff TEMPLE, on 5 July 1950, at 1300 hours, telephonically communicated with General Mills Research Laboratory, Minneapolis, Minnesota, and the balloon positively identified by Serial No. 138 as one released by that laboratory. Sheriff TEMPLE requested by laboratory to return all properties less the plastic balloon to General Mills Research Laboratory, c/o Charles B. Moore.

DETAILS:

1. This investigation was predicated upon a referral of information from the FBI, Butte, Montana, on 4 July 1950, at approximately 1700 hours, which indicated that an unconventional type balloon had been recovered by the Sheriff of Beaverhead County, Dillon, Montana, on 4 July 1950, and was being held by the Sheriff's Office for safekeeping pending further investigation.

AT DILLON, MONTANA

2. This is a joint investigation of Special Agent ROBERT P. SPALDING and the writer.

3. Sheriff PAUL H. TEMPLE, Dillon, Beaverhead County, Montana, was interviewed on 5 July 1950 and furnished the following information: that Mr. [REDACTED] Dell, Montana, on 4 July 1950, at approximately 0500 hours, noticed a large elongated type balloon, at low altitude, drifting from the north to the south across Dell, Montana. This balloon was apparently losing its buoyancy and it touched ground at about 0600 hours in a grain field, property of a [REDACTED], located approximately two miles southwest of Dell, Montana. Although the lower portion of the balloon became snarled in the flora growth, the upper extremity retained its buoyancy and remained bobbing in the breezes. [REDACTED] notified Sheriff TEMPLE of the incident and the Sheriff arrived at the scene on 4 July 1950, at about 1100 hours. At this time, the balloon was approximately three-quarters deflated and with the exception of about fifteen feet of free floating balloon, was spread on the ground. Sheriff TEMPLE described the balloon as approximately one hundred feet long by fifty feet wide, weighing approximately two hundred fifty pounds, totally deflated, constructed of semi-transparent white plastic, having a metallic hoop at the bottom and attached to this hoop was a twenty-four foot nylon parachute from which was suspended a black waxed cardboard box containing one eight-day alarm clock (mechanical), electrical switches, cables and a 6-volt Burgess Battery. Sheriff TEMPLE notified the FBI, Butte, Montana, on 4 July 1950, and was instructed to retain custody of the balloon for purposes of safekeeping, pending further investigation of the matter, which would be referred to the Air Force. Sheriff TEMPLE further stated that Mr. [REDACTED], associated with the Dillon Tribune, Dillon, Montana, viewed the balloon and was of the belief that it is of a type used for stratosphere research. [REDACTED] communicated with the Minneapolis Tribune and received the following Western Union Telegram which the Sheriff retained:

"STAC05 LONG NFR PD

sent up from Minneapolis but can't say for sure from data you supply. His project trying to trace balloon last sighted last week near Minot, N. D. and one your report may be it. Positive identification supplied by numbers taped to 42 inch ring of half inch aluminum tubing at bottom of balloon. Laboratory has standing reward posted for return of balloons and Sheriff's Office probably can qualify by telephone MOORE. He will accept collect call from Sheriff. His telephone Geneva 0371. Please service AP with any story you use.

UPHAM Minneapolis Tribune

"Sheriff TEMPLE revealed that at approximately 1300 hours, 5 July 1950, he (TEMPLE) had phoned [redacted] and although [redacted] had not been available, TEMPLE had been successful in speaking with a General Mills Research Laboratory official (name not remembered by TEMPLE) who when furnished the general description of the balloon, plus the number 138 which appeared taped at regular intervals to the aluminum tubing at the base of the balloon, positively identified the balloon as one released by the General Mills Research Laboratory. Sheriff TEMPLE was instructed to ship the aluminum base tubing with taped numbers intact, the nylon parachute and the black box with its contents to General Mills Research Laboratory, 670 [redacted] Minneapolis, Minnesota, and to dispose of the plastic balloon as he sees fit.

4. At the time this writer interviewed Sheriff TEMPLE, the nylon parachute had already been packed for shipment to the General Mills Research Laboratory, however, Sheriff TEMPLE had made a copy of the inked stamping on this white parachute which reads as follows:

G. T. M.
24 ft.
Model 428
Lot 101
Patented
Made in USA

Appearing to the left of this inked stamping was still another inked stamping of a baseball with baseball printed in its center.

5. This writer inspected the aluminum tubing which formed the base of the plastic balloon and noted that the number 138 was stamped on tapes which are fastened to the tubing at regular intervals.

6. The black cardboard box containing the mechanical 8-day clock, electrical wiring and switches and the 6-volt Burgess battery had already been sealed for shipment when this writer interviewed Sheriff TEMPLE, however, a label affixed to the box read as follows:

2-24 hr clocks
micro switches
cleaned & oiled

~~CONFIDENTIAL~~

CONFIDENTIAL

7. When questioned as to whether the black cardboard box had actually contained one or two 8-day clocks, Sheriff TEMPLE stated it had contained only one and that he (TEMPLE) had verified this when he spoke with the General Mills Research Laboratory official. Sheriff TEMPLE further stated the clock which had been operating when the balloon was found stopped at 0200 hours, 5 July 1950.

The two silver pictures of the two objects were taken at 10:15 p.m. September 12, 1950, at the Great Falls stadium, Great Falls, Montana.

Our ball park lies between the AEC film plant, largest producer in the world, and the Great Falls Air Force Base.

Dear Sirs,

I had

Lately ~~through~~ an experience which I still remember with almost unbelievable clarity and probably will remember all of my life. First

I would like to make a couple of things clear. I am not really braver than other people but I find that I am not afraid of as many things as other people. I am writing this letter to you ~~###~~ because I think that the information I am able to supply may, or may not whichever the case might be, help you. I know that there is at least one project is going on to find out what UFO's are. I will start my story with the fact that I often go up in the hills around hills around our place. My story begins on a foggy day. I got very mad at my brother and went up in the hills with my .22 rifle. I had gone up on top of the hill that is closest to our house.

I was standing still listening for a magpie. I didn't hear a magpie but instead I heard a whooshing noise that I couldn't identify. I was just realizing that I had made a mistake trying to hunt magpies on a foggy day anyway. I looked up expecting to see a low flying airplane. (I had forgotten that airplanes make noise.) About 50 feet up I saw a great big rocket shaped object. I have heard a lot about "flying saucers". I know that they are real because I have seen them on 18 different occasions. I know that they are not nearly as rare as the government states. I realize that "covering up" on UFO's is necessary a lot of the time because a lot of the public cannot take a lot of incidents that do occur. I know of plenty of air sightings. I know of #

NICAP (National Investigations Committee on Aerial Phenomena). I know of ATIC (Air Technical Intelligence Center) I have read a book by Maj. Donald

E. Keyhoe on UFO's. I am fairly certain that several reports have never been released to the public. For instance what of the Killian case? What of the color movies of UFO's that were never released to the public? The only thing

I thought of as I looked at the object was that I had always seen disks before and this was the first different shape I had yet seen. It wasn't going very fast as UFO speeds go ,and I didnt realize what was happening until it had already landed. It was ,as nearly as I can judge , about 20 yards in diameter and about 100 yards high. An opening in it's side appeared about 10 feet above the ground. and a ramp slid out. Down this ramp came 5 metal "boxes" with small wheels on the bottom and 4 "arms" on the sides. One took ground samples. The others each took air, grass, flower, samples while one just stood there. When they had finished they rolled up the ramp, the ramp slid in, and the ship took off straight up and vanished in the fog. Beyond 200 yards or so I couldn't hear the soft whooshing noise. Since then I have not told anyone about what happened. I am also very much interested in UFO's. I would appreciate it if you would send me all the information you possibly could on UFO's. I realize that I should not be sending this letter to you but I do not know where else to send it. Please do not make this letter public as I do not like publicity very much.

Sincerely yours,

P.S. I do know how to keep my mouth shut.
