

PRODIGY(R) interactive personal service

04/30/93

11:57 PM

SCIENCE&TECHNOLOGY

TOPIC: UFO

TIME: 04/30 9:48 PM

SUBJECT: BLK HELICOPTERS

XXXXXX
If you are in NW Florida, would that be near Fort Walton, or XXXXXXXX? If so you are seeing the helicopters from what is affectionally called the "First Pig" or 1st SOW (Special Operations Wing) which flies MH-60 PaveHawk and the MH-53 Pave Low III helicopters. Their paint scheme is called "European One" as it was designed for ops in Europe, it too will appear black when viewed from a distance and it changes colors depending on its angle of the sun hitting the paint. Again they too also have subdued and minimal markings on the aircraft for low visibility purposes. What you can't see, you can't shoot...The 1st SOW also flies MC-130's and AC-130's and all the aircraft & helicopters are capable of inflight refueling. They were not in Waco as involvement in police matters by active duty military forces is against the law. Lots of flying done in your neck of the woods, Eglin & Hurlbert are the homes of USAF Special Operations Command and it also is the center for Special Ops School..Visit the base next time they have an airshow or display and you'll get to see these aircraft up close and personnel. And meet the men & woman of the "First Pig"!..... The AC-130's and MC-130's also come in "Gunship Grey" as do some of the helicopters and they can also be seen in "Desert Sand" paint scheme as operational conditions require...

Regards, XXXXX