

Actaeon Advisor

Issue 3

The official newsletter of The Actaeon Group

LAKE OF THE OZARKS, MO 1995

"I called the Air Force and told them we were being invaded".

Inside this issue:

- ◆ Cameron Mo Sighting
- ◆ 1950 Northrup Memo
- ◆ CE-3 in Cambodia
- ◆ Encounter in the Ozarks
- ◆ Physical Traces in Illinois

ENCOUNTER AT LAKE OF THE OZARKS

Date: July 9, 1995
Time: 11:30 PM
Location: Near Gravois Mills, Mo.

On Sunday, July 9, 1995, four witnesses (2 female, 2 male) in their early twenties sighted a craft hovering over a wooded field near the junction of state highway 135 and county road J. The craft was described as a two-tiered, saucer-shaped object with lights rotating around the center and with four white beams of light projecting to the ground (see figure 1).

After about two minutes of observation, one female witness (Sally) began to panic and insisted that she be returned to her own car which she had left in Laurie, a nearby town. The other three witnesses complied and then returned to the site to continue observing the craft. They all agreed to meet at another friend's home later.

Sally drove to the home of the friend where they were all to meet and waited. After 2½ hours, she was overcome with worry and set out to look for her friends. She got up from her seat and looked outside through a window. As she did, she saw a ball of white light come quickly across the yard and dash by her car. She dismissed the incident and went out to her car to return to the original site at 135/J. It was approximately 2:30 am.

It was not an uneventful trip. About halfway there, near an open field, Sally suddenly thought that she should not be alone. She pulled into a business parking lot to turn around. As she turned, she noticed a large, blue light in the sky through her windshield. She stopped her car and watched a triangular-shaped craft about six stories high move slowly toward her (see figure 2).

Investigator's Note: It seems possible that Sally had an abduction experience. There is a discrepancy of about 90 minutes in her activities of the night at this point. Sally also noted that she recalled seeing the underside of the craft, but could not remember being in a position to see the underside. She consciously recalled seeing only the front of the craft. This was a confusing and disturbing discrepancy for her and she returned to this apparent anomaly again and again during the course of the investigation. It also should be noted that a similar craft was sighted near Harrison, Arkansas, and apparently was involved in an abduction case there.

Sally suddenly became aware that she did not know how much time had passed since she first sighted the triangular craft, which was now moving away. She got back into her car and drove to another friend's house in a self-described state of panic. It was approximately 4:00 a.m.

Arriving at this friend's house (approximately a fifteen-minute drive), she quickly told him her story of the night's events. He did not question her about the incidents but instead stated that all they had to do was stay awake until sunrise and then everything would be OK.

Investigator's Note: This friend of the witness refused to speak with investigators directly. It was learned, however, that this young man keeps a shotgun by his bed to ward off UFOs. Sally believes that he has had some sort of traumatic UFO experience.

The plan quickly fell apart. The young man promptly fell asleep on the couch and the Air Force first passed the call to the National UFO Hotline and then apparently to another department within the USAF. Sally received two calls from individuals claiming to be with the Air Force who questioned her about the incident and specifically about her companions.

Sally refused to provide information concerning her companions.

Actaeon investigators also contacted the Air Force and were in turn called twice by the Air Force concerning the incident. The Air Force seemed to be extremely interested in this case. To date, no reason this interest has been discovered.

The following is a letter the editor received from a 14 year old young man who accompanied one of our investigators and his son to meet with two of the witnesses in this case. We found his insights as a sign of hope for the future of investigation of this phenomenon

Dear Actaeon Advisor:

On August, 18, 1995, I went on a field investigation of a UFO sighting at Gravois Mill, Mo., near The Lake of The Ozarks. I joined Actaeon Group investigators Duane and Susan Bedell, Tom Eckhardt, and his son Matt. Matt and I have been friends since the first grade. I was glad to be invited to go on the investigation because although I am only fourteen years old, I am very interested in the subject of UFOs.

Because I am only 14, what I have to say might not be credible to many adults, but I assure you that I took this opportunity very seriously. My philosophy concerning multiple life forms in other areas of the universe is not only possible, but probable.

We met with two of the witness at the location of their sighting. I asked the following questions: when precisely did this happen, where were you, and can you describe to me in detail what you saw? They were honest with what they saw during the sighting. The details of their sighting never changed during my questioning.

I enjoyed taking part in the investigation, but every investigation is incomplete. I say this because most people, including myself do not understand what is happening. Many people deny these other life forms might exist, but I never will.

Ryan H.

Sally was unable to awaken him.

Giving up on the young man, Sally looked toward the living room window and saw 3 different types of entities standing outside. She described them as follows:

Being type 1: White energy beings of humanoid shape who appeared to be worker beings involved in some sort of digging and searching activity;

Being type 2: Human-looking beings with dark eyes and a slight glow about them who seemed to be guarding the others and, as it turns out, Sally as well;

Being type 3: 6½-7 feet tall beings dressed in dark robes who were apparently in charge of the others.

Investigator's Note: The activity of the beings seemed, according to Sally, of extreme urgency. The workers did not pause and moved in a single direction, as if entering Sally's field of vision, for example, from the left and continuing on out of her vision to the right. This was a continuous operation. The guards and the tall, robed creatures did not participate in any activity other than observation, directing, or guarding. An investigation of the ground the following day did not reveal any disturbance or other evidence of activity.

Investigators did not discern any unequal markings or other evidence.

The creatures remained at their activity without interruption. Sally continued to try to wake the young man without success. She would alternately pace and look out the kitchen window; the scene and activity remained the same. Later in the experience she encountered a fourth type of creature that appeared to be unconnected to the others. This creature would appear at the edges of the activity and she had the impression that the tall robed beings were guarding against this purplish and troll-like entity.

Sally was finally overcome by sleep and when she awakened she was lying on her back with a small box hanging over her. The box folded in on itself and disappeared. She then got up and went to look for her friends. The experience lasted approximately 75 minutes.

During the time in which Sally was experiencing the activity reported above, her friends were having an unusual experience at the intersection of 135/J. The two-tiered craft had remained in the area with the columns of light still projecting to the ground. The columns of light apparently were being used to transport sets of creatures to the ground and to illuminate the ground for some sort of search. The groups of creatures, who remained in distinct groupings were divided into (1) tall, hooded beings, (2) tall, cream-colored beings, (3) a "gardener" being who appeared to be collecting samples (one witness described the being as the "gardener" because he was collecting and perhaps seeding something on the ground), (4) a troll-like being similar to the one described by Sally, and (5) an "invisible man with sparkles inside him."

The fifth creature, the invisible man was the only one to take note of the witnesses. This creature ran toward the witnesses who became frightened and got in their car and began to drive away. The creature overtook and ran past the car, disappearing into the bushes. However, as he passed the entire car was surrounded by sparkles which then closed in and filled with the small specks of light. The witnesses became disoriented and were unable to describe events following this in any detail.

Investigator's Note: Sally called the Air Force the morning following the incident. She stated that she thought "we were being invaded." Curiously, Actaeon investigators also contacted the Air Force and were in turn called twice by the Air Force concerning the incident. The Air Force seemed to be extremely interested in this case. To date, no reason for this interest has been discovered.

Figure 1. Art by Lisa Dusenberry.

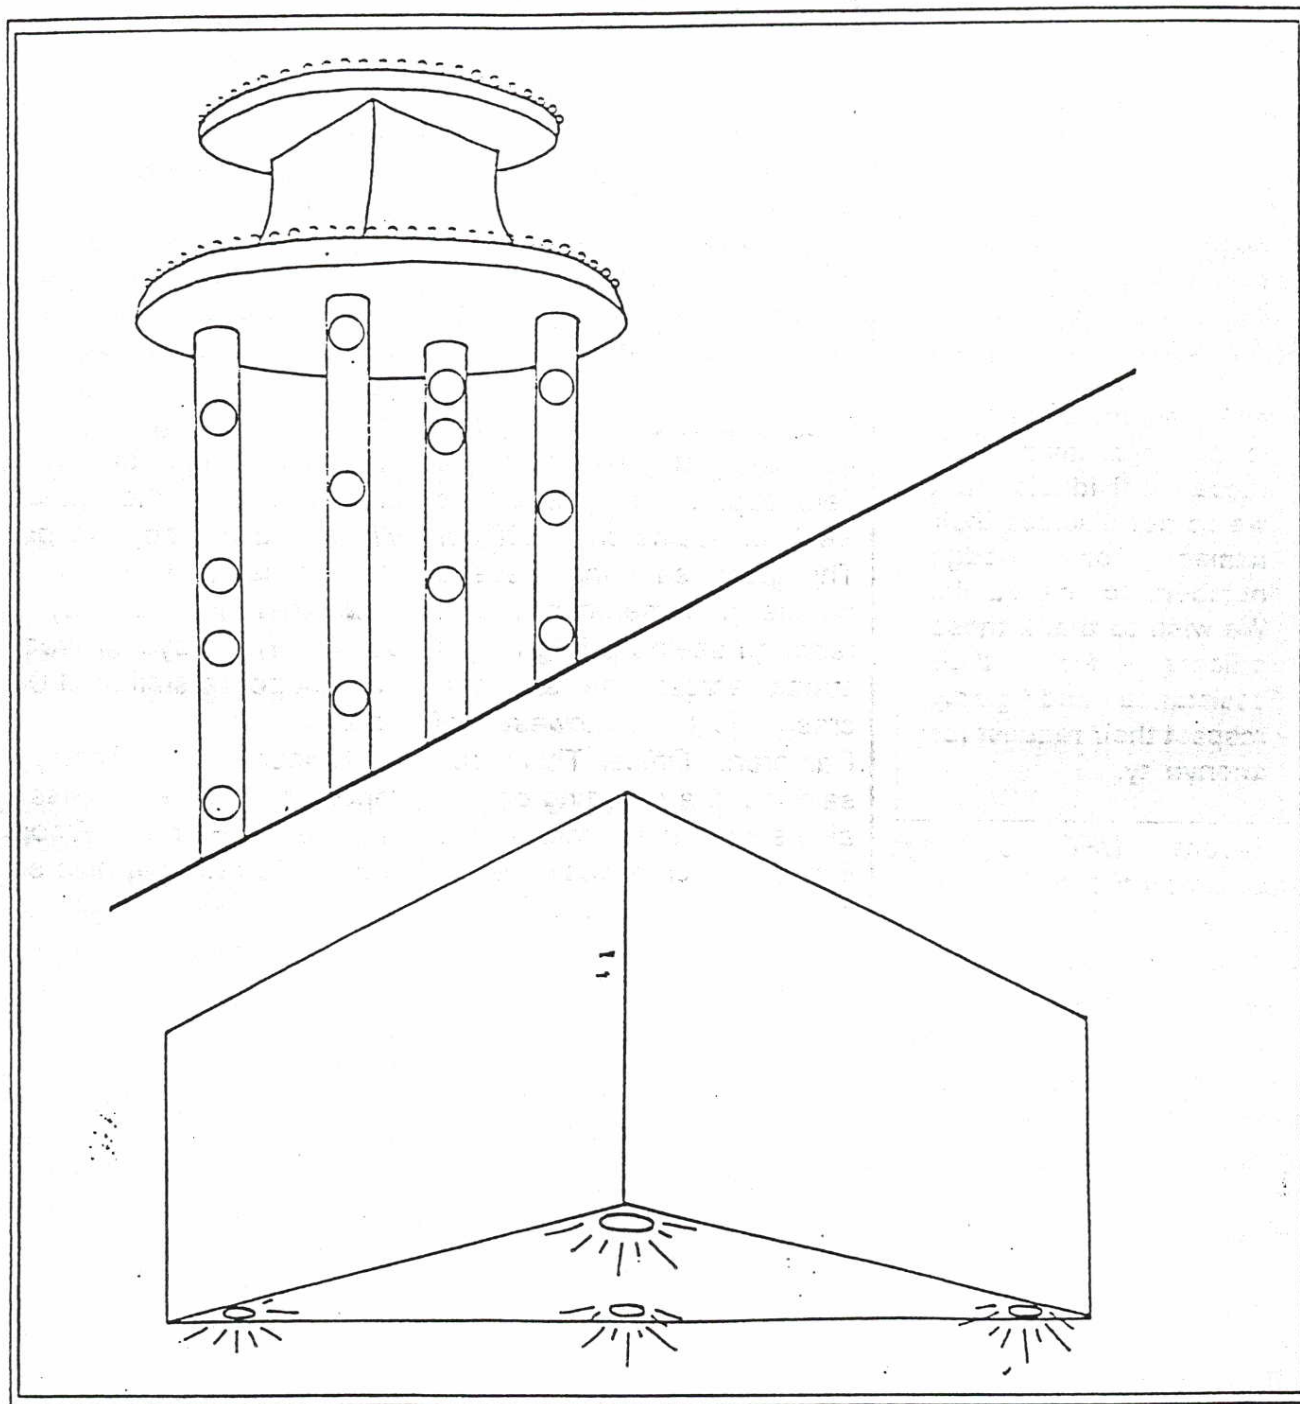

Figure 2. Art by Lisa Dusenberry.