Re: From [REDACTED]

I told him YES to pls send these.

>>I have some interesting papers from a conference on nonlethal weapons where [REDACTED] was the head. There are lasers described for delusion purposes. If someone use such devices for tests he could fake an abduction or other paranormal events. If you are interested I can send you the papers.

I am working currently on a followup MILAB paper where I will investigate tank/tube cases. I came across one case which is very good documented, hypnosis transcripts, scars,... where the victim reports that she was kidnapped by military personnel transported inside an underground facility. The military forced her to go inside a sensory deprivation tank. Inside she had out of body and/or remote viewing experiences. I reviewed the literature from [REDACTED] who worked on LSD experiments for the CIA,...He used sensoryx deprivation tanks for his isolation studies. The victim has also signs for spin programming (an advanced mind control procedure) and alleged alien abduction experiences too. It seems that her son is also a target of the human/kidnapping agenda.

I heard that my and other replys concerning [REDACTED] were published in the March Mufon Journal. I am curious what they are doing now.<<
