

Chapter Seven Pg 347

Introducing Non-linear technology, utilizing human consciousness to connect with a etc - A meeting or interaction with the others to explore
possibilities

TAPE 7, SIDE B:

CHAPTER SEVEN

INTRODUCTION FOR THE COHERENT THOUGHT SEQUENCING

This technique is a non-linear technology, utilizing human consciousness to connect with extra-terrestrial life forms and their spacecraft, and to guide them into a research site and to precipitate, if possible, a meeting or interaction. The actual coherent thought sequencing begins at the point when the individual has accessed non-local or non-linear consciousness.

The actual experience of unbounded mind can be accessed through whatever technique ^{makes} you feel comfortable with. I will do sort of a guided meditation tonight, just because we're all here and probably have various ^{we use various approaches} approaches. ^{Among us, this will give us some coherence as a group.}

After the meditation leading to the experience of unbounded mind is completed, I will indicate that we are ^{real} actually beginning the actual coherent thought sequencing, which is a technique utilizing non-linear mind and ^{start} universal mind to remote-view extra-terrestrial spacecraft, to connect with ^{start} them and then to sequentially guide them from their location to the Earth, ^{start} to the continent where you are located, to the region of the continent, and to the precise location where your research team is functioning, ~~in this case~~ ~~tonight in Denver, south of downtown.~~

I want to be clear that the actual coherent thought sequencing is dependent totally in its efficacy on the individual accessing non-local mind. Barring that, it is effective only if the craft is within a reasonable distance and you are seeing it and ~~it is~~ ^{they are} seeing you. And then you can convey ~~through~~ ~~thought certain directions and requests.~~ But as a primary means of seeing spacecraft and enabling them to find you and vector them into an area, it requires ~~at least~~ ^{one} one or more members of the group to experience this non-local state of mind. And ~~therefore~~ ^{she}, that is what is initiated at the beginning of the process. ~~And~~ ^{she} once the individual and the group has achieved that non-locality, then the actual coherent thought sequencing technique begins.
 Does that make sense to everyone?

Why don't we sit comfortably and in whatever way you would like; legs could be flat or you can sit. I would recommend that your legs be uncrossed, if possible. ~~And just sit in a way that you can be comfortable~~ and very still. And what we will do ~~is~~ ^{try} initially, ~~go through a~~ ^{guided} meditative process, ~~which will be a guided attempt in this case,~~ the coherent thought sequencing.

So, ^{lc} Close your eyes. Take some nice, deep, cleansing breaths. Breath — in calmness, peace, and exhale all your concerns and tensions. Do this four or five times. Now, as you breath out, very quietly, gently become ~~aware~~ of awareness. Sense that you are awake and ^{immerse} ~~emerge~~ your — perceptions in just awakeness, perceiving awakeness, consciousness, clear, quiet mind. As you become aware of this consciousness, this silent awakeness, recognize that it is transcendent and unbounded. See it as distinct and unaffected by the relative world, by perception, by thought, even by ego. It is the preexisting state, and it is unbounded. Just pure, — simple, awakeness.

If you are aware of the sounds around you, do not resist them; but allow them to be a path to your being [↑] aware of that whereby you perceive these — sounds. What is that awareness ^{stet} whereby the diversity of perceptions, of — sounds, of feelings are perceived? This silent awareness, it is not your perceptions; but it is ^{stet} that whereby you perceive these sounds. It is — unaffected, ^{stet} is silent; ^{stet} it is unbounded, ^{stet} it is eternal. It is beyond space and time.

If you perceive diverse thoughts, do not be distracted by them, but thank them and see that they are a means for your ^{stet} being ^{stet} aware of awareness. — Observe the thoughts that ^{stet} arise in you mind. Now perceive the mind as a — silent and unaffected, infinite and unbounded awakeness, whereby you perceive your thoughts. This silent mind, ~~it~~ is not your thoughts. It is that whereby thoughts are perceived. It is unaffected. It is deep and silent. It is unbounded, clear consciousness. Allow yourself to let go of your thoughts and your perceptions and to see deeply, to be ~~emersed~~ ^{immersed} in the ocean of this unbounded consciousness, this silent awakeness.

Now allow yourself to perceive your individuality, your ego. What is it whereby you can perceive your own self? What is that great, silent mind, that awakeness whereby you are able to perceive your individual nature? This mind, ~~it~~ is not your individuality; it is transcendent, and it is that whereby you may perceive your own self. It is unbounded, infinite, unending in time and space, bound by neither.

Allow yourself to be immersed in this ocean of unbounded, silent mind. Realize that this awakeness is an indivisible, continuous current of consciousness that extends beyond space and time, and through every point in space and at every point in time. Realize that the people in this room are awake, and while their individualities are unique, this awakeness is one. It is pure, silent mind. Sense that we are all one in this unbounded sea of consciousness.

Now realize that this pure mind extends throughout all time and space and yet is bound by neither, extending across the landscape of Denver, across the prairie, through the ^{entire} Rockies, into the earth, into space, encircling the globe, the mother Earth, expanding into deep space, embracing the solar system, the planets, and our sun, expanding into inter-stellar space and embracing our galaxy, expanding into inter-galactic space, and extending infinitely throughout all space and at all times.

This awakeness, whereby you at this moment are ~~awake~~, is an indivisible, continuous consciousness. The sky is awake. The Earth is awake. The planets are awake. The stars are awake. The galaxy, it is awake. The entire universe is awake and conscious with that same silent, unbounded mind whereby you at this moment are conscious and awake.

See deeply into this unbounded mind and be silent. And allow it to reflect throughout all time and space. I will be quiet, and I would like for you to just sit quietly, ^{immersed} ~~emersed~~ in the ocean of this unbounded consciousness.

Now, while remaining aware of this silent awareness, realize that it is omnipresent. It is unending in time or space. And through this unbounded aspect of awakeness, your awakeness, allow yourself to see into deep space. See the millions of galaxies, the infinite number of stars, the beautiful Milky Way, our Galaxy with its spiral arms. Become aware that it is teeming with planetary systems with intelligent life forms, some of whom are advanced enough to find our Earth and to visit here. If you perceive through the faculty of this unbounded mind a civilization, a people, an extra-terrestrial spacecraft, gently recognize and affirm to them our oneness and unbounded mind and invite them to come to our planet and to this point in space/time to visit us, if it is safe and appropriate for them to do so. Connecting with their spacecraft and with the occupants on board, guide them to our location as follows.

Show them the beautiful Milky Way swimming in a sea of pure consciousness, its spiral arms beautifully spread out in space. On one of the outer arms is a star which we call the Sun. Show them that Star, and then show them our solar system. Mercury, Venus, the Earth and her Moon, Mars and Jupiter, and the outer planets, beautiful Saturn with its rings. As you see these planets, return to the Earth and show them the beautiful blue Planet, an island of life spinning in space. Now show them North America. It is dark at this point in space-time, but the cities which are illuminated electrically can be seen from deep space. Show them then North America, the Appalachian chain in the east, the Rocky Mountains in the west; the Plains between the two. Then coming eastward, show them the city of Denver to the east of the Rocky Mountains. It is visible from space as a large, illuminated area high on the plains at the foot of the Rocky Mountains. Showing the skyscrapers of downtown, come south and show them the suburbs of this ~~area of the~~ metropolitan area. Now show them this apartment building and the top floor and the group of people gathered accessing mind [↑] and in a spirit of universal peace inviting them to come to this area.

Continue to access non-local, deep, silent mind throughout this process. And ^{one} if at any point the sense of unboundedness is lost, stop the coherent thought sequencing and re-center yourself in that infinite sea of silent consciousness. And then repeat the procedure, seeing deep space, the Milky Way ^y, our solar system, the Earth, the North American continent, the city of Denver, and this particular and specific building with the people who are inviting these life forms to visit.

Now, I will be silent and you can continue the coherent thought sequencing. Should you see an extra-terrestrial craft, politely ask permission to look within and greet the occupants in a spirit of amity and peace and oneness. And invite them to come to this area.

Now take one or two minutes. And ^{one} if you have been able to remotely view a spacecraft and its occupants, say goodbye for now. And then slowly open your eyes.

During the first part of this process, did everyone feel a sense of the nature of mind that is unbounded? That is the most important part of all; the rest is like falling off a log, if that is possible. Does anybody want to share an experience that they had? Or sensation? Or sighting?

Q: Of being one place and everyplace. Does that make any sense?

A: Yeah.