

Extra Terrestrial Contact

~~Intro~~ -

This book will attempt to describe the UFO and E-T. issue to acquaint the general public, world-wide, ^{with} the scope and truth of the subject.

It will cover the information discovered and compiled by the author and the CSETI research teams, with conclusions drawn and recommendations made for a successful conclusion to the needs.

DRAFT I

EXTRA-TERRESTRIAL CONTACT:

A Framework For Planetary and Inter-Planetary Unity

INTRODUCTION

April 7, 1995

This book is not an ordinary attempt to describe the UFO and extra-terrestrial issue. It is the distillation of everything that we have been able to learn on the subject, but with a very special purpose: ~~And that is~~ creating a framework of understanding of how our civilization might be transformed from its current nation-state status to a truly global civilization and then, quickly on the heels of that event, an interplanetary civilization.

The distillation extends not only to the information regarding extra-terrestrial life forms, how they might manifest aspects of their technology, the history of the subject, ~~and~~ as well as the best evidence associated with the subject, ~~which will~~ from this include photographs, stills from video tapes, government documents, witness testimony from astronauts, ~~from~~ and generals, ~~from~~ and cosmonauts, ~~from~~ and senior government officials throughout the world, ~~as well as~~ in addition to other case reports.

But it will also go in depth in a distilled way in a concentrated fashion: ~~the~~ ^{the} question of what does this mean for the human race? What are the implications for life on this Earth as we go into the next century and become an interplanetary society? Here it is important to make a distinction between information and knowledge and wisdom. Because no matter how much data you might have, it will never become knowledge. And no matter how much knowledge you have, it can never become wisdom without a certain amount of guiding light behind it. And we live in a time that has been called the information age, but it is not necessarily the age of knowledge or wisdom. And we need to make a distinction here, so that this book is not only about the data or the evidence or the information, but is an attempt to put in a framework of understanding knowledge about the subject and from there to create a foundation where we might derive some wisdom and understanding, what does this mean for us and where are we headed as we look into the next millennium?

needs a diff. way

I feel that the most important issue facing us is the question of universal peace. Because we are at a crossroads in the evolution of our planet, where we will either evolve into a truly peaceful planetary society and thence into an inter-planetary one, or we will destroy ourselves. There is very little in-between, in terms of what the options are. And the time is getting shorter and the risks are great; but so are the opportunities. So as much as anything, this is an effort to put into words a vision that emphasizes the hope and the opportunities that face us as we struggle to come to grips with our humanity and the current situation on this planet.

The promotion of universal peace, here as I am using this phrase, refers not only to peace amongst nations and races and peoples and religions, which is extremely important, but it also refers to peace amongst different civilizations, amongst different planetary worlds, amongst different species.

We don't have the luxury at this point in history to repeat the errors of the last 10,000 years of recorded history on our planet. As you well know, this is a history of war, of exploitation, of ruinous destructive tendencies, which have gone largely unchecked. Given current technologies and ^{these} technologies which are not well known to the public, but which will be described here, the question of peace really becomes a question of survival, and therefore, it is the most pressing issue.

Another reason for this particular work, is there is a certain urgency about our need to put into the world's awareness the knowledge that we are not alone, and that ^{it} is very much high time for the peoples of this planet to seize control of this issue, rather than abdicate responsibility for it to covert operations. It cannot be overstated the risks of continuing in the current status-quo. And the current status-quo is, ^{me} that we are being visited by advanced extra-terrestrial life forms, and they are attempting to interact with us. But this knowledge ^{is} being denied to the majority of the Earth's population, or worse, being portrayed in a very disinforming way, ^{or} is being ^{with} held from people, so that a very small and covert operation is determining policy and actions regarding this question. ~~This could not be a more~~ dangerous thing ^{could not} to occur.

For this reason, the evidence that will be presented in this book is in a sense the easiest part of it. It does not take a rocket scientist to go through the mountains of evidence which we have collected, ^{and} come to the assessment that we are being visited by at least one advanced extra-terrestrial life form. And as stunning as the world may find that disclosure, it is really just the beginning of a much larger question. And that is, what are we, ^{as} people on Earth, ^{going} to do about it? How shall we respond? What framework of understanding can be created to bridge the current situation and the current civilization on Earth to a peaceful and mutually beneficial relationship with advanced extra-terrestrial civilizations. Because we live in a time where this is just beginning to be dealt with by the world as a whole, and because we are, ^{just} as a people, ^{entering} into the time when we are globally integrated enough to even address this question in an intelligent way, ^{at this stage?} is likened to an embryo. And by this, an embryo is a multi-potent state. ^{And} if you take a human embryo and you introduce something deleterious to it, ^{the} it has ramifications throughout the life of that ~~organism~~ ^{are} many, many times greater than if you introduce it to an adult life form. This ~~embryonic~~ ^{relationship} between Earth civilization and these other civilizations is embryonic. ^{due to it} And as such, is at a critical point where it can be either effected to the good or to the bad. ^{due} And that is why this time is so critically important.

The question of what are the implications for detecting and initiating a relationship with extra-terrestrial life forms has, alas, never been discussed openly amongst the peoples of the world. It is time for ^{us} that dialogue to begin. ^{the} the intent of this book is to provide a voice and a starting point for that dialogue. ^{↑ which is} To open up ^{the} at least the questions that we should be looking at as we anticipate the ramifications of entering into an era of global civilization and inter-planetary relationships.

The genesis of this book is unusual. It is being orally presented over a 7-day period in Denver, Colorado, ^{to} with a small group of people gathered in a living room. ^{due} And the reason for that is that there is a certain urgency about getting ^{this} that information down in anticipation of a ^{significant disclosure} disclosure on this subject. As of this date, we are anticipating within the next 12 to 24 months a confirmed disclosure on this subject, which an effort [↑] initiated by CSETI, [↑] named Project Starlight, will conclude or it will be done pre-emptively by the covert group that has been controlling this issue for the last 40 to 50 years.

In any case, and particularly in the case of the latter scenario, it is critically important that this whole subject be put into a framework of understanding which will not create chaos and panic and fear, and a loss of hope in an age which is already robbed of much of these qualities. The importance of understanding this in a way that will enable us to react and to probe actively, ^{being} plan a relationship is very important at this time of disclosure. ~~Because~~ the world can be easily manipulated into a posture which would set us on a path of inter-planetary warfare. We would hope that this would be only a fantasy or a bad nightmare, but as you will see, the evidence is strong that we are far along that path, that there are covert efforts to initiate and in fact have already started, firing on inter-planetary vehicles in an aggressive posture. The risk to our civilization, in fact the risk to the continuance of life on Earth, cannot be over-estimated. Nor should our leaders underestimate ^{the} reality of this problem ^{is} because of the absence of the light, and sometimes the spark, of open debate and dialogue on subjects this complex, we are left with a relative handful of people making decisions, setting policy, and taking action on behalf of 5.5 billion people on this planet.

My forefathers who fought in the American Revolution in 1776, I believe, would want us to come together as a people, not just in America, but throughout the world to discuss these implications, to start a dialogue and in a rational, calm and sane fashion set out a plan of action that will lead to an enduring peace and a mutually beneficial relationship between Earth civilization and these other planetary societies. The risks of doing nothing are so great, that the most dangerous path is to remain passive and to remain in a state of denial as a people concerning this issue. It is hoped that this work will contribute to this understanding and will lead us into a time of genuine universal peace. The path will not be easy; it is fraught with many pitfalls. But we can have no doubt that we will succeed. And the reason that we will is that the alternative is so grave. And if nothing else, the human race is a race of survivors, adapters. People on this planet for millenia have been able to adapt to great challenges, and we will adapt to this one.

But in order for that to happen, we must first begin to discuss the reality of the question and to comprehend the ramifications for our society. And if we do this, and if we do it with informed knowledge and with some wisdom, and with a great deal of restraint regarding our prejudices and our fears, we will live to see a time when the people of the Earth evolve into an inter-planetary species.
