>My name is [REDACTED] and I was perusing your website and came across Dr.
>Greer's paper on the basis of power on earth being affected by the release of >"alien" technology and I must share my story.

> I developed a motor for automobiles which used absolutely NO fuels >whatsoever and after the initial design I also realized that it was an >excellent device for the generation of electricity. However, this device will >probably never see the world using it because of the ramifications to the >world status quo. This device would totally obliterate the petroleum industry >(except for lubricants of course), the current power industry and is powerful >enough for everyone to have a minituarized version powering their homes.
