Dear Mr. Gurney:

Textual records of Project BLUE BOOK (the documentation relating to investigations of unidentified flying objects), excluding names of people involved in the sightings, will be available for research in the National Archives Building as of July 12. The records include approximately two cubic feet of unarranged project or administrative files, 37 cubic feet of case files in which individual sightings are arranged chronologically, and three cubic feet of records relating to the Office of Special Investigations (OSI), portions of which are arranged chronologically, by OSI district, and by overseas command. A cubic foot of records comprises about 2000 pages.

Finding aids for these records include a file list for the project files and an index to individual sightings, entered by date and location.

Access to BLUE BOOK textual records is by means of 94 reels of 35mm microfilm in the National Archives microfilm reading room (Room 401). The first microfilm roll includes a list of contents for all of the rolls and the finding aids. Photographs scattered among the textual records have also been filmed separately on the last two rolls.

Requests for copies of individual rolls ($12 each) of microfilm should be addressed to the Publication Sales Branch (NEPS), National Archives and Records Service, 8th and Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, DC 20408. Orders for the list of roll contents ($2), or for photocopies of specific pages at $.15 per page, minimum of $2, may be placed with the Modern Military Branch (NNMM) at the same address.
